HOUSE ACCEPTS DEATH CLAUSE IN HOLDING CO. BILL

Last Big 'Must' List Measure Wins.

Coal Bill Passed

Adding amendments designed to prevent a monopoly of the bituminous coal industry by eastern operators and to prevent the United Mine Workers of America from dominating the labor situation, the senate passed the Guffey-Snyder coal bill, last of the Roosevelt "must" legislation. The anti-market monopoly amendment gives operators in Illinois, Iowa, and Indiana equal opportunity to compete with Pennsylvania and West Virginia in the Chicago area. The measure now goes to conference for adjustments with the house. Details on Page 7.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Impatient for adjournment and swayed by one of the most determined administration lobbies of the session, the house of representatives tonight surrendered to President Roosevelt on the "death sentence" of the Wheeler-Rayburn public utility bill. By a vote of 219 to 142, the house instructed its conferees to accept the senate's offer of President Roosevelt's so-called "compromise." This is the original "death sentence" in new phraseology.

The action of the house eliminated the last major obstacle to adjournment and leaders of both houses said the session would be ended not later than Saturday night. All that remains to be done on the long disputed Wheeler-Rayburn bill, which occupies a top position on the Roosevelt "must" list, is for the conferees to draft their report and call it up for adoption in both houses.

The Adjournment Rush.

Other developments in the day's adjournment rush included:

1. The senate passed and sent to conference for the settlement of minor amendments the Guffey-Snyder coal bill, another major "must" measure.

2. The house adopted a companion measure to the new railroad pension bill already passed by both houses. The new measure levies an excise tax of 3½ per cent upon employers' pay rolls and an income tax of 3½ per cent upon employés, the imposts to go into the federal treasury to build up the annuity fund. It now goes to the senate.

3. The house accepted a senate amendment to the Eastman railway bankruptcy bill designed to prevent minority security holders from blocking reorganization plans. It now goes to the White House.

4. The house foreign affairs committee reported out a compromise amendment to the neutrality resolution adopted yesterday by the senate.

5. The house passed the $92,961,229 third deficiency appropriation bill, required chiefly to put the so-called social security act into operation. The senate is expected to pass it tomorrow.

6. Administration leaders in congress let it be known, privately, that if conferees on the federal alcohol control and Walsh government contracts bills do not agree in time congress will adjourn anyway and leave these measures for the next session.

7. Failure of President Roosevelt and Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], chairman of the commerce committee, to agree on the form of a ship subsidy bill threw that subject into the discard until the next session.

Rayburn Starts Action.

The action of the house came on motion of Representative Sam Rayburn [Dem., Tex.], chairman of the house conferees, who presented a letter from President Roosevelt saying that "from my point of view it represents a greater concession from the senate bill than I should like to see made."

"From the point of view of the house," the President wrote, "this proposal certainly constitutes a most generous concession on the point of the senate conferees."

But Representative George Huddleston [Dem., Ala.], in a stirring oration that preceded the vote, admon-

LEADERS AVOID URGING HORNER TO RUN IN 1936

Governor Says He's "Ready to Lead."

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield Fair Grounds, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—All that Gov. Henry Horner announced to the Democrats on their big day at the Illinois state fair was that he is "ready to lead" them in 1936.

The governor did not say he would be a candidate for renomination. Some shrewd political observers said the language he used would permit his friends next fall or winter to point to it as proof that he did not announce himself. It was suggested such a construction might be advantageous, if the Cook county organization indorses another candidate.

Nash and Kelly Absent.

The belief, already fairly widespread, that such a situation will develop was strengthened by some clear evidences of the attitude of the big Chicago leaders. Mayor Kelly not only was absent but was silent. P. A. Nash, who is both chairman of the Cook county committee and national committeeman, sent a night letter of best wishes. It was silent on the question of a second term. Nothing was heard from Clayton F. Smith, chairman of the Cook county managing committee.

State's Attorney Courtney, the ranking Chicago leader present, sat in the governor's reserved section beside the judges' stand, but he merely "took a bow" when he was introduced by State Chairman Bruce A. Campbell. He was not asked to speak. The only Chicago man on the program was United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe, the man toward whom the rank and file as well as the leadership of the Cook county organization manifests a decided leaning as a governorship possibility.

Senator Lewis Also Missing.

After a few words of tribute to "Henry Horner and his associated state officials" for the "unexcelled record made," Igoe turned to praise for Roosevelt. What was true of Igoe was largely true of the other speakers, who, incidentally, were selected after Senators Lewis and Dieterich and Mayor Kelly, originally scheduled to speak with Gov. Horner, had sent regrets. Not one of them touched on the subject of Horner's renomination or reëlection. They were Congressmen Scott W. Lucas of Havana and United States Attorney Howard Doyle of the southern Illinois district.

It was remarked that every man on the program, including State Chairman Campbell, opposed Horner in the primary of 1932. Campbell and Igoe were candidates against him for the governorship. Lucas was on the Igoe ticket for United States senator. Doyle was an Igoe enthusiast.

Senators' Words Not Read.

All of them praised the accomplishments of the national administration about as heatedly as Senator Lewis or Senator Dieterich could have done had either been here. Their absence was considered excusable because of their duties at Washington. It was learned with surprise that both had sent telegrams to Chairman Campbell. But the telegrams were not read during the program.

The only explanation advanced for this suppression was that Senator Lewis said that, inasmuch as the governorship is a state matter, nobody connected with the national administration should attempt to interfere with matters connected with it. Since it was not desirable to read Lewis' telegram, it was said, Dieterich's also was omitted. Chairman Campbell refused to disclose the contents to reporters.

In that connection gossip recalled that Igoe and Lewis belong to the same camp and that Senator Lewis was the sponsor of Igoe for appointment as district attorney.

Talk National Issues.

So sweepingly did every speaker devote himself to the subject of the national administration, some observers said the occasion seemed to be Roosevelt day rather than Horner day, despite the wording of the official stickers used in the automobile parade from the executive mansion to the fair grounds.

The weather was perfect and the attendance was pronounced even larg-

Mrs. Percy A. Rockefeller Dies in Conn.

Greenwich, Conn., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Isabel Stillman Rockefeller, 59 years old, widow of Percy A. Rockefeller, died late today at her estate here after a long illness.

Mrs. Rockefeller, who was the daughter of James Stillman, the New York banker, outlived her husband by a little less than 11 months. She had been seriously ill for three months.

She was the sole heir to her husband's estate which just recently was appraised in Probate court here at more than $9,000,000.

Percy Rockefeller, nephew of John D. Rockefeller, died Sept. 25, 1934.

Leaves Five Children.

Mrs. Rockefeller, who was born in New York City April 29, 1876, leaves a son, Avery, in Greenwich, and four daughters, Mrs. Frederick W. Lincoln Jr. of New York and Greenwich, Mrs. Brooks Emeny of Greenwich, Miss Faith Rockefeller, and Miss Gladys G. Rockefeller, both of Greenwich.

The Rockefellers were married in the spring of 1901 and moved to Greenwich about 1904. Mrs. Rockefeller was the sister of Mrs. William G. Rockefeller, who died last May. William and Percy Rockefeller were brothers.

Her late husband was the largest individual property owner in Greenwich and the estate where she died was assessed at $200,000.

Funeral Services Tomorrow.

All of the Percy Rockefeller real estate holdings in Greenwich were given an estimated value of $1,400,000.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rockefeller will be held in Fernclift mausoleum at White Plains, N. Y., Saturday, with burial in Sleepy Hollow cemetery in Tarrytown, N. Y.

CHARGE MOTHER LEAVES $25 TAXI BILL AND HER SON

Mrs. Cecelia Macgregor Byrne of Detroit was sought by Chicago police last night after she had run up a bill of $25 in a taxicab, then escaped on a subterfuge, leaving her son, Robert Macgregor, 14, in the machine. According to the story told at the Central police station Mrs. Byrne came to Chicago early in the day with her son. She hired the cab and drove about most of the afternoon before ordering the driver to stop at the Congress hotel, where, she said, she wished to send a telegram. When she did not reappear the cab driver took the boy to the station and told the story. Robert is to be turned over to the Travelers' Aid society.

Cartoonist Lands After 5 Day Graf Zeppelin Ocean Flight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUNICH, Germany, Aug. 22.—A tremendous crowd of admirers greeted the Graf Zeppelin at 10 o'clock this forenoon as we arrived at Friedrichshafen five days out from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. We had a pleasant flight up the Rhone valley, the five mile strip assigned to the Zeppelin for crossing French territory. There were well cultivated fields with occasional forests wisely preserved, preventing land erosion and exhaustion.

We flew over a corner of Switzerland between the hazy Alps and the winding Rhine river.

We met Hugo Eckener and were shown through the new Zeppelin which is now approaching completion, providing every convenience and accommodating fifty passengers.

I am informed that Zeppelin advocates believe that the ultimate prosperity of the dirigible requires international adoption, thus facilitating intercommunications and also promoting a more friendly spirit than when singly employed.

They would welcome general use of Zeppelins, expressing a willingness to provide plans and specifications.

Before disembarking I qualified for membership in the "Slipping Bean club" by looking for an ash tray as a souvenir. The new Zeppelin will have a smoking room.

Now that the voyage was over, I asked the chief steward what would happen if a rifle ball were fired through the gas cell. He replied that several bullet holes were found after crossing Siberia.

I also asked what would happen if lightning struck. He replied that the ship was once struck, but that the bolt passed through on the radio aerials without damage. I asked how the Zeppelin would behave in a high wind, and he replied that we experienced a high wind Tuesday without discomfort or anxiety. J. T. McC.

Family of Six Caught on Trestle; Two Dead

Cleveland, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A freight train trapped and fatally crushed a young mother on a 100 foot trestle here today as she pushed her 8 year old daughter off into a 45 foot ravine in a futile attempt to save her from death.

The victims were Mrs. Margaret Traxler and her daughter, June.

Charles Traxler, 14, June's brother, who with three other children escaped death by lying beside the tracks, was struck on the head by a projecting part of the train.

It's Clean Fun, Glorifying the Park Trash Box

To the rescue of the Chicago parks comes the musical rubbish receptacle—the kind that plays "Annie Laurie" or "Humoresque" when you lift the lid to throw in an old lunch box or a crumpled newspaper.

This, at any rate, is one suggestion which has been received in a contest being conducted by the Chicago park district to select a uniform design for all trash receivers.

Eat Your Lunch to Music.

"In this way," explains a man from Greenwood, Miss., who mailed in this idea, "young and old would be sure to go out of the way to gather trash to put in the container, then sit around and eat lunch while listening to the music."

Other ideas, equally fantastic, have come in from contestants in eighteen states, it was learned yesterday from a persusal of the letters on the desk of Welden Reynolds in the commissioner's office division. Mr. Reynolds also explained that the contest is a very serious one.

"The park district inherited a heterogeneous lot of ash cans, wicker baskets, corrugated iron boxes, and other things," he said. "We want a standard receptacle which must blend with the landscape and attract the attention of crowds."

How to Attract Women.

A Dallas, Tex., citizen has suggested a modernized Grecian urn, of galvanized iron, while a Bethany, Mo., man drew an elaborate design to be painted in various colors on a container. This container would have a polished steel cover which would attract women hunting for a mirror.

From Douglasville, Ga., came the whimsical suggestion that the receptacles be made in the shape of heads of lions, tigers, and the like, which would snatch the trash out of the fingers of donors.

At any rate, the contest will run until Oct. 1, and the judges of the designs are to be Robert Harshe, curator of the Chicago Art institute; Jens Jensen, landscape architect, and Albert Lasker, advertising agency executive.

British Will Abide by Treaties Aimed at War Makers.

Rome Makes Threat

Premier Mussolini's newspaper yesterday delivered a warning to Great Britain that the employment of coercion to curb Italy's policy in East Africa would mean war. The newspaper, Giornale d'Italia, which usually interprets the Fascist dictator's attitude, said that if the Suez canal is closed to Italy and the free export of arms to Ethiopia is permitted the Italian government would regard them as "hostile acts" and likely to embroil the two nations.

Emperor Haile Selassie announced he will order the execution of any Ethiopian who attacks an Italian. His announcement was made after the accidental shooting of an Italian consul on a hunting trip. The incident threatened to result in serious repercussions until the consul said he had shot himself. Details on Page 2.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 22.—For five hours today the British cabinet, in a full session, assembled from vacation resorts in Great Britain and Europe and considered what is described as the gravest international crisis since 1914.

The cabinet sat from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and then adjourned until 2:30. At 4:30 the session ended. The ministers at once dispersed. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin returned to Aix-les-Bains, France, and the others left for other resorts. Ramsay MacDonald, lord president of the council, will fly to Lossiemouth, Scotland, tomorrow, but Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, and Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for league of nations affairs, will remain in or near London to keep in touch with the situation on the continent.

MacDonald's Message Brief.

The only minister who said anything at all about what had been done at the cabinet meeting was MacDonald.

"We have a very clear mind as to what is to be done," he said. "I am very calm and cool."

He refused to amplify this statement, but it was evident he was content with the course of events. The other members of the government, although they refused to talk, showed no signs of worry.

It was learned the cabinet's deliberations were opened by a long exposition by Capt. Eden of what happened at the Anglo-French-Italian conference in Paris and of the desperate attempts to settle the Italo-Ethiopian quarrel. Premier Mussolini's rude and brusque rejection of Discretionary Rule Over Munitions Sale Refused.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The administration lost its fight today for discretionary authority to embargo export of war munitions under which it could coöperate with the league of nations to boycott Italy for making war on Ethiopia.

The most the President was able to obtain from the house foreign affairs committee was an amendment to the senate bill terminating the mandatory embargo legislation March 1 next.

Under the terms of this compromise the President, in the event of war between Italy and Ethiopia, would be obliged to stop the shipment of "arms, ammunition, or implements of war" to both countries. Inasmuch, however, as Ethiopia presumably would not be buying extensively in the American market the embargo would in effect be directed at Italy.

Coöperation Is Permitted.

If the league of nations should invoke economic sanctions [penalty for treaty violations] against Italy the Roosevelt administration would be enabled to coöperate to the extent of a liberal interpretation of the phrase "implements of war," which certainly would include cotton and copper and possibly breadstuffs.

The accusation that the President is maneuvering to make America an annex of the league in dealing with the African crisis, if not with intent to put us into the league eventually, figured in a stormy meeting of the foreign affairs committee from which the compromise emerged.

When the committee met Representative Sam D. McReynolds [Dem., Tenn.], chairman, read a memorandum of the conference at the White House last night in which the President expressed his opposition to the senate bill making mandatory the embargo of exports of war supplies to all belligerents in a war.

The President wanted unfettered authority conferred upon him to embargo shipments to one or all belligerents, as he might see fit. Such authority would enable him to coöperate fully with the league in declaring one of the belligerents the aggressor to be coerced by economic sanctions.

British Pressure Charged.

Representative George Holden Tinkham [Rep., Mass.] charged that the President was seeking to play the game of the league and is acting in the present instance as the tool of the British foreign office.

"The British are maneuvering to commit the United States to coöperation with the league in applying economic sanctions to Italy," said Mr. Tinkham. "Hence they want the President to have discretionary authority to embargo the export of commodities to Italy. They also want the embargo to be purely discretionary so that the President would not be compelled to embargo exports to Great Britain if Great Britain should become involved in the war. The President didn't say he wanted an embargo to hit Great Britain, did he?"

Doubts Senate Acceptance.

Chairman McReynolds made no reply, but turned the discussion to the question of a compromise with the senate. Eventually Senator Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, was called. He was of the opinion that the senate would not accept the discretionary authority desired by the President.

Thereupon Chairman McReynolds drafted an amendment to the senate bill which would have the effect of terminating all embargo proclamations under the act on Feb. 29, 1936. In effect this is a limitation of the mandatory embargo provision voted by the senate to the next six months. By the end of that time congress will be in session again and can consider neutrality legislation anew.

Late in the afternoon the house committee reported favorably the senate bill with the compromise amendment and Chairman McReynolds said he would try to call it up in the house tomorrow.

Congressman Tinkham and the other Republican members voted against the limitation. They favored the permanent mandatory embargo of the senate bill. Mr. Tinkham argued that, as under this bill all embargo authority will terminate March 1, belligerents will be free to obtain war supplies in this country. If by that Great Britain is involved in war she will argue as in 1915 and 1916 that imposition of an arms embargo by America would be an unfriendly act.

"Will Get Us Into War."

"Such legislation will get us into more wars than it will keep us out of," Mr. Tinkham told the committee.

It was learned that in the White House conference last night the President argued that legislation providing for mandatory embargoes would tie this country to a rigid policy. It would be known that the shipment of war supplies to belligerents from the United States would be shut off on the outbreak of war and consequently the United States would cease to be a factor in the situation pertaining to the oncoming conflict.

Mr. Roosevelt took the position that such legislation would tie the hands of the executive to such an extent that he could exert no influence toward averting war.

Would Name Aggressor.

He indicated his interest in coöperating with other powers in singling out one of the belligerents as the aggressor. To embargo the shipment of arms to all belligerents, he argued, actually would discriminate in favor of the aggressor nation if it should be the stronger and in need of importing arms and munitions.

Other administration officials frankly stated that opposition to the mandatory embargo of the senate bill revolves around the consideration that if Great Britain and France were to become involved in war the United States would be compelled to deprive them of our assistance.

"Under the senate bill the President is not permitted to use his judgment in invoking an embargo which might prevent war," said one official. "The measure tells the sixty-four nations of the world that the United States is not interested in anything that may happen outside.

"Further, the new bill may drive American foreign trade off the seas in the event of war. It would enable neutral nations, not tied by such rigid regulations, to act as brokers for American commodities at low prices and sell them to embroiled nations at war prices."

PLEDGES AID OF NEW ZEALAND TO BRITAIN IN WAR

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Premier George W. Forbes reiterated today that should Great Britain become involved in a war, New Zealand would automatically participate.

The prime minister was heckled last night at a public meeting when he stated his position, but he asserted that it was merely a repetition of a previous statement in parliament that if Britain became involved in war New Zealand also would be involved.

"Obviously," he added, "if war occurred, the very first step would be the summoning of parliament to consider New Zealand's position."

Australians Assail Duce.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 22.—(AP)—More than 3,000 men, women and children, including a group of Italians, today held an anti-war demonstration, singing native songs and crying "Shame upon Mussolini!" Children chanted "We want bread, not mustard gas!" as the demonstrators marched about the city bearing banners and flaming torches.

RHINOCEROS OF ANCIENT AMERICA FOUND IN WEST

Ellensburg, Wash., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Discovery of the lava mold of a prehistoric mammal—the teleoceras of the rhinoceros family—was announced today by Prof. George Beck of the Ellensburg Normal school faculty.

Unlike anything ever found before, Beck said, the mold is an outline in lava, complete except for a small portion of the rump, of an animal which inhabited this area centuries ago.

The mold was unearthed in a bluff at Blue lake, in the Grand Coulee.

SANCTIONS MEAN WAR! MUSSOLINI WARNS ENGLAND

Rome Tells London to Stay Out of Row.

ROME, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The authoritative newspaper Giornale d'Italia met suggestions abroad that strong measures be employed to curb Italy's east African policy with the assertion today that "sanctions [penalties against treaty violations] mean war."

Proposals in the British press that the Suez canal be closed against Italy and that a free export of arms to Ethiopia be authorized, the newspaper cited as "hostile acts" which might embroil the two nations.

Such an action, Giornale said, would not only transfer the east African controversy to Europe but possibly would inflame the entire world.

See Little Threat to Italy.

While official sources maintained silence concerning some reports that the British cabinet had decided to support league sanctions if other nations coöperated, other quarters professed to see little threat to Italy's expansion program.

They said the British "loophole," the stipulation that there be joint action by league members if Britain adopts a stern rôle, meant that the council meeting Sept. 4 would resolve itself "into just what Italy wants—an inconclusive discussion."

Well-informed sources said the Italian government feels sure collective action will not be forthcoming at the conference, pointing out that, no matter how grave the British cabinet's decisions may sound concerning sanctions, they leave the field open for Britain to retire gracefully with her honor as protector of the league authority intact.

Told to Keep Hands Off.

The Giornale d'Italia, in its editorial, said:

"Accusing Italy of violating treaties, incendiary British newspapers desire their government to be the first to violate treaties which it has signed. What it is today necessary to state precisely is the most decisive and concrete point. Sanctions mean war.

"No one in Italy is thinking of touching the British empire, but every one in Italy expects that the British empire will not obstruct her path when she is following Britain's example and methods in attempts to assure herself territory useful in her work for security."

Declarations of the paper, which is frequently employed to interpret the governments attitude, provide further evidence of Italy's intention to pursue an aggressive policy at September's league council session.

Demands Ethiopia's Ejection.

Informed sources disclosed Italy intends to demand Ethiopia's ejection from the league on the ground she failed to fulfill the conditions under which she was admitted.

An excellent source said Italy would allege slavery still exists in Ethiopia, that its borders have not been clearly defined and that the central government has not been able to extend its authority over all outlying parts of the empire. The league imposed these three conditions upon Ethiopia in 1923.

the Franco-British proposals to secure for him great economic and territorial advantages in Ethiopia was described. The cabinet thereupon expressed its approval of the course taken by Capt. Eden and Premier Pierre Laval of France.

Much time was given to the examination of Britain's commitments both by treaty and the league covenant. After a brief discussion the ministers decided the British government must abide by all its obligations.

In the strictest interpretation, this might mean an obligation to make war on Italy as an aggressor if the league demanded it. However, this is outside the realm of practical possibilities for such a move would mean a unanimous decision by the league council.

Embargo on Arms Exports.

What the cabinet did do in a positive manner was to reaffirm the unofficial embargo on the shipment of arms to Italy and Ethiopia. This, however, is little more than a gesture since no licenses have been applied for because neither Italy nor Ethiopia has the credit or cash to purchase weapons and ammunition abroad.

The embargo does, however, confer a theoretical advantage on Italy, for she has great arms factories which can continue to turn out weapons for a long time on internal credit.

The British cabinet also indorsed the policy of Capt. Eden and Foreign Secretary Hoare of keeping in closest touch with the French and continuing constant contact with Italy through ordinary diplomatic channels right up to the meeting of the league council on Sept. 4.

At that time the matter will pass out of the hands of the individual countries and become a matter for a collective decision.

Indian Troops to Addis Ababa.

POONA, India, Aug. 22.—(AP)—A force of 130 men, comprising the fifth battalion, left tonight for Addis Ababa where they will reinforce the guard of the British legation. They are native Indian troops.

LYNCHING FEARED IN CANNES AFTER COLORED MAN STABS ITALIAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CANNES, France, Aug. 22.—Ill feeling between colored persons, many of whom are from the French colonies and live in this part of France, and a large part of the Italian population here assumed race riot proportions today after a colored man had wounded an Italian and his Egyptian companion with a knife.

The victims are in danger of death. The Italians threaten to storm the jail and lynch the colored man if either of the two die.

Joseph Chastz is the wounded Italian. He is employed aboard a yacht owned by William Burton, rich American. The Italian and his Egyptian companion, Chaban Ahmed, engaged in an argument with Julian Zair, the colored man.

Zair shouted that Premier Mussoline was a robber of the black people. The other two tried to calm him down although they were on the opposite side of the argument, but Zair pulled out a hunting knife and slashed both men.

KING TO EXECUTE ETHIOPIANS WHO ATTACK ITALIANS

Mussolini's Consul Shoots Self Accidentally.

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie, faced with severe difficulty in holding his warriors in check, has threatened with death any Ethiopian who menaces or assaults an Italian, it was learned tonight.

This followed upon the shooting of Baron Muzzi Falconi, an Italian consul, which Ethiopian officials described as accidental, while he was on a hunting trip. Baron Falconi himself tonight described the shooting as purely an accident. He was seriously injured, but attachés of the Italian hospital here, where he was brought today, said they were hopeful of his recovery. Ethiopian officials said the baron [whose wife, London said, is the daughter of the British minister to Ethiopia] was on his way by caravan to his post at Debre Marcos when he was accidentally shot.

Ethiopia Orders Probe.

The government here ordered an inquiry to determine the circumstances of the affair.

The shooting, which at first threatened to assume grave ramifications, simmered down when the consul told his story:

"I left the caravan on a hillock and went down to the river to choose a spot for lunch," he said from his hospital bed. "On the way I fired a shot from my pistol at some game. Then the pistol jammed, but as I was replacing it in the holder it went off and wounded me."

With his American adviser, Edward Everett Colson, at his side, Emperor Haile Selassie tonight studied news of the action of the British cabinet, but there was no immediate comment.

U. S. Action Disturbs King.

The emperor was greatly disturbed by news the American senate had adopted a resolution forbidding munitions shipments abroad in case of war. He had placed his main hope upon American munitions firms to supply arms which are needed imperatively.

"God, give me the patience and courage to hold back my army until all efforts for peace are exhausted," the "king of kings" said. "We shall not be the first to draw blood. I still have faith in England. I am still hopeful that the league of nations will work out a solution. But if war desecrates our soil, an order for blood must come and we are ready to preserve the kingdom our fathers gave us. If Italy attempts to conquer us we shall repeat our victory of Adowa. We shall be strong because we must."

A general mobilization has not yet been proclaimed in Ethiopia, but concentration of troops has been proceeding quietly for weeks.

Foreign merchants here, fearing Italian aviators may drop bombs if war starts, are panicky and are moving goods outside the capital. Insurance against war jumped in rates again.

Build Military Roads.

The Ethiopian army has begun construction of a strategic road from Hawash through Tchertcher province to British Somaliland. Another military road has been completed from Addis Ababa to Sudan which, in the event of an air raid upon the capital, may enable Americans and others to flee the country.

Through an arrangement with the emperor American physicians, under Dr. Robert Hackman, chief of the American hospital, will inoculate the Ethiopian army against smallpox, typhoid, and cholera. This was said to be the largest single job of inoculation ever attempted in Africa.

POLICE BALK SUICIDE ATTEMPT.

Thomas James, 36 years old, 6030 South Washtenaw avenue, a watchman employed in the stockyards, was restrained from committing suicide yesterday by the arrival of Chicago Lawn police summoned by his wife, Gertrude. Mrs. James said her husband had attempted to kill himself by inhaling gas after a family quarrel.

FIGHT FOR FIELD, CONSTITUTION DAY BODY URGED

Report Board Will Deny Use of Stadium.

A militant move to obtain use of Soldiers' field for the Constitution day observance on Sept. 17 was urged upon members of the celebration committee yesterday by Julius H. Miner, general director. He reported to the committee at its luncheon in the Palmer house that he had been "reliably but unofficially" informed that commissioners of the Chicago park district would refuse the committee's application.

"If enough pressure is brought to bear by this committee," Miner said, "they cannot turn us down. There is no parallel between our application and that of Father Coughlin of Detroit, who was refused the right to the field and upon which refusal it appears that the board will also rule against us. But there is no similarity between the two cases.

Event to Be Nonpartisan.

"We are not promoting a partisan meeting. It will neither be Republican nor Democratic. Nothing will be said or done to offend any one except those who violate our constitution. If we are turned down, it will be because free speech is denied."

Mr. Miner told the committee that it "is hard to conceive that the use of a field, built with public funds, will be denied to 350 leading citizens [the membership of the committee] who wish to stage a celebration for constitutional liberty. They are all residents and taxpayers, motivated only by patriotism and a genuine love of liberty."

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, will be chairman of the meeting, Miner announced. One of the prominent speakers will be Frank Knox, editor of the Daily News.

National Leaders Consulted.

On a recent trip to New York and Washington, D. C., the director conferred with Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in Woodrow Wilson's cabinet; John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee in 1924; United States Senators Carter Glass of Virginia, and Daniel Hastings of Delaware, former Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, and Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state in the Wilson cabinet. One of these or some other equally prominent man will be obtained as another speaker, Miner said.

Isaac Van Grove of New York, pageant producer, has been retained to direct a historical pageant depicting vital incidents in American history, Miner reported. A parade will precede the evening event.

Commissioners on Vacation.

The application for use of Soldiers' field was filed on Aug. 12, but several of the commissioners are now on vacation and no meeting will be held until Sept. 3. If use of the Stadium is denied then, the Constitution day sponsors would have less than two weeks to secure another large field and efforts have already been started, Miner said, to get either the Cubs' or the Sox ball parks or the Chicago Stadium. Neither of the three would be large enough to accommodate the anticipated crowds, Miner said.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the commission, is now in Santa Barbara, Cal. Martin H. Kennelly, another commissioner, rarely attends meetings. James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, is in Chicago, but Harry Joseph spends three days a week at his summer home in northern Wisconsin. Stephen Witmanski, the fifth commissioner, is here.

"It would be pretty hard," George T. Donoghue, secretary of the commission, said yesterday, "to get the board together now to discuss the matter."

Donoghue denied that any action had been taken on the application of the Constitutionalists. He said that he believed the matter would be taken up in a closed session at the Sept. 3 meeting.

Among those at the luncheon were former Judge Charles S. Cutting, George W. Rossetter, Dwight H. Green, former United States attorney; Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, Newton C. Farr, Arthur C. Lueder, Gen. John V. Clinnin, Joseph K. Brittain, James S. Baldwin, president of the Illinois State Bar association; George T. Buckingham, and Maurice L. Rothschild.

Upon motion of Mrs. Silas Strawn a resolution was adopted urging the park board to grant the application for use of the field.

FINDS ESKIMOS MISS TOOTHACHE BY EATING RIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 22.—Eskimos far enough inland that they do not come in contact with food of the white man are free from dental decay, according to Dr. C. C. Birchard, lecturer of McGill university.

Dr. Birchard has just returned from a trip into the north country, during which he studied the habits and diets of the Eskimos. Not a single instance of tooth decay was found among Eskimos until Port Harrison on Hudson bay was visited. Here the Eskimos were accustomed to a white man's diet because of the lack of seals there.

Charges Salesman Dropped Lighted Cigaret Into Dress

Dropping a lighted cigaret into the front of a woman's dress is a practice which few people condone. W. C. Mills, 35 years old, a salesman from Cleveland, found that out last night in the Merry-Go-Round bar in the Congress hotel. The woman who swore out the complaint, which charged disorderly conduct, was Mrs. Judy Garfield, 23 years old, 4423 Sheridan road.

The annual convention of the Association of Coin Operated Machine Manufacturers will be held at the Hotel Sherman Jan. 13-16, C. S. Darling, executive secretary of the organization, announced yesterday.

HEAD OF ETHIOPIA AIR FORCES WON WINGS IN CHICAGO

John C. Robinson, mentioned in dispatches from Addis Ababa yesterday as the American chief of the Ethiopian air forces, was identified by his Chicago friends as the only representative of the colored race to hold a transport pilot's license.

JOHN C. ROBINSON.

Capt. Richard Duncan, an associate of Robinson, said the new ace of the Ethiopian air forces is a graduate of Tuskegee institute and of a Chicago flying school. After his graduation from flying school three years ago Robinson became an instructor and had a class of thirty colored air students.

Fully licensed and with 1,200 hours of flying to his credit, Robinson last May met representatives of the Ethiopian government in Washington, it was said, and was sent to Africa at their expense.

MERCHANT ROBBED, KIDNAPED.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A robber kidnaped and robbed Henry P. Gartland, St. Paul merchant, of $2,540 today as Gartland left a bank with pay roll funds. Gartland was thrown out of the car outside the city.

BOY, 9, DRAGGED UNDER TRUCK BY PLAY ROPE, DIES

Brother of Another Auto Crash Victim Held.

Allen Moody, 9 years old, 1520 East 69th street, was injured fatally yesterday in an unusual accident near his home. The boy, with two small girl companions, was playing in an alley with a rope around his waist when in some manner the end of the rope was caught under the front wheels of a passing truck, dragging him beneath the rear wheels. He died while being taken to the Jackson Park hospital.

Elner Boyesen, 28 years old, 1555 East 61st street, driver of the truck which is owned by the Ideal Coal and Ice company, 8014 Dante avenue, told Woodlawn police that he had not noticed children playing in the alley until he was attracted by their cries as the Moody boy was dragged under the wheels. Boyesen was held for the inquest today.

Dies in Truck Collision.

One man was killed and another injured when two trucks collided at 22d street and Wolf road in Hillside. The man killed was John Jager, 26 years old, of Hazelcrest.

A truck in which Jager was riding collided with another truck driven by John Carlsted, 19 years old, 115 Washington street, Batavia. Carlsted incurred a broken leg. Willard Nelson, 135 West 1st street, Batavia, who was riding with Carlsted, and a brother of the dead man, Leonard Jager, 38 years old, 15222 Page avenue, Harvey, driver of the other truck, were unhurt.

Police held Leonard Jager pending the inquest this morning after witnesses said he had failed to stop at 22d street, a through street.

Woman Killed; 3 Injured.

Mrs. Catherine Hastings, about 55 years old, was killed near her home in Wadsworth, Lake county, and three others were injured, when her car collided with a truck driven by Vincent Kasmer, 45 years old, a farmer near Wadsworth. Kasmer's father-in-law, Samuel T. Urbanski, 70 years old, was taken to St. Theresa's hospital in Waukegan, where his condition was said to be critical from a possible skull fracture and internal injuries.

Kasmer and Mrs. Elizabeth Hogan, 41 years old, Mrs. Hasting's sister-in-law, incurred head injuries and shock.

Mrs. Hastings was the wife of Emmet C. Hastings, former Lake county deputy sherif. She was a member of the Lone Oak school board.

Motorcycle Rider Hurt.

James M. Alartsek, 22 years old, 1926 Cleveland avenue, incurred a fractured wrist and compound fractures of the left ankle last night when the motorcycle he was riding south in Sedgwick street was struck by an automobile driven west on Garfield avenue by Mrs. Earl R. Willett, 25 years old, 6700 N. Artesian avenue. Mrs. Willett, in attempting to avoid Alartsek's machine, swung her car into a parked automobile. Mrs. Willett and five women accompanying her were unhurt.

The deaths of Jager and the Moody boy increased the 1935 trafic toll for Cook county to 588. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 467 had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 10,524 injured.

Held in Woman's Death.

Victor Malinowski, 23 years old, 1423 North Leavitt street, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Janet Drummond, 71 years old, 7259 Langley avenue, who was killed July 4 when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by Malinowski's machine at 16th street and 62d avenue, in Cicero.

Alexander Kominski, 33 years old, 1714 Ruble street, was fined $25 and sentenced to ten days in the Bridewell by Judge Gibson Gorman last night on a charge of reckless driving.

Michael Cerengella, 22 years old, 527 Taylor street, a clerk, was sentenced to serve two days in the Bridewell and ordered to pay a fine of $5 and costs when arraigned yesterday in Trafic court on charges of reckless driving.

MOTORIST GETS 1 TO 14 YEARS FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Ernest Schneider, 39 years old, 1432 North La Salle street, twice convicted of manslaughter in connection with a fatal automobile accident, was sentenced to from one to fourteen years' imprisonment yesterday and denied probation. Judge Grover C. Niemeyer of the Criminal court, however, granted Schneider a stay until Nov. 4 pending an appeal.

Schneider was found guilty by a jury on July 22 in his second manslaughter trial. A conviction a year ago was reversed by the Supreme court. The charge arose from an accident Dec. 23, 1933, when Schneider ran down and fatally injured John A. Kochanneck and Nathan Cohen.

HOUSE ACCEPTS DEATH CLAUSE IN HOLDING CO. BILL

Last Big 'Must' Measure Now Agreed Upon.

lished his colleagues: "It is the death sentence, and don't be deceived." Huddleston was accorded such prolonged ovations during and after his address, in which he called upon the "honor and dignity of the house" to defy President Roosevelt, that Speaker Joseph W. Byrns made a personal reply, an extraordinary if not unprecedented procedure for the chairman of a parliamentary body.

Pleads for Legislation.

"I trust that the house is not going to be carried away by the eloquence and powers of logic of the distinguished gentleman from Alabama," Speaker Byrns declared. "There has not been a member of this house who has taken the floor in opposition to the bill, or any one else, who has not said that there ought to be some legislation providing better control and regulation of public utility companies. If that be true, are we going to adjourn congress and go back home to our constituents and admit our inability to pass any kind of legislation?"

The speaker did not discuss the merits of the legislation for two reasons:

"First, I do not have time, and; second, I am frank to say that I do not know enough about it."

Climax of White House Lobby.

The unusual spectacle of the speaker of the house pleading with the members to pass a measure about which he admitted his ignorance was the climax of the lobby in which the administration moved heaven and earth to break the deadlock on the Wheeler-Rayburn bill. Vice President John N. Garner, acting as a lobbyist extraordinary for President Roosevelt, participated in the missionary work yesterday and again today.

Also circulating through the corridors and cloakrooms were Ben Cohen and Thomas Corcoran, Harvard law school "hot dogs" who wrote the bill, and Undersecretary of the Interior Charles West, the Presidents' personal lobbyist.

Victory for Roosevelt.

That President Roosevelt won a complete victory on the "death sentence" controversy with the house was indicated by the jubilant manner in which Senator Burton K. Wheeler [Rad. Dem., Mont.] stated that it was "just the original senate section rewritten."

It is known on Capitol hill as the Barkley compromise, but Senator Alben W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.] merely acted as the President's errand boy and the President received the draft from Messrs. Cohen and Corcoran.

The so-called compromise directs the Securities and Exchange commission to require each holding company, "as soon as practicable after Jan. 1, 1936," to "take such action as the commission shall find necessary to limit the operations of the holding company system of which such holding company is a part to a single integrated public utility system."

The Death Sentence.

It further provides, with respect to the "single integrated public utility system," that the commission "shall require each registered holding company [and any company in the same holding system with such holding company] to take such action as the commission shall find necessary in order that such holding company shall cease to be a holding company with respect to each of its subsidiary companies which itself has a subsidiary which is a holding company."

Stripped of the subtleties of the Cohen-Corcoran verbiage, this means that all holding companies beyond the second degree are to be sentenced to death by the SEC promptly after Jan. 1, 1938. Even a holding company in the second degree would not escape unless its operations were confined to a single integrated system within a state or within contiguous states.

This, in effect, is identical with the senate bill, except that the latter contained the Borah amendment to abolish all holding companies beyond the first degree. No such provision was contained in the original bill and Senator Wheeler, its manager, offered from the outset of the conference to change it to the second degree.

What "Degree" Means.

A holding company of the "first degree" is one which owns and controls operating companies directly, while a holding company of the "second degree" is one which controls other holding companies which, in turn, control operating units.

The "compromise" in one respect is more drastic even than the senate bill, for the SEC has discretionary power as to the time in which holding companies must be dissolved after 1938. The senate bill set the date of execution at 1940, and authorized the SEC to grant a stay up to two years. Under the compromise, particularly with Mr. Cohen as a prospective member of the SEC, the death sentence could be executed before 1940.

The house bill was a wholly discretionary measure, and under its terms the commission not only could permit the continued existence of single integrated systems, regardless of the number of holding companies, but also holding companies with properties in widely separated areas if they were deemed to be "in the public interest."

Fifty-nine Democrats and 83 Republicans voted "no" on the motion to instruct the conferees to accept the "compromise," while 203 Democrats, 7 Republicans and 9 miscellaneous radicals voted "aye." The President triumphed by a majority of 77, while on three previous occasions, the house had defied him by approximately the same majority.

GETS NEW DEATH THREATS

THELMA TODD.

Actress in Seclusion

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Thelma Todd, screen actress, target of a series of death threats, has secluded herself in an attempt to thwart the plotters. The actress has leased her Santa Monica home and taken up a secret residence. The actress first received threats last February. Federal investigators entered the case, but in spite of the arrest of a Long Island, N. Y., suspect the extortion messages have continued.

NEW CLEWS SPUR POLICE HUNT FOR MORRISON KILLER

Missing Check Is Sought; Woman Named.

Investigation into the mysterious murder of Kenneth A. Morrison, assistant controler of the Chicago park district, gained momentum yesterday as the police reported new developments and possible clews in the eight day old case. Morrison was found shot to death early on the morning of Aug. 14 in his automobile parked in front of 628 Alaska street.

A theory, once rejected, that Morrison had been slain in a holdup—or that, at least, robbery was incidental to the killing—was being considered again by the investigators. It was learned that on Aug. 13 the park district had given Morrison a check for $134 for expenses and overtime.

$56 Not Accounted For.

Of that amount $53 had been expended by Morrison for cashiers' checks, and $25 was found with the body, leaving $56 not accounted for.

The investigators discovered that Morrison had cashed the park district check and purchased three cashiers' checks at a loop bank. One of these checks was for $13 to pay a bill to the Commonwealth Edison company, another was for $20 to pay another bill, and a third was for $20 payable to Morrison himself.

It was pointed out that the personal check, which has not yet been cleared, could have been made negotiable with Morrison's endorsement. Appearance of this check was being awaited in the hope that the endorsement might yield a clew, particularly if it had been forged by one of the slayers.

Open Private Lock Box.

Capt. Andrew Barry of the Hudson avenue station and Morrison's widow, Mrs. Ethelwyne Morrison, and her attorney, Emil C. Wetten, went to the park district offices in Burnham park yesterday and opened two private lock boxes which Morrison had kept in a vault there. The keys to the boxes had been found on Morrison's body.

In one of the boxes were found records of park districts, before the consolidation. Some of these records dated to 1902. George T. Donoghue said that there was nothing irregular in Morrison's keeping these records in a personal box, as he might have used them in his work on budgets and tax levies. The other box contained personal papers and trinkets belonging to Morrison. These were being examined by Capt. Barry and Attorney Wetten.

Hunt New Mystery Woman.

Another development was the search for a married woman said to have been with Morrison on the night of the murder or the night preceding. Information regarding this woman was received in an anonymous telephone call to the Hudson avenue station. Her name and address were not divulged by the police.

Another phase of the investigation centered on a holdup early yesterday in which two men took $2 from John Scornovacco, 30 years old, of 546 Railroad avenue, Highwood. Scornovacco told the police the bandits jumped on the running board of his car on the outer drive near Roosevelt road. They forced him and a woman companion into the rear seat of the car and drove to 16th and State streets, where they took the money from Scornovacco and ejected him and the woman.

The description of one of the bandits tallied with that of one of the men seen fleeing from Morrison's car after he was slain. This man was about 22 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall, and weighed about 145 pounds.

INFLATION BONUS HANGS OVER HEAD OF NEXT SESSION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The bonus by inflation issue, which racked the now ending congress, today was cast squarely before the next session, with a vote assured within the first ten days.

Projecting a shadow that stretched four and a half months in advance, 218 house members signed a petition that will force consideration of the Patman bill providing for issuance of two billion dollars of new money to pay the adjusted service certificates.

Under house rules the bill must remain on the house calendar seven days before a vote can be had, and then the vote must be on either a second or a fourth Monday. With the early adjournment in prospect, these conditions cannot be met before next session.

COL. CHAMBERLIN CHARGES PLOT IN MIDGET'S ESCAPE

Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission, said yesterday that he believed "some sort of connivance" permitted Henry J. [Midget] Fernekes, the notorious bandit, to walk to freedom from Joliet prison disguised as a visitor on Aug. 3.

"I don't know how or where that connivance was employed," Col. Chamberlin said, "but there certainly is something funny about that escape." Chamberlin is a member of a committee named by A. L. Bowen, director of public welfare, which is surveying the prisons of the state to determine where new buildings are most needed.

Warden Frank D. Whipp maintained silence yesterday when asked about a new development of Fernekes' stock market transactions conducted while he was a prisoner. This was discovery of the original of a $500 check left at the prison for Fernekes by "a friend."

Located in the vaults of the First National bank of Joliet, the check was signed by "William L. Mc——" the last of the name being illegible.

Monday's marketing can use more gasoline than Sunday's long trip

4 out of every 5 miles you drive are stop-and-go

Starting; Shifting and Accelerating waste money if your gasoline hasn't these 3 Different Kinds of Power

IT'S the short trips . . . to the grocer's, the meat market, the drug store, the bank, the department store . . . that eat up your gasoline!

This is easy to figure out when you consider that one "cold" start can use up a "mile" of gasoline . . . and that rapid accelerating can use 33% more gasoline than just rolling along on a straightaway!

To save money on today's stop-and-go driving, you don't want a gasoline that merely STARTS quickly . . . or one that merely PULLS easily on hills or in shifting gears . . . or one that merely gives good MILEAGE on long runs!

You need a gasoline that does ALL THREE of these jobs. In short, you need a BALANCED gasoline!

Shell engineers now offer you the FIRST gasoline of this type . . . the FIRST gasoline made for today's stop-and-go driving.

Stop today at one of the 30,000 neighborly Shell stations from Coast to Coast. Fill up your tank with Super-Shell today and see for yourself how it can save you money.

SAVES GASOLINE IN 3 WAYS

STARTING—This balanced Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline on every "cold" start. Even on sizzling days, your engine is relatively "cold" after it has stopped running.

PULLING—It can save up to a cupful in 10 minutes of rapid accelerating or hill climbing. And you avoid knocking which alone in a few minutes can waste 10% of your power.

RUNNING—Super-Shell can save up to a cupful, motorists report, in an hour on the long stretch—thus saving on long runs as well as on short trips.

Remember, when you save 16 cupfuls, you save a gallon!

NATION SPEAKS A SAD FAREWELL TO WILL ROGERS

Wiley Post at Rest in Oklahoma City.

Glendale, Cal., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The nation's heavy hearted farewell to Will Rogers as one of its best beloved men was spoken today.

"It is no exaggeration to say that no man has been so universally appreciated and loved as Will Rogers," said the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher here in the tiny chapel of the Wee Kirk o' the Heather.

Screen actor, famed flyer, publisher, athlete and statesman were among the few more than 100 able to crowd into the chapel with the bereaved widow and children of the humorist.

100,000 at Cemetery.

One hundred thousand others came earlier to Forest Lawn Memorial Park to pass by the simple bronze casket. But only half that number could do so between sunrise and the funeral hour. The coffin was not opened.

Over the nation, the millions who learned to love the cowboy philosopher's sparkling wit and kindly manner paid their respects in varying ceremony. More than 12,000 theaters were darkened for two minutes. Church chimes sounded. Eulogies were spoken.

"Measured by any one of a half dozen standards," Mr. Brougher said, "one of the very greatest men America has ever produced has gone on a little while ahead of us into that life of greater opportunity that Christ has prepared for those who love him."

Sings Favorite Song.

After the minister's eulogy, John Boles, actor, sang Roger's favorite cowboy song, "Old Faithful."

Every Hollywood studio stopped work and turned for the time being a world of make believe into a real chapel of sorrow.

The first of those who flocked to the quiet funeral scene were there at 3:15 a. m. At dawn, before the gates were opened, nearly 30,000 had come.

Some expressed disappointment because the plain bronze coffin was not opened. A family spokesman explained this course was followed because of wishes expressed many times by Rogers.

When the crowds began filing through the gates, they saw ahead, in the shape of a 980 foot horseshoe, a roped off route across the lawn. Near the apex of the arc was the coffin.

Soldiers Bear Coffin.

When the gates were closed, shutting out still others who would have joined, eight soldiers lifted the coffin and bore it into the chapel. There were spoken the last words Rogers' adopted state could say to its best loved citizen.

As the 125 closest friends filled the little church a pipe organ softly sounded the first strains of the "Old Rugged Cross," moving from this to other familiar airs Rogers had heard as a boy in a country church—"In the Cross of Christ I Glory," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "Saved by Grace," and "I Love to Tell the Story."

As the services were being held at Forest Lawn 20,000 persons assembled in Hollywood bowl to hear Rupert Hughes tell of his friend. Lawrence Tibbett gave a musical tribute.

Four Preachers Speak.

In Beverly Hills the Presbyterian community church was filled with friends and former neighbors. Clergymen of four faiths spoke. Ruth Etting sang.

Many well known men of the clergy and the stage joined in services held at motion picture studios. At Twentieth Century-Fox, Rogers' "home lot," the Rev. Josiah Hopkins and George Jessel, comedian, joined in the eulogies.

At Warner Brothers the Rev. Herbert Booth Smith spoke for the world outside, while Al Jolson paid the tribute of the players and studio staf.

Bishop W. Bertrand Stevens and Louis B. Mayer spoke at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Nelson Eddy sang.

Other studios paid their tributes in song. At Universal Irene Dunn sang. Solos were given at United Artists by Nino Martini.

Family Left Alone.

As soon as the church services were finished the building was cleared of every one but members of the immediate family of the flyer. For a few brief moments they were alone with the dead.

Then they signaled to National Guardsmen and city officers and a path was cleared from the door to a waiting herse.

Borne by men who had been close friends of the famous pilot, the body was taken along crowded streets to the mausoleum.

The First Baptist church was filled to overflowing. More hundreds gathered outside. These included a host unable to get into the Oklahoma capitol earlier for the state's tribute.

Post's widow and mother made their way with difficulty to the family's shielded section of the church. A purple screen separated the relatives from the more than 2,000 within the building.

Sermon Is Brief.

There was a prayer, a quartet sang "Lead, Kindly Light," and the Rev. W. R. White spoke a brief sermon.

Close friends of Post, including large numbers of the flying fraternity and officials, were the first to enter the church before the service.

The ceremony at the capitol was climaxed with a brief eulogy by Gov. E. W. Marland. A section of the heavy marble railing about the rotunda collapsed, but no one was injured.

POST FUNERAL SIMPLE

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The body of Wiley Post rested in a crypt in Fairlawn mausoleum tonight after funeral services as simple as the rustic surroundings he left to fly to undying fame.

The brief church rites ended a day of tribute to the stocky flyer who, with Will Rogers, another famous son of Oklahoma, crashed to death on a flying vacation near Point Barrow, Alaska.

Earlier, airplanes droned a requiem high overhead and then swooped low to scatter flowers over his coffin, the governor of the state delivered a eulogy, and more than 15,000 persons

WILL ROGERS, COWBOY HUMORIST, HIS LIFE STORY

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

CHAPTER VI.

WILL ROGERS was modest about his amazing career; his ego never became inflated by the sweet but toxic gases of popularity. He once said:

"The success magazines are full of bunk about a fellow winning fame and fortune by working hard and sticking to one job. All of you know as well as I do that it was some accident started you off on the right track."

The "accident" that gave him his fourth fame-winning and highly lucrative career was the radio. The modern era's development of this apparently magical art of communication found him an ideal microphone comedian. His gift of fluent and amusing chatter, his facility for extemporaneous whimsicalities, were made to order for the broadcasting programs; and thus Will took to the air with the greatest of ease.

Highest Paid Radio Star.

Radio experts say that for the past six or seven years he had been the highest paid performer in sponsored broadcasts, and it is estimated that he earned about $750,000 in this way. His first sponsored series brought him $65,000 for 13 programs; his last two were given at the rate of $8,000 for each performance. Altogether he made about 100 appearances on commercial programs. His casual contributions to the realm of radio speeches made on behalf of movements in which he took a philanthropic interest or on occasions when he wanted to manifest his friendship—were numerous.

His last appearance at the microphone prior to his fatal air trip to Alaska as far as the records show, was as a volunteer. On July 1 he served as master of ceremonies for a gala broadcast celebrating the opening of the new plant of the Los Angeles Times, as an expression of his long friendship with Harry Chandler, the publisher.

Stone Repays a Favor.

His last professional radio work, in the spring of this year, was marked by an incident which illustrates again the deep friendship that existed between himself and Fred Stone. He was broadcasting this program from New York, and before the series could be completed his services became urgently needed in Hollywood. He had taken Stone's place in a musical comedy after the latter's disablement, as already has been told; now Stone returned the favor by completing Rogers' air commitments.

Rogers dealt with the microphone as informally as he used to deal with his theater audiences. The prepared manuscript, generally used in the carefully timed and scrupulously formalized commercial broadcast, meant nothing to this happy-go-lucky jester, who was never at a loss for the right word to say at the right moment. He worried the punctilious station managers until they got used to him and recognized his infallibility.

Warm Up Before Time.

He would arrive at the studio an hour ahead of time and warm up by joking with the visitors and employes, often making sly, satirical remarks about the product he was to exploit. He would admit that he didn't know what he was going to say when he went on the air. When his turn came to step up before the microphone he would reach into his breast pocket and pull out an old envelope or dog-eared bit of paper on which a few words were scrawled. This he called his "grocery list." He might refer to the cues that he had jotted down, but he was just as likely to disregard them completely.

Early in his radio career he made a serious error of taste which brought a storm of complaints and criticism from the mysterious masses of people who form the radio world. He committed a breach of etiquet that bordered on lese majesty. He mocked the President of the United States!

The incident deserves to be recalled, for it was widely discussed at the time, and it reflects no discredit on Rogers. In January, 1928, he was engaged to act as master of ceremonies for a program announcing a new model of a familiar type of automobile. After serving as herald for various celebrities—"my old pal, Al Jolson; my old pal, Fred Stone; my old pal, Paul Whiteman"—Rogers told his listeners that he had a great surprise in store for them. He was happy to present the President of the United States, who, speaking from the White House, would report on the affairs of the nation.

Mimics Yankee Twang.

Then the radio audience heard a voice with the Yankee twang of Calvin Coolidge, accurately imitated.

"It gives me great pleasure," rasped the voice, "to report on the state of the nation. . . . The nation is in a hole."

Thousands of people thought that Coolidge actually was speaking, and when they recognized the fact that he had been impersonated they became highly annoyed. Thousands of letters came to Rogers and the motor car manufacturers. Formal complaints were lodged at the White House. The New York Times rebuked Rogers in an editorial.

The author of this faux pas, which was the mistake of a comedian of theater training, then unaccustomed to the invisibility of the radio, was extremely distressed. He immediately wrote President Coolidge an apology, and was happy in being able to announce by radio a week later that the President had taken no offense. Coolidge answered Rogers in a two page letter entirely in his own manuscript, saying that he himself had enjoyed the impersonation.

Temper Could Be 'Roused.

Another early incident of Rogers' radio career revealed that he was so completely human that he could lose his temper and kick up the dust. He overran his allotted time at one broadcast because he got too interested in his subject, and was cut off the air. Moreover, he was not informed that he had been banished, but was permitted to continue talking to a dead microphone. When he discovered that he had been wasting his best jokes in total innocence, he felt that he had been made ridiculous in the eyes of the studio staf. His cowboy "dander" rose; he said a few sharp words to the management and sponsors; he walked out on the show.

Of course there was a reconciliation, but when he returned to the studio he brought an alarm clock with him and set it ostentatiously to ring when his fifteen minutes had expired.

Rogers' final sponsored broadcast was notable for one of his strokes of philanthropy—characteristic but little known outside of his circle of intimates. He appeared with Hallie Stiles, an opera singer, and Frank Tours' orchestra, for the Gulf Oil company on the Columbia Broadcasting system, and all of his fees for the series were given to the American Red Cross.

MOVIE INVENTOR BRINGS SUIT TO OUST TRUSTEE

Spoor Seeks Accounting and Injunction.

George K. Spoor, Chicago movie pioneer and inventor of movie equipment, filed suit in the Superior court yesterday asking the removal of Albert W. Mahone, public accountant, as trustee of property segregated under a trust agreement drawn up on Nov. 1, 1932. Spoor's bill seeks an accounting and an injunction to restrain the trustee from disposing of the assets of the trust, said to be worth $2,000,000, which were set aside to protect claims against Spoor amounting to $65,000.

Spoor, who founded the pioneer Essanay Film company of Chicago with Gilbert M. [Broncho Billy] Anderson, has been experimenting in recent years with "third dimension" moving pictures.

Agreement Made with Creditors.

The 1932 trust agreement, according to Spoor, was drawn up when creditors threatened to force him into bankruptcy. The $65,000 claims, he said, represented fees which he owed in connection with the adjustment of a $200,000 federal income tax bill.

Named as defendants in the suit with Mahone are Attorneys James G. Condon, Irvin I. Livingston, Edward H. Barron, John E. Hughes, and the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, all beneficiaries of the trust. They were included, Spoor said, to protect their interests as well as Spoor's.

The bill sets forth that Spoor turned over real estate and personal property valued at $2,000,000 to the trust, and claim that the trust agreement empowered him to conduct all negotiations regarding contracts for the property, which includes patent rights. Spoor charges that Mahone attempted negotiations with New York concerns "and assumed he was the directing genius of various corporations in which Spoor held controling stock."

Other Charges Against Trustee.

Spoor's bill also accuses Mahone of trying to manage the corporations "for the purpose of enriching himself." At the time the trust agreement was made, the bill states, Mahone had claims of $15,000 against the trust, but now has entered claims of $60,000. The bill asks that Mahone be forced to make an accounting of $9,000 given him at the time the trust was formed to settle any claims that might be prejudicial to the beneficiaries.

Companies in which Spoor said he had a controling interest are the Essanay Picture corporation, Spoor Picture corporation, Spoor Natural Vision corporation, Spoor-Lindberg corporation, Spoor Machine corporation, and the Spoor Manufacturing company.

The old Essanay studios, 1333-45 Argyle street, produced many films in the early days of the industry and several famous players got their start there.

Daughter of G. F. Swift to Sue Banker for Divorce

Reno, Nev., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ruth Swift Maguire, daughter of G. F. Swift, founder of the Swift Packing company in Chicago, will file suit here tomorrow for divorce against Jeremiah D. Maguire of New York, charging cruelty. Mr. Maguire is president of the Federation Bank and Trust company in New York, called the nation's largest labor bank.

THEFT VERDICT SET ASIDE.

Judge Thomas A. Green in Boys' court yesterday vacated guilty verdicts against John Lash, 18 years old, 4639 South Rockwell street; Kasper Kazimier, 21, and Anthony Skuszewicz, 28, of 2312 West Forty-Seventh street, who had been convicted of stealing five sheep from a farmer's truck last Feb. 22. The court was informed the three are employed and that their previous records were good.

'Don't Act Like Hyenas,' Arkansan Says for House

LOBBYIST TELLS HOW HE BECAME A SOCIAL LION

Cash and the Flowing Bowl Win Capital.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Bernard B. Robinson of Chicago, an ingratiating lobbyist for the Associated Gas and Electric system of utilities, gave a rollicking description today before the senate lobby committee of how he crashed Washington social and political circles last February with the aid of a charming smile and an unlimited expense account.

Merely by staging cocktail parties, gay dinners, and impromptu gatherings at which liquor flowed freely in his hotel suite Robinson, in the course of a few weeks, had an imposing list of friends, he revealed somewhat reluctantly. These persons were moaning piteously today at the exposure of their acceptance of the hospitality of a paid utilities lobbyist.

McIntyre Named Again.

Among those who figured in Robinson's testimony were the following:

Marvin H. McIntyre, a secretary to President Roosevelt.

Emil Hurja, one of Postmaster Farley's right hand men, patronage dispenser and lobbyist for President Roosevelt.

Lawrence W. [Chip] Robert, assistant secretary of the treasury.

Bruce Kremer, former national Democratic committeeman from Montana; Don Halstead, Reconstruction Finance corporation official; Senators William H. Dieterich [Dem., Ill.]; James E. Murray [Dem., Mont.]; Wallace H. White Jr. [Rep., Me.]; Lynn J. Frazier [Rep., N. D.]; Richard B. Russell Jr. [Dem., Ga.]; Pat McCarran [Dem., Nev.]; Millard E. Tydings [Dem., Md.], and Frederick Van Nuys [Dem., Ind.].

Robinson did not distinguish in his testimony between those senators he had met socially and those whom he had interviewed in their offices.

Representatives he named included Lea [Dem., Cal.]; Monaghan [Dem., Mont]; Wolverton [Rep., N. J.]; Rayburn [Dem., Tex.]; Bulwinkle [Dem., N. C.]; Cole [Dem., Md.]; Sadowski [Dem., Mich.]; Cooper [Rep., O.]; Wolfenden [Rep., Pa.].

Spends $1,400 a Month.

Robinson insisted stoutly that he interviewed most of these congressmen at the capital and did not entertain them.

Amon G. Carter, Texas publisher and national Democratic committman from that state, was another he included.

Robinson said he spent $7,200 in the five months he has been in Washington, an average of more than $1,400 a month for his expenses.

He said his "general expenses" were $12,000 to $14,000 a month, including the upkeep of offices in Chicago and Los Angeles. Most of his Washington expenses were paid by the Associated Gas system inasmuch as he was acting here for Howard C. Hopson, head of that organization.

The lobbyist's testimony sparkled with observations which kept the crowd roaring with laughter. In his defense of Secretary McIntyre, he sought to prove that they had not talked about the Wheeler-Rayburn utility control bill by remarking:

"I never met Mr. McIntyre except in the company of women."

Some of His Philosophy.

Other reflections by Robinson were the following:

"I never permit any other person to use my car—that is any one of the male sex."

"My expenses were $7,200 over a five month period. But that was my normal life. Parties are normal for me."

"I used what I call 'indirect salesmanship' in Washington."

"When you meet senators and congressmen with women you don't talk politics."

"If a man comes to 'my' room' he gets a drink if he wants one."

"If I walked down Wall street with J. P. Morgan I might be able to borrow more money at the bank. But would that be lobbying?"

"My purpose in contacting the women secretaries of senators was to ascertain the effect of the mail upon them."

He ended his testimony at the morning session by inquiring with some heat, after telling of the McIntyre incident:

"What do you suppose I wanted out of the White House? The pen the President signs the death sentence with?"

Questioned About Chicagoan.

Both Hopson and Robinson were questioned about a telegram sent by the former to Robinson on April 24, reading:

"Assume BK is friendly with all politicians and CU is one or them. CU is a friend of ours except when his own interests are concerned, which is most of time."

"BK" was identified as Bruce Kremer. Both witnesses professed to be unable to identify "CU" until the afternoon session when Hopson identified "CU" as "Cummings, president of the Continental Bank of Chicago."

"Is he active in politics?" Inquired Senator Hugo L. Black, [Dem., Ala].

"Yes, in the Democratic party in Chicago and elsewhere," answered Hopson.

Kremer received a $5,000 fee for legal services to the Associated Gas system, Hopson testified.

He interjected a remark here which caused the senators to blush.

"I don't think it fair for the committee to ask personal questions about women," Hopson commented. "I don't think gentlemen would ask such questions."

The committee had previously forced Robinson to name any secretaries to congressmen he had entertained. He finally named "Congressman Doughton's secretary" as one. Doughton is chairman of the house ways and means committee.

Senator Ernest W. Gibson [Rep., Vt.] questioned Robinson at length, terming him a "social lobbyist," a phrase which Robinson accepted with some expressed distaste.

"I want to say," Gibson remarked, "that this social lobbying is the most dangerous and meanest form of lobbying and the hardest to trace."

$103 for Party Liquor.

Among the parties Robinson staged was one at the "F Street club," which cost him $103 for the liquor consumed, he admitted. McIntyre, Robert, some senators, and a number of government officials were present, he said.

"Did you ever land a cabinet member?" he was asked.

The senators did not inquire too closely into the incident when Sergeant-at-Arms Chesley Jurney of the senate stumbled upon McIntyre, Robert, and Carter in Robinson's hotel suite.

"McIntyre just happened to drop in," Robinson insisted, but a moment later he testified that "a call came from the White House for McIntyre while he was there."

"Yet he wasn't there by appointment?" inquired Senator Black in some amazement.

"No," asserted the lobbyist.

STOCKHOLDERS SUE HOPSON FOR MILLION SPENT ON LOBBYING

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Two stockholders of the Associated Gas and Electric company today took legal steps to compel Howard C. Hopson, vice president and treasurer; John I. Mange, president, and seven other officers and directors to reimburse the company for more than 1 million dollars, alleged to have been spent in lobbying against the Wheeler-Rayburn bill.

In a suit filed in Supreme court, the stockholders, Murray Kanner and Simpson Levor charge the company "was never authorized to engage in lobbying activities either directly or indirectly and that lobbying is illegal and all money used to prevent passage of the bill was improperly, fraudulently, and illegally spent."

They also requested an accounting of all money received by Hopson and Mange, as well as by affiliate companies.

It is charged that Hopson organized various companies which were paid fees out of all proportion to services, resulting in a "siphoning" of funds from the company.

It was brought out in Washington today that Hopson and Mange had profited 29 million 390 thousand dollars in organizing the A. G. & E. system. These were the figures of the senate lobby committee after a search of the system's records. They were flatly denied by Hopson from the stand.

ATTORNEY WON'T DISCUSS LARGE JOLIET CITY FEE

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The only reply that John C. Farber, Broadway lawyer, had to make today to the $5,154 fee recovery suit which the city of Joliet, Ill., is threatening to bring against him was to warn Chicago newspapers that they would "proceed at their own peril" in any further publicity they might see fit to devote to the case.

Farber, who stepped into President Roosevelt's shoes as the law partner of Basil O'Connor, was wrathy over the disclosures and he made no effort whatever to conceal it. He declined to discuss questions bearing on the amount of work he or his firm had done to merit a fee twice the amount of the 10 per cent originally authorized by the Joliet city council.

Farber also had "nothing to say" about two letters which Herbert A. Graves, Joliet city attorney, has sent the law firm of O'Connor & Farber demanding the return of $5,154 of the $10,000 paid by the city to the law firm for legal advice in aiding the city establish $48,460 of preferred claims in the closed Joliet National bank. Graves in his letter has stated that the "overpayment" was a mistake, that the city council records show authorization for payment of 10 per cent of the $48,460, not 20 per cent.

Former City Attorney J. W. Faulkner said on Wednesday that the council intended to pay 20 per cent but that a clerk changed the figure to 10 per cent in copying the records and that the council failed to notice it.

SCIENCE DEVELOPS A VACCINE IN DRINK TO BREAK UP COLDS

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—A fresh inroad on the common cold, by a new "heterophile" vaccine made to drink, which reduced colds by 43.7 per cent among persons using it last winter, was announced her today.

The actual reduction was 70 per cent among 399 persons. But from this was subtracted 26.3 per cent, credited as a fraction probably due to a mild common cold season.

The report is made in Science, the official organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, by George E. Rockwell and Hermann C. Van Kirk of the University of Cincinnati department of bacteriology and H. M. Powell of the Lilly Research Laboratories, Indianapolis.

The vaccine is made from bacteria frequently found in the human throat, especially those likely to be there during colds. The bacteria are pneumonia, influenza, streptococci and catarrh.

PROPOSE G. O. P. CONVENTION TO FOLLOW FOES'

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Headed by National Chairman Henry P. Fletcher, a group of influential Republican party managers have begun plans to assure that the national convention next year will, contrary to recent custom, be held after the Democrats have written their platform and chosen their candidates.

The reason for the change is obvious. For years the regular arrangement in this country was for the party in power to convene, recite its record, and choose its standard bearers, and then the opposition would form on this completed record. But the Republicans, having been successful with the candidates of an earlier convention in 1896, and having been out of power only twice thereafter, fell into the habit of holding their conventions first. This has on several occasions put them at a disadvantage and Mr. Fletcher and many other important leaders believe that the prospect of 1936 especially calls for a convention after the Democratic.

HOUSE ENDS DAY IN RIOTING OVER FLOOD CONTROL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Riotous scenes on the floor of the house featured tonight's session which broke up after 10 p. m. The so-called flood control bill, termed by Minority Leader Snell the "most outrageous pork bill" ever presented to congress, was approved by the extremely narrow margin of 11 votes. The count was 153 to 142.

The bill now goes to the senate, where it is given very little chance of passage. The measure authorizes the appropriations of 370 millions, mainly for the construction of levee set-backs on the tributaries of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. Some flood control projects were also included.

The representatives engaged in a general brawl, yelling and shouting at one another and at times coming close to fistcuffs as they labored frantically for appropriations in their home districts.

ECUADOR SENDS EX-PRESIDENT TO COLOMBIAN EXILE

QUITO, Ecuador, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The government permitted Jose M. Velaso Ibarra, former president who was arrested Tuesday when he was forced to resign, to leave prison today to become an exile in Colombia.

Velasco Ibarra, who was succeeded by Antonio Pons, former minister of the interior, left jail in company with the secretary of the Colombian legation. He went immediately to the legation.

A bloc of deputies loyal to the former president met today in the home of the conservative Deputy Moises Luna, and passed a resolution to ask the acting president to appoint two ministers of state.

HUNT GIRL AND MISSING CASH.

The Shakespeare avenue police were asked yesterday to search for Helen Rzepka, 17 years old, who disappeared from her home at 2930 Wisner avenue Wednesday night. The girl's father, Frank Rzepka, told police that his daughter had taken $370 belonging to her mother, and feared that she had eloped.

Faces Mental Tests After Blast in Suicide Attempt

John Kovach, 54 years old, whose attempt to end his life by inhaling gas resulted in an explosion which wrecked his home at 5735 South Seeley avenue and injured two tenants Wednesday, was taken from the Southtown hospital to the psychopathic hospital yesterday for a mental examination. Kovach, Nicholas Wonderlick and his wife, Wanda, who lived in the building, were cut and bruised in the explosion.

SENATE PASSES GUFFEY BILL TO SOVIETIZE COAL

Complete Roosevelt's Last "Must" Measure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The Guffy-Snyder bill, designed to sovietize the soft coal industry and establish a price fixing and marketing monopoly for the eastern operators, was passed by the senate this afternoon by a vote of 45 to 37. It now goes to conference with the house of representatives for consideration of senate amendments.

Last of the so-called "must" measures to be passed by both houses of congress, this bill was demanded by President Roosevelt regardless of doubts as to its constitutionality, "however reasonable." Senator Thomas P. Gore [Dem., Okla.], told the senate that it "not only violates the constitution of the United States but the constitution of nature itself."

Proposes Tax on Oil.

The bill had a stormy course through the senate and it occazioned the extraordinary spectacle of a devout New Dealer, Tom Connally of Texas, rallying to the support of the constitution when Senator John H. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.], proposed a tax of ½ cent a barrel on oil to compensate for the 15 per cent tonnage tax on coal provided in the bill.

"Russia permits particular groups to form soviets, which make their own laws," Connally cried. "That's what this bill seeks to do—to sovietize the coal industry.

"It permits particular groups to use the taxing power of the United States, not for the purpose of raising revenue, but for their own special benefit. Any one who has read the Supreme court's Schechter decision knows that this bill is utterly unconstitutional."

Votes Against Bill.

Senator Connally's motives at this point may not have been altogether unselfish, for his state is first in the production of oil, but in justice to him it must be said that he voted against the bill after Bankhead's amendment was defeated.

Senators James Hamilton Lewis and William H. Dieterich of Illinois, both Democrats, split on the bill, Lewis voting for it and Dieterich against it. Senator Dieterich vehemently assailed the measure throughout the three days of senate debate, contending that it would establish Pennsylvania and West Virginia in the monopoly they gained by cheating on labor.

"I live in a small community of 8,000," Senator Dieterich declared. "The mines in that section are able to deliver coal to the community at a very low price through the use of trucks. Yet this bill seeks to levy a tax upon that activity which is in no sense of the word in interstate commerce."

Amend Bill for Chicagoland.

The bill was amended on motion of Senator Sherman Minton [Dem., Ind.] in one important respect from the standpoint of Illinois, Indiana and Iowa.

As written it sought to create minimum price fixing areas and included these three states in area No. 1, with West Virginia and Pennsylvania, whereby the latter could compete in the Chicago market irrespective of freight advantages. Under the amendment a new minimum price area would be created, embracing those states.

Senator Dieterich later contended, however, that another provision might offset this improvement, for it requires the 23 district boards to be created to "coördinate in common consuming market areas upon a fair competitive basis the minimum prices and the rules and regulations established by them." He pointed out that Pennsylvania and West Virginia already supplied more than half of the Chicago market.

Increases Price of Coal.

"The bill, as written," Senator Dieterich declared, "would increase the price of coal in Illinois from $2 to $3 a ton."

"You're trying to prevent giving the state of Pennsylvania a monopoly of the bituminous coal industry and I sympathize with you," commented Senator Josiah W. Bailey [Dem., N. C.].

Another important amendment, submitted by Senator M. M. Logan [Dem., Ky.] and adopted by the senate, prevents the A. F. of L. affiliated United Mine Workers, vociferous supporters of the bill, from dominating all the miners in the country.

The bill provided for the election of the labor member of each district board by the "national" organization representing the "preponderant number of employés in the industry." As amended, the word "national" is eliminated and the election is to be made by the organization having the majority in the individual district.

Progressive Union Aided.

This will put the so-called progressive miners' organization of Illinois on an equal footing with the U. M. W., or give them the advantage where they have a majority. It also will protect miners, Senator Logan explained, in states where there are no unions.

"The amendment is designed to protect the fraudulent company union," declared Senator Matthew M. Neely [Dem., W. Va.], manager of the bill.

"I object to any legislation that compels a closed shop," replied Senator William H. King [Dem., Utah]. "This is a free country and I oppose utterly any legislation that will compel miners to join a particular union. I understand there are a great many miners who do not belong to the United Mine Workers."

Efforts of Senator King to strike out a provision exempting marketing agreements from prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law when approved by the proposed bituminous coal commission were unsuccessful. However, Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] secured the elimination of a section specifically suspending the anti-trust laws and expressed the opinion that it would "limit" price fixing. Others disagreed with him.

The bill creates a national bituminous coal commission in the department of the interior, consisting of five members appointed by the President and the office of "consumers' counsel," supposedly to protect the consuming public.

Provides 23 District Boards.

It provides for 23 district boards of from 3 to 17 members, including one representative of labor. It also provides for a bituminous coal labor board of three members, which shall have jurisdiction over all labor relations, under collective bargaining provisions similar to those of the Wagner-Connery labor relations act.

The district boards, subject to the approval and under the rules and regulations of the national board, will fix prices, prescribe "fair trade" practices, and determine the flow of coal into the respective markets. A total of 14 minimum prices areas are to be created.

To compel operators to comply with the proposed code to be drawn up under the supervision of the national board, there is a tax of 15 per cent a ton at the mines, 90 per cent of which is to be refunded to those who comply. The other 10 per cent is to be used for expenses of the administrative boards.

Wages to Remain Same.

The bill has been demanded by the administration under the pretext of averting a national coal strike, which four times has been "called off" on assurances from the President or Secretary of Labor Perkins that it would be passed. Today, however, Senator Bailey obtained an admission from Senator Joseph F. Guffey [Dem., Pa.] that no increases in wages are contemplated.

"No increase in wages are contemplated and yet we are told to pass the bill to avert a national coal strike," exclaimed Senator Bailey. "I don't propose to be intimidated that way either here or anywhere else. I don't believe in legislation by intimidation. If we do that once, we'll always be doing it.

"They'll come in next with a proposition like this for the textile industry or some other industry and tell us we must pass it to avert a national strike."

SENATE PASSES BILL TO LIMIT STRIKEBREAKERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The senate today passed and sent to the house the Byrnes bill making it a felony to transport in interstate commerce persons to be employed in obstructing peaceful picketing during labor controversies.

The author said four or five national agencies hire persons for this purpose and it invariably results in "bloodshed and disorder."

Violators would be subject to a $5,000 fine and two years' imprisonment.

REPORT 20 DEAD, 30 INJURED AS HANGAR CRASHES

BRASOV, Rumania, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Twenty workmen were reported killed and 30 injured today when the steel frame of a new airplane hangar under construction here collapsed. Authorities said they feared still more bodies were crushed under the débris. The architects were arrested.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

GUNS, COTTON AND OTHER THINGS.

The neutrality bills and resolutions in congress were not introduced with an eye to any present troubles in the world, but rather as a pacifist whack at the munition makers—although the advocacy of them was of course broader than that. There was a search for something that would be more dependable than the "Thank God for Wilson. He kept us out of war." That reflected Mr. Wilson and it also made a war. Although the various proposed embargoes were not formulated because Italy was about to attack Ethiopia, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull find something on the fire in congress which they think can be served at the present moment in case they want to join Great Britain, France, and the league of nations in cutting off Italian supplies.

There is a double advantage for the administration in adopting the pacifist embargoes. They would serve the immediate particular purpose and it is of record that they were not specifically aimed at any one nation. Mr. Roosevelt would not seem to join the league of nations against Italy and yet for the matter in hand he could in effect do so. There is a difference between automatic embargoes and discretionary ones. The automatic embargo has put the world on notice. The belligerents know in advance. Its sponsors find in this its true neutral value. It is not to be regarded as a cause of injury to any belligerent. He knew before he started his war that he could not obtain credit or supplies in the United States, even if he controled the sea and could come after them.

It is argued that if you refuse to deal with belligerents after they have gone to war, if you make your decision after they have started fighting, you have violated neutrality although you may seem to be preserving it. One of the belligerents may have relied upon his ability to reach your markets. You have presented him with a new setup upon which he had not counted, and your act is unfriendly and not neutral.

The munition maker and his daughter's necklace were the figures in the front to catch the eye. There had to be a demonology. Mr. Nye of the senate investigation committee chased the warmaking conspirators in nearly every country in the world and to his own satisfaction found them in a fraternal international association, pulling the controling ropes in every government and not caring where they started war if they could sell their goods. Mr. Nye has been invited to name the munition makers who are causing the war in Africa, but he prefers to skip it.

If the United States adopts the pacifist formulas and embargoes, discretionary or automatic, it won't be the money changers and steelmakers who will break them down. The farmers are more likely to take care of that. Hardly anything produced in the United States could be exempt in the classification of war material. Nearly all industrial and agricultural products are needed by an army. Even if the embargoes were given ostensible service by the government, the bootlegging would break through them if political influence did not. If war boosted the price of cotton so that fortunes beyond the sea beckoned to American planters you can see these planters virtuously turning their backs on the opportunity. The same fanciful idea would apply to wheat and other commodities. A short war restricted to Italy and Ethiopia might not test the scheme, but anything on a larger scale, involving two or more great nations, would either destroy the embargoes or the administration which tried to enforce them.

A discretionary embargo would seem the worse of the two. Granted that the belligerents could not discover an unfriendly act in the automatic embargo, the one of them which could reach our markets would hold a grudge if the President, being able to say yes or no, decided to set up the barrier against it.

The world war taught us that war trade has its dangers. Our open market in the end needed the army and navy. There are many more instances in which it did not. America as a nation which has had to scurry abroad for supplies when it found itself fighting has held to the open market principle in its own interest. It cannot expect to find markets if it asserts that true international policy should close them. We have always held to the idea that we will not fight unless some one forces us to do so. It will not be of our own seeking. If in spite of our best intentions we can't avoid a war, we then ask that we be able to defend ourselves and save our bacon by buying what we need where we can get it. We have assumed that we will have more money than we will have armed men and munitions. We have protected our right to use that money in our defense wherever it will quickly get the things we need most. If the open market policy, working both ways, applying to the United States both as a seller and a buyer, has its dangers, they may be infinitely less to this truly peaceable country than a policy throwing the country wholly on its own resources.

THE DOOMSMEN OF CAPITOL HILL.

Mr. Hopson of Associated Gas did not start a wave of incredulity and disbelief when he told Mr. Black of the senate lobby committee that the inquisitors wanted only half the truth at any time. The committee will have none of the plain people as investors in its picture. It wants only malefactors of great cunning and wealth. The utilities want all the plain people they can get and few promoters.

The congressmen do not want to know anything about investors who have put their savings in utility investments. They want plots and plotters. The more they hear about plots the less they hear about injustice to the thrifty. To say that they want only half the story credits them with too much curiosity. They want only such parts of it as suit their purpose. For instance, they have no curiosity regarding the connections of Marvin McIntyre, White House secretary; B. B. Robinson, another Associated Gas lobbyist, and L. W. Roberts Jr., assistant secretary of the treasury.

It might have saved Mr. Hopson some questioning if Mr. McIntyre had been found in his hotel rooms instead of in Mr. Robinson's, Mr. Hopson's Associated Gas associate. Congressional agents searching for Mr. Hopson in Mr. Robinson's rooms found Mr. McIntyre instead, along with Mr. Roberts and Mr. Carter, a Texas publisher. This discovery was hushed up for the time being and Mr. Black's committee has been reluctant to have anything to do with it. On the house side of the lobby investigation Brother John J. O'Connor's committee does not want to have any information regarding the White House lobbyists, Charles West and Emil Hurja. Half the story would be entirely too much for the investigators.

The Doomsday boys of congress sit as examining magistrates with a mixed lot of self-given commissions. They appoint themselves prosecutors and judges. They are state's attorneys, police, G P U, and Supreme court. If a witness replies in kind to an insulting question he is threatened with punishment. He may be in luck if they do not gang him and beat him up. As star chambers these investigating committees have got their growth and come of age.

If Senator Black were as tough as he thinks he is he would be afraid to be left alone in a room with himself.

TRAVEL IS BROADENING.

Until recently it would have been hard to explain why Gov. Horner's wandering boy, Midget Fernekes, wanted to play the stock market. He was living under our civilization's closest approach to a moneyless economy. The state of Illinois provided him with free board and room, not to mention baseball games and other entertainment. He didn't even have to worry about a penniless old age. The judge who sentenced him took care of that.

A European critic of America, regarding the nest egg of market profits so considerably guarded by prison authorities, might with considerable justice have pounced upon the Midget as the type case of the soulless American who grubs for money for the sake of money alone.

But now everything is clear. The Midget had a soul, one which was grated by the provincialism of Joliet. He wanted to travel. Having taken his profits he is on his way.

The stupid guards involved in the escape have been fired. We hope the governor will come up in time with the smarter ones, who shared the Midget's conviction that a gold key, or, in an emergency, federal reserve notes, will open any door. But as the days go by that hope becomes fainter and fainter.

OVERNIGHT RAIL SERVICE TO NEW YORK.

The Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads will start Sunday to run their Liberty and Commodore Vanderbilt limiteds to New York in 17 hours and 40 minutes. This is a 40 minute reduction from the present time of the trains.

The change is in itself an important step in the general campaign of the country's railroads to bring their service up to modern conceptions of speed. It is still more important if in it one may see the germ of overnight train service to New York.

By the time reduction, the schedules of the two trains are brought within 40 minutes of those of the two roads' luxury trains, the Broadway and Twentieth Century. They now run to New York in 17 hours and charge excess fare of $7.50.

Forty minutes seems hardly a sufficient return for the excess fare. Unless the roads expect to sell passage on the trains principally on the basis of their luxury service, which hardly seems feasible, their logical next step is the announcement of service on the Broadway and Century leaving Chicago after office hours and landing the business man in New York at the start of the next business day.

STEADY JOBS FOR 56!

[Decatur, Ill., Herald.]

It is a rather surprising fact that 56 steady jobs, now open to applicants in Decatur, have not been claimed. The jobs are in the United States army, which is looking for a few recruits.

For healthy young men without training in any profitable trade there are many worse jobs than the regular army in peace time. The rate of pay is low, but every necessary expense of life is taken care of by the government and thrifty fellows save surprising sums. The usual hazards of life—sickness, unemployment, old age—are checkmated. A soldier has only to behave himself in order to enjoy regular employment all his active life, with the privilege of retiring on a pension when he is old.

Opportunities are given for schooling in many trades and often a chance for travel. That jobs like these should go begging in a time of general unemployment is hard to understand.

RHL "FINDS" WILL ROGERS.

RICHARD HENRY LITTLE, permanent conductor of this column, as long as 24 years ago gave the first reportorial attention to Will Rogers, a newcomer on the stage. Mr. Little, then writing a Vaudeville Gossip column for The Chicago Tribune, to which Frederick Donaghey yesterday called our attention, "found" Rogers at the Majestic theater and in The Tribune of June 13, 1911, said:

"Will Rogers, the Oklahoma cowboy, was one of the most pronounced hits on the program. The accomplished Mr. Rogers not only delights the audience with his amazing dexterity with the lasso but even more with his running fire of small talk.

"The great beauty of Mr. Rogers' conversation is that he never is quite through. He makes a remark and apparently marks a period by doing some trick with the lasso and the part of the audience that sympathizes with his statement applauds madly. Then Mr. Rogers drops another remark that is diametrically opposed to the first statement and starts another section of the audience to great applause. But as this tumult drops down he makes still another comment along the line of the original thought that is a trifle more pertinent than either of the first two and differs widely from both.

"The remarks of Mr. Rogers, when published properly, look something like an extract from the Congressional Record because of the 'applause and 'great laughter' and 'long continued demonstration' that must be scattered through the published text of his discourse.

"For instance, he said while tying six or eight knots in a rope by simply giving it a careless sort of yank: 'This feller down in Oklahoma that I was a-tellin' yo' all about, he got a compliment from Teddy Roosevelt. I tell you he was proud to get a compliment from a man like that because the colonel's compliments counted for something in them days. I wonder what's become of Roosevelt, anyhow. Oh, well, people that you think are out of it have a way of coming back, but not always.'

"The only safe way of listening to the conversation of the accomplished Mr. Rogers is not to laugh or applaud until he has his head in a sack and you can have some real assurance that he is through with his argument."

A week later Little said:

"Wild Will Rogers, the Oklahoma cowboy, was such a hit on last week's bill at the Majestic that he was kept over this week, a most unusual honor and one that is pleasing to the audiences. Wild Bill is just as bashful, that is he seems just as bashful, this week as he was last, and does his patter talk in the same distressed and apologetic manner and gets as much applause or more. His cowboy yell, which he turns loose at the end of his act in place of the customary bow, so captures his audiences that it is feared it will be taken up by other envious stars. If Mary Garden ever sees Will Rogers she is sure to steal what she will regard as a very effective piece of stage business. Mary, giving a wild and ringing yip as an encore to Salome, would be quite diverting."

LINES TO WILL ROGERS.

It seems so strange that Death should seek him out
There in that bleak and barren snow-locked night,
Him, whose whole vibrant life was so attuned
To crowds and laughter, music, flowers and light!
It seems so very odd that Death should come to him
On wings so swift, relentless, so alone,
But that, perhaps, is as he would have had it—
No sadness of farewell, no anguished moan.

Gay valiant soul, so human, so alive,
So deeply understanding, whimsical and true,
So forthright in his every word and action,
As honest as the soil he loved and knew;
With all the world so needing his kind humor,
To think he had to feel the icy breath—
But he was not afraid, of that I'm certain.
He laughed at Life—I'm sure he smiled at Death.

TRIBUTES TO WILL ROGERS AND WILEY Post, mostly verse, received by this department number 226. It is not, of course, possible to publish all of them owing to space limitations. We mention the fact simply to show the love and admiration held by their fellow countrymen for these two Americans.

ON SET WITH WILL ROGERS.

It was the present Wake-Line's privilege while at Hollywood last winter to visit the set on which Will Rogers was appearing in "Life Begins at Forty," then in production.

This visit was by courtesy of Frances Perrett of the Fox studio because Mr. Rogers requested a minimum of visitors. The comedian did not object to visitors as such, but because they delayed production. He liked to hurry through the scenes as rapidly as camera work permitted, dismiss his company, and return to his Santa Monica estate, to and from which he drove in a spiffy green roadster, usually without a chauffeur.

This promptness was only one of many qualities which made him extremely popular with members of his companies with whom he joked and played when the camera was not shooting. At idle moments on the set when he performed tricks with his hat after the manner of W. C. Fields or did stunts with an imaginary lariat he was the same informal, old fashioned, plain spoken Will Rogers as he appeared in the finished production. Members of his cast seemed to regard the picture as a rollicking good time instead of work.

ANOTHER TRIBUTE.

Wake-Line: I happened to be sitting on the porch talking to an elderly lady when the distressing news of Will Rogers' death was told us. The old lady sighed and said, "Well, there goes the fun out of the movies for me." Somehow or other that struck me as just about as eloquent a tribute as could be voiced in a sermon of great length.

A SURPRISE "BIRTHDAY PARTY" WAS given Wednesday night by some of the fellows for one of our co-workers. How much of a surprise it was may be judged from this: One of those giving the dinner dropped into the Tribune Tower barber shop to be freshened up. There was the intended guest of honor also being freshened up. As they parted, the guest of honor said, "Well, good-by; I'll see you at the dinner tonight."

WHY IS DIABETES INCREASING?

We know what brings on the symptoms of diabetes, namely, a deficient secretion of certain cells of the pancreas—but we do not know why these cells degenerate or why they fail to produce a sufficient amount of insulin to oxidize all the sugar that a given individual chooses to consume. It may well be that the production of insulin by a normal pancreas is limited and that demanding too much of these highly specialized cells is the cause of their failure, just as overuse may destroy the power of a muscle.

Although the discovery of insulin has brought about a startling change in the lives of diabetics and has enabled otherwise hopeless invalids to resume normal activity, we are faced with the curious fact that the mortality from diabetes is increasing steadily. In the United States more than 30,000 deaths occur each year, and there are ten to fifteen times that number of cases. Among women past 45 years of age the disease causes more deaths than does tuberculosis.

The death rate from diabetes showed a marked decrease during the world war. In that period there was a nation-wide effort to save food, particularly sugars and fats, and on the whole diets more nearly approached actual body needs. A second drop occurred with the advent of the use of insulin, but this was not maintained and the rate is now steadily mounting.

Another unexplained factor has entered the picture. Whereas diabetes was far more marked in males than in females a number of years ago, the present day rate is reported higher in women than in men. This is true particularly following the change of life.

Our large annual per capita consumption of sugar [93 pounds], especially the between meal use of sweet flavored drinks and foods, undoubtedly plays an important rôle. To this we may add the tendency to use too much food. When we eat carbohydrates to excess we are probably creating a situation which the internal secretion of the pancreas is able to handle for a while, but after a time the gland function is so overworked that diabetes results. Overweight individuals are prone to the disease. This means that these persons have consumed too much food and have stored up surplus fat that should have been burned through work or exercise.

There are many potential diabetics among our overweights—those whose blood sugar is far higher than safety warrants, but who as yet do not show symptoms. Within a few years a fair percentage of these, unless eating habits, exercise, etc., are better regulated, will show sugar in the urine and the beginning symptoms of the disease.

The value of insulin is incalculable. Through its use tens of thousands of lives have been preserved and prolonged with comfort to the patients. We must not forget, however, that in using insulin we are supplying to the blood of the diabetic a secretion that has failed in his own body. Without this artificial supply many sufferers would be hopeless invalids with but a few years of life in prospect.

We have learned how to combat diabetic coma so that it no longer holds the terror that it did a score of years ago. Diabetic children, at one time, condemned to but a year or two of life under starvation conditions, are now—thanks to insulin—taking their places in the ranks of adults. Diabetic gangrene has advanced in its incidence to well past the age of sixty, and because of insulin we can carry the diabetic through severe infections such as pneumonia, influenza, and the like.

Unless we wish diabetes to become a dominant disease we must see to it that weight does not exceed the average for age and height, and that the consumption of carbohydrates shall be rather generally reduced. One may boldly assert that a general reduction in the use of starchy foods would be followed by a comparable drop in the number of cases of diabetes.

IVY POISONING.

J. K. L. writes: Is there danger of ivy poisoning in September?

My vacation does not come until about the middle of September. One of my brothers had a severe attack of ivy poisoning which has bothered him greatly for the last two or three weeks.

REPLY.

The danger of ivy poisoning will not cease entirely until a hard frost has killed the plants.

From reports received I would judge that the number of cases of ivy poisoning this year has exceeded those of the last few years. This is probably due to the more luxuriant growth of vegetation.

Remember the old adage, "Leaflets three, let it be." You can protect the skin by using a 5 per cent solution of ferric chloride in water. You can also secure an excellent description of the plant, with illustrations, by writing the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., for Farmers' Bulletin No. 1156.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

Artificial Respiration.

In a recent issue of the London Lancet there appeared a most important article on artificial respiration and its application by Dr. C. J. Mijnlieff, secretary general of the International Society for Life Saving, Amsterdam. The author makes a very strong case for the practice of the Silvester method and lays down the following principles that should govern the use of any type of mechanical aeration of the lungs:

1. Sufficient ventilation of the lungs must be secured.
2. Absorption of oxygen and excretion of carbon dioxide must be promoted.
3. The nutrition and function of the heart itself must be aided.
4. There must be, as far as possible, no injury to the patient.

He then describes the mechanics of the Silvester method and how to apply it, noting, however, that should there be a fracture of one or both arms the method cannot be used. From the experimental standpoint Dr. Mijnlieff is able to present a good case for preferring the method of Silvester to that of Schäfer.

Commenting editorially, the Lancet says:

"Of the many manual methods available the two most popular are those of Silvester and Schäfer. Experimental work by various investigators shows that Silvester's method gives better ventilation of the lungs than those of Howard and Schäfer."

The editor quotes Herder to the effect that artificial respiration is required in three conditions: [1] asphyxia from drowning, and in this situation "Schäfer's method is probably the most useful"; [2] asphyxia from poisonous gases; "here the methods of Silvester or Jellinek might be used with advantage"; [3] syncope [fainting] or collapse in which there is some interference with the respiratory centers of the brain; "here the method which will probably give the best result is Silvester's."

PROPERTY SALE.

Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Property is sold at auction to settle an estate of minor children. Only one bidder appeared and it was sold to her. I refused to take the bid and also refused to take any money down as it did not settle the mortgage on the property. 2. Can they force me to sign the deed as three-fourths of the property belongs to me and one-fourth to the estate? I was appointed by the court to settle the estate. 3. If I am forced to sign this deed can they come back to me for the balance of mortgage unpaid, as I had to sign the mortgage papers? 4. Will the children that are of age have to sign the deed to give clear title? I signed bill of sale and [5] had a hearing before the judge, and he decided it a fair sale, although I did not accept the bid, and told him so on the bill of sale. 6. Can the ones that hold the mortgage carry it to a higher court, and who pays for the trial? E. E. G.

1. You do not state whether the sale is held in connection with court proceedings or is merely a private sale, and if the latter, whether you consented.
2. Not on the bare facts stated.
3. The mere fact that you joined in a conveyance of the property would not relieve you from liability on mortgage notes which you had signed.
4. Yes, unless there has been court proceedings such as to authorize conveyance by a court official.
5. This seems to imply that the sale is in connection with partition or foreclosure and in such case you would not be in a position to resist.
6. We cannot advise to advantage without having the facts before us.

NO POLICE EXAMINATION NOW.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—[Friend of the People.]—I would appreciate any information on coming policemen's examination. What are the age and physical requirements? Please enter my name on the list for the next examination. S. K.

As we have a large eligible list for patrolmen another examination is not contemplated for some time. However, we will be glad to place the writer's name on our mailing list for notification of same when called.

The age limits are 21 to 28 years. The minimum height required is 5 feet 9 inches, and the minimum weight 145 pounds.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

Many people have claimed that they could predict weather without fail merely by the feelings in their joints and muscles. Recently a number of these "dead sure" weather prophets were invited to medical clinics for experimentation. It was found that changes in barometric pressure, temperature, and humidity of the air produced definite changes in the blood pressure of the people. They failed to find, however, any degree of accuracy in the weather predicting of this group, who disagreed among themselves in many cases regarding their predictions.

MEMORANDUM.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—It might be well to remind Roosevelt & Co. that it is the capitalist who pays most of their salaries and that the masses pay very little of it.

To sound the tocsin "soak the rich" and trade on the susceptibilities of the weaker minded in order to get their votes is about as small as anything one can conceive of.

So long as the earth turns on its axis there will be leaders and followers, masters and men. We are not all cut out for executives or white collared jobs, but the masses will be happier and financially better off when they realize that so-called capitalists are not devils with horns and long tails, roaming around seeking whom they may devour, and that capital is represented by thousands of stockholders, large and small. Only by the ingenuity of the heads of big organizations, their ability to lead and create, can the stockholders hope to benefit by their investments and, like the corner grocery, bakery, etc., they must make a fair profit in order to stay in business.

One thing the masses must make up their minds to, whether they like it or not: We shall never get back to normal times on the wings of the dole or through artificial stimulation such as the WPA, etc., and may God protect us from another experience such as we had during the war with government operated railroads and what not.

May the masses do a little thinking for themselves before the next election and not let the professional agitator think for them and stampede them into doing something they will regret all their lives. Employment for the unemployed at their regular occupations at normal wages is the only solution, and this will never be accomplished by the "soak the rich" confiscatory policies now rife at Washington.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

WORLD MARKETS.

West Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 16.—In THE TRIBUNE of Aug. 16 your cartoonist, Mr. Orr, under the heading "What We Really Plowed Under," has a cartoon which, if I understand correctly, seeks to convey the impression that the Agricultural Adjustment act is responsible for the destruction of world markets for American farm products.

Would you be kind enough to make a clear and honest explanation to a very plain citizen of Indiana just how the AAA destroyed the world market for farm products of American farms?

CHARLES NITCHER.

SECURITY.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—The hypocrisy of President Roosevelt's speech when he signed the misnamed security bill can only be fully appreciated by the more than two million workers whose future security he destroyed by insisting that the Clark amendment be eliminated. The Clark amendment would permit private pensions to continue to function, but the great I Am said no, so nothing can be done except to get our relatives and friends together and vote Mr. Roosevelt back to private life.

Beware of a person who is always smiling.

R. S.

FLOODED BASEMENTS.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Dr. Bundesen, through the press, advises that owing to the recent heavy rains poison ivy is abundant in Cook county. May we call your attention to the fact that also owing to the recent rains the basements of homes in the Seventh ward are filled with the sewage from the backing up of these sewers after every shower, and would you have the goodness to ask the doctor, as well as the city administration heads, what they are doing or have done to relieve this situation?

JOHN A. BROWN.

BIRTH CONTROL FOR LAWYERS.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—"Disgusted Practitioner" in your column today bewails the fact that 365 applicants were successful in the recent Illinois bar examinations at a time when the bar is already overcrowded, and appeals to the bar examiners to do something about it.

Although I agree with the complainant that the bar is overcrowded, I disagree with his apparent notion that bar examiners are to blame for the congestion or can possibly do anything to prevent further suffocation in the ranks. Lord knows the examiners have done their best in reply to similar appeals.

For proof of this I refer doubters to the new rules restricting the number of examinations an unsuccessful candidate for the bar may take to three, two less than he was formerly entitled to. I likewise refer them to the examinations themselves, particularly those of the last few years. A mere perusal of them will disclose that the examiners have not been lax in affording what relief they possibly could. The very nature of these quizzes is enough to discourage even an old practiced hand, let alone an inexperienced law graduate.

"Disgusted Practitioner," I believe, is approaching the problem from the wrong angle. Locking the jail after the culprit's escape, so to speak. Why should he wish to impose additional hardships on a group of law graduates, many of whom were obliged to work their way through school, when the whole matter could be settled before the prospect even undertook the study of the law? In other words, since we know that the profession is already overcrowded, why should we allow a law student to become one in the first place?

DIFFERENT OPINION.

STATISTICS OF UNCONSTITUTIONALITY.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 18.—Since the beginning of our nation there have been 60 congresses which were either completely Democratic or Republican, and of which 33 were Democratic and 27 Republican. These congresses guessed wrong 62 times on the constitutionality of measures they passed, but the startling fact is that the Republicans passed 42 of these acts which the Supreme court declared unconstitutional and the Democrats passed only 20 of such acts.

It seems, therefore, that the Republicans are more than twice as unconstitutional as the Democrats and will have a hard time posing as the saviors of the constitution.

During President Lincoln's Republican administration seven acts were passed that were declared unconstitutional. During Theodore Roosevelt's administration six laws were passed which were declared unconstitutional, while under President Grant's administration there were ten unconstitutional acts.

We know that the Republicans are hard up for an issue to beat the best friend the common folks ever had in the White House, but they had better beware of the constitutional issue. It's loaded.

A. G. MCKNIGHT.

ALWAYS ROOM AT THE TOP.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—As a member of the group of persons who recently passed the July state bar examination I wish to take exception to the article in this column signed "Disgusted Practitioner."

His complaint is no doubt similar to the complaint of many lawyers at the time he himself was admitted to practice, since the cry "Too many lawyers" is the age-old cry of incompetents who fear that they cannot hold their own against the newly admitted but better trained law students. NUN IMPRISONED FOR DESTRUCTION OF NAZI POSTERS

Gets 3 Months; Ripped Off Anti-Catholic Signs.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Gertrude Trullier, a nun of a convent in Pfaffendorf, was sentenced in Coblenz today to three months in prison for tearing off anti-Catholic posters issued by the government and posted on the walls of a Catholic convent.

The janitor who helped the elderly nun was sentenced to five months in prison. The prosecutor remarked that "exemplary punishment is necessary to warn others in the Coblenz district," which is strongly Catholic.

Instead of dissolving the Association of Catholic Young Men openly, authorities are beginning to resort to new methods. Lists are circulated in big factories and workers are ordered to inscribe thereon the nonpolitical associations to which they and their children belong.

Threatened with Dismissal.

Many of them are threatened with dismissal unless they immediately withdraw their children from Catholic and other religious associations and also resign themselves.

Waves of religious indignation are running highest in the Protestant camp following an incident, revealed today, at Erlangen. There is located an old church which was founded by French Protestant refugees. When the steeple was repaired recently, workers found a bottle containing old documents which had been carefully sealed in 1859.

The authorities removed the documents and replaced them with copies of Julius Streicher's Fraenkischer Tageszeitung and his Stuermer, regarded as one of the most perfect examples of political pornography in existence. The Fraenkischer Tageszeitung proudly reported the event.

A consolidation loan of 250,000,000, paying 4½ per cent interest at an issue of 97½ for eight years, will be issued by the Reichsbank soon, financial authorities said today. They declare that banks and savings banks will have to shoulder the loan and that only a small part of it will be offered publicly.

"Perfect Nazi" Falls from Grace.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Juergen Ohlsen, famed throughout Germany as a perfect specimen of Nordic Hitler youth, has fallen from grace with the Nazis and his early exclusion from the Hitler youth movement appears imminent, all because he plays tennis with a Jewish boy.

Ohlsen in 1933 was selected from hundreds of candidates to play the leading rôle in a film entitled "The Hitler Lad Quex." The film was shown in virtually every city and town in Germany and Ohlsen was considered the perfect young Nazi.

The Catholic bishops' meeting at Fulda closed today as secretly as they started Tuesday. The belief prevailed, however, that the bishops had decided to attempt to reach a new agreement with the government and ask a redefining of the church's status.

The careful effort to avoid fresh clashes with the Nazis, which strongly marked the bishops' meeting, was intensified because of an incident which happened Tuesday night.

The papal yellow and white flag was torn from its mast in front of the cathedral.

Authorities, meanwhile, announced today the holding of the first "Jewless" cattle market at Fulda.

Huge placards announcing continuation of the radio exposition and attacking foreign correspondents and foreign broadcasting stations were posted about the city today.

"In their fertile imagination they have seen the entire radio fair aflame," the posters said, referring to reports of Monday night's fire, which destroyed hall No. 4 and historic exhibits.

Third Fire Occurs.

The third devastating fire in a series of German catastrophes in the last four days today destroyed a pasteboard box factory at Nuremberg causing damage of $120,000. Five firemen were injured. Thirty-four persons are believed still entombed as a result of the Berlin subway cave-in Tuesday. No bodies have been found.

Visitors to the International Penal congress were told tonight by his lawyer that Ernst Thaelmann, former communist candidate for president of Germany, will be tried in October on charges which still are kept a close secret. Thaelmann has been in jail since July 1, 1933.

Six Held as Gang of Country Club Bandits

Awaiting Showup

Six men, arrested in a series of raids by county highway and state's attorney's police during the last week, were held last night as members of the gang accused of robbing a score of country clubs in the Chicago area. Over the week-end they will be viewed by dozens of victims of the robberies.

With the arrest of Frank Chimento, 19 years old, and Rocco Prano, 18, at the Chelsea hotel, 920 Wilson avenue, yesterday morning the roundup of the gang was virtually completed. Confronted by other members of the gang previously arrested, Chimento and Prano confessed to a number of country club robberies. A seventh member of the gang is known to police.

The others in custody are George Bougadis, 21 years old; Mike Derrico, 30; Mike Moreno, 28, and John Provenzano, 27. Two sawed off shotguns, a number of revolvers, and equipment for opening safes were found in a garage in the rear of Prano's home at 158 North 20th avenue, Melrose Park.

POLICE HOLD 2 AS SUSPECTS IN OVER 300 CRIMES

Two members of a gang through whose confessions police believe that more than three hundred robberies and auto thefts will be solved were in custody yesterday. The leader, Wilbur [Mickey] Williams, 23 years old, 3567 Medill avenue, was arrested early in the day and readily admitted a long series of crimes, boasting that he had committed more than fifty in one night.

The other prisoner is Anthony Fernandez, 19 years old, 2201 North Lawndale avenue, who was arrested early Saturday after a gun battle with police when the stolen car in which he was riding crashed into a light pole near North Central avenue and Diversey boulevard. He named Williams and James Mika, 19 years old, as his accomplices. Mika has not been apprehended.

Williams was seized as he entered the Wrightford garage, 2601 North Crawford avenue, with Mrs. Rose Mazzanaro, 49 years old, 3625 Fullerton avenue.

Two other youths, Gustav Mazzanaro, son of Mrs. Mazzanaro, and Edward Owczarski, 3544 Medill avenue, were held for questioning.

Mrs. Mazzanaro was released, police declaring they did not believe she had aided in the robberies, but merely had been a casual companion of Williams.

VIENNA PAPER OPENS ATTACK ON JEWISH INFLUENCE IN AUSTRIA

VIENNA, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The newspaper Deutsches Volksblatt made a slashing attack on Jewish influence in Austria today under the banner line: "Is There a Jewish Problem in Austria?" It appeared to be the start of a vigorous campaign.

The Volksblatt devoted two pages to what it called the "Jewification" of the country, asserting that, though Jews represent only 5 per cent of the population, 2,500 of the 3,100 physicians and surgeons are of that race while similar large percentages are found in banks, newspapers, schools, and universities.

"There is a Jewish problem in Austria arising out of the instinct of self-preservation of a German Christian people in a Christian German corporative state," the newspaper said.

Future issues, an announcement said, will suggest "how the Christianization of Vienna and Austria can and must be carried out within the framework of the constitution."

KENNETT SLAYER BOASTS HE HAS KILLED 25 MEN

Names Some of Victims; Police Hunt Bodies.

Auburn, Cal., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Earl ("Bud") Kimball boasted in his jail cell here tonight that he had killed 25 men, and officers who a short time before had recovered the body of one of his alleged victims said they were planning an extensive investigation.

The 21 year old itinerant prospector made his boast after searchers had discovered the body of James C. Kennett, 55, retired Chicago business man, in an abandoned Sierra Nevada shaft.

Kimball, also known as Cramer, who, officers said, confessed to slaying Kennett and an unidentified red haired boy, whose body was found several days ago in another shaft, made his boast in a calm, straightforward manner.

Might Solve Mysteries.

Sheriff's deputies said the story of 25 killings sounded strange.

Kimball, naming five other asserted victims, said one of them was J. J. [Radium] Johnson, a prospector supposedly missing in the hills.

He said he shot Johnson six weeks ago after a quarrel over food, burying his body beside a creek. Officers said he supplied directions for locating the body.

Another victim he named as Fred Realing, or Fred Griling, a caretaker of a mining camp. He also told reporters where the body could be found.

Still another victim was only identified as "Brown," and he described one as a tall CCC worker named Eddie.

The last asserted victim of the grotesque story of the prisoner was described as Jefferson Baughman, who police said was shot to death mysteriously on Dec. 5, 1933.

No Direct Verification.

No direct verification of any one of Kimball's gruesome tales was possible tonight, police said. The scene of each lies miles from here back in a remote mountain country.

Kimball's purported confession came after circumstantial evidence in the form of forged checks, stolen clothes, and letters pointed suspiciously at him.

Sheriff Elmer H. Gum said Kimball reported he met Kennett, who was in the mountains for his health, at Roseville, some 15 miles east of here, and they decided to camp together.

Kimball said he and Kennett quarreled over supplies.

"He had a butcher knife," his confession was reported to have said. "One word led to another. He struck at me. I had my .22 rifle and shot him in the head twice. I hit him in the head with an ax. I dragged him down to the lower shaft and threw him in."

Forges Indorsements.

Afterward he said he received two checks totaling $40, made out to Kennett, forged the indorsements, ordered Kennett's mail forwarded to Auburn, and took his clothes.

Several days passed and Kimball met a red headed boy on a freight train and took him into the camp.

"One morning this kid took my rifle," said the confession, "and ran into the woods. I chased the son of a gun. He turned the gun on me. He took and rode me around awhile, shot a couple of times at some stumps and then took me back to the cabin.

"I asked him for a cigaret and when he turned around I took my knife out and struck him twice and then I shot him twice."

ASHES TO BE SENT HERE.

The body of James C. Kennett Sr. will be cremated and the ashes sent here for burial, his former wife, Mrs. Emma C. Kennett, 6431 Sheridan road, said last night.

4 MILLION IN 7 YEARS PLEDGED 3 FILM CHIEFS

Salary Figures Shown in Fox Merger.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Contracts under which three executives of the Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation would receive a total of substantially more than $4,000,000 in seven years were disclosed today in the company's application for registration on the stock exchange. The merger of the two big picture units received court approval today.

Annual compensation for Sidney R. Kent as president would be $215,400, including money for entertaining and a guaranty of his salary as president of the National Theaters corporation, plus stock options; Darryl F. Zanuck, as head of production, would receive $260,000 a year, plus travel expenses; Joseph M. Schenck, as executive head of production, would receive $130,000 a year, plus expenses, and would be permitted to serve other companies.

Special Payments for Kent.

Kent's contract also provides for a special payment of $75,000 on Nov. 1, 1935. He would receive a salary of $2,500 a week, a payment of $50,000 on Dec. 31 of each year, an allowance of $200 a week to cover moneys expended on the interests of the business of the corporation, for entertainment, etc., and if he should not receive his present salary of $25,000 from National Theaters, Twentieth Century-Fox will pay him the difference between that amount and what he receives from National.

In addition, Kent would have the right to purchase annually 10,000 shares of common stock at the average price of all shares sold on the stock exchange during the first 90 days after listing, but not less than $10 a share, until he has received 60,000 shares.

Schenck would be paid $2,500 a week, plus "reasonable traveling and living expenses while away from home in connection with his employment."

Other Contract Provisions.

Zanuck will receive $5,000 a week, plus "reasonable traveling and living expenses while away from home in connection with his employment." In case of illness or disability of more than two months salary will be suspended.

Chicago Seeks Session

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Chicago will make its bid today at the convention of the national Young Democratic clubs, in session at Milwaukee, to secure the 1937 convention for that city. Miss Helen Silhanek, representing Mayor Edward J. Kelly, will issue Chicago's invitation.

Both Chicago and Illinois have large delegations at the meetings, among whom are: Eleanor Garm Russler, Illinois national committtman; Charles Nowlan, national committeeman; Ralph O'Farrell, president of the Cook County club; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kerner Jr.; Henry Appel, and Mr. and Mrs. David Shipman.

The national committee of the organization today passed resolutions indorsing the acts of President Roosevelt and the New Deal program.

The clubs outlined plans for giving support to the campaign of the President for reëlection. The President will address the convention from Washington Saturday night in a nation-wide broadcast.

DENTIST IN HURRY BUMPS INTO NEW KIND OF DISORDER

Dr. Richard Feeman, 26 years old, a dentist of 5852 Sheridan road, was charged with disorderly conduct yesterday because he was in a hurry. Coming down the stairs of the elevated station at West 63d and South Halsted streets, he bumped into Daniel Bain, 3514 Lowe avenue. The impact knocked Bain backward and through the plate glass window of a cigar store at 6321 South Halsted street.

James J. Farrell, owner of the store, signed disorderly conduct complaints against both the dentist and Bain and the two will be arraigned in the Stockyards court today.

Oak Park Police to Test New Radio System Today

Oak Park police will start testing their new two-way radio system today. Permission was received yesterday from the federal communications commission to start operation on the same wave length as that of the Chicago police radio, with the provision that the Oak Park station's broadcasts must not interfere with those of the Chicago station. Vernon Watson, the Oak Park engineer, said the station would go on the air only when the Chicago station was silent. Frank Rafferty, Chicago police radio engineer, said last night if there is any interference with Chicago broadcasts he will file a protest with the federal radio commission.

SPEAKERS AVOID BACKING HORNER FOR RACE IN 1936

Kelly, Nash Absent; Others Talk on Roosevelt.

er than yesterday. That was listed merely as Chicago day, although it received no official attention from the metropolis.

Today's program, directed at a grand stand, where an overflow crowd had been made certain by the dropping of the admission charge, went smoothly. Some of Gov. Horner's friends regretted, however, that he had been put in last place on the speakers' list. His fifty minute speech dragged over for about twenty minutes into the usual time for the harness races.

Speech Interrupted Again.

That resulted in disturbances considered almost as disconcerting as the prolonged applause of National Guardsmen at Camp Grant last week when Gov. Horner was introduced to make a speech between boxing bouts. One of those present at Rockford said today that, although it was silenced twice, the applause blocked the governor's speech for seventeen minutes.

During his speech today the first interruption from external causes came when some harness horses started warming up at the north end of the track. That end of the grand stand applauded and the governor hardly could be heard. This occurred several times and toward the close of his speech the governor said that if the crowd would be quiet for six minutes everybody could watch the races after that time.

Ready to Lead in 1936.

Then came the only announcement of the day.

"I should not remain silent," said the governor, "when my friends expect me to speak. Because of the openly expressed desire manifested by the indorsements and requests throughout the state, I am encouraged to say here I am ready to lead the fight for you in Illinois in 1936."

With the completion of that awaited statement, the faithful broke into applause. A band struck up "The Governor's March." Then, apparently thinking that the speech was over, a second band on the platform inside the track started a tune that ran on and on.

The governor attempted to obtain quiet. The music ceased and he closed with a prediction that efforts to take Illinois from "the Roosevelt column" will be in vain.

Horner Defends President.

Almost the entire first half of Gov. Horner's speech was a defense of the Roosevelt administration. Almost all the rest of it was a defense of the sales tax. One statement was that if it becomes practical to reduce the 3 cent tax before the next regular session he will call a special session to enact the cut. It was recalled that his original demand was for a 3 cent tax for two years, but Mayor Kelly caused a reduction of that period to eighteen months.

The Horner indorsement of the Roosevelt policies was unqualified.

"The New Deal already has done wonders," he said. "It will do more."

One of the other speakers, District Attorney Doyle, stressed the recent complete coöperation between Washington and Springfield.

"His [Horner's] every act," Doyle said, "has been in direct and complete harmony with the desires and wishes of the President."

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Sleepy Welcome.

August 22, 1935.

THE workers on THE TRIBUNE Yorkville Experimental farm were reminded this week of their childhood days when they used to get up before daylight to watch the circus unload. They had to pile out of bed before daylight and hurry to the Plano railroad yards to unload the latest shipment of cattle before breakfast. In this case, however, there was no standing around to watch the animals emerge from railroad cars. On the contrary, everybody was mighty busy getting forty-two Hereford steers from their side door Pullman into the yards at Plano. When these western Herefords were unloaded the next job was to get them to the farm, where they now are becoming acquainted with their new pasture. The animals are grazing in a pasture just across the road from Clarence Thurow's house.

After anxiously watching the skies and hoping for no more rain, and scanning reports from the weather man, the threshing crew finally got under way. All of the workers want clear, sunshiny weather to dry the shocks of oats and enable the entire program of harvesting to go ahead.

The heavy rains early in the week upset the program of cutting alfalfa at the Wheaton farm. I was in the field yesterday. The cut hay was beginning to dry out nicely, but it was necessary to turn it over to get it thoroughly dry. The alfalfa that had not been cut was bright and colorful, because every plant was full of tiny, purplish-blue flowers.

There is a big crop of apples on the farm this year. I walked through two small orchards yesterday when I was on the farm and noticed how trees bearing early harvest apples and sweet crabs were loaded with fruit. Deciding to sample one of the light colored harvest apples, I soon learned how not to pick one or shake one from a branch. It's all very well to fix your eyes on a certain apple and then shake the branch expecting that particular one to come down so you can catch it. But in this case a second apple that I wasn't watching came down, kerplunk! and hit me between the eyes. After this "bombing" I gave it up as a bad job.

A continuous drive against poison ivy has been made on the farm with the result that you have a hard time finding this pest among plants out here. Nevertheless, yesterday when Eddie and I were making a check on shrubs and vegetation along the roads we found a big climbing poison ivy plant outside of the fence line and next to a gravel road. It was one of the largest "climbers" I have ever seen. This particular plant had a stem more than an inch in diameter, and we traced the growth of it more than 25 feet high in an elm tree. Supporting this large plant were scores of smaller ones about 12 inches high along the road. But their days are numbered. Eddie is going to swing "the steel" on these.

Between 100 and 200 visitors come to the farm nearly every Sunday, according to the records now being kept. On weekdays it is not unusual to have twenty-five to thirty visitors come out to look at the experimental plots and other interesting features.

His Hair Roots are NOT Dead

Hair roots are a part of the human body and do not "die" as long as the body itself lives. They become inactive when (1) they are attacked by some local scalp disorder (such as dandruff) or (2) when they have not received sufficient nourishment. Hair roots are alive, even in a bald scalp and are ready to respond to proper stimulative treatment.

Seventeen years ago Paul A. Thomas discovered the proper method of stimulating the dormant sources of hair growth. His method has been improved each year and today is as near perfect as any scalp treatment can be. First, Thomas treatment overcomes all local scalp infections, stops scalp itch and abnormal hair fall. It then stimulates the tiny glands in the scalp which nourish the hair. Thus, "sleeping hair" obtains sufficient strength to grow again and become visible on the scalp.

Come in today and learn how Thomas can help you to have a good, healthy head of hair. Thomas never makes a charge for consultation or complete scalp examination. All service is rendered in private.

EXHIBIT THREE OF FASTEST WAR PLANES IN WORLD

Manufacturers Show Their Latest in Bombers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wright Field, O., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Three of the world's fastest and newest bombardment airplanes, representing the latest achievements in aeronautical engineering, were on the flying line here today at the opening of the army air corps competition for a new type of offensive plane capable of superspeeds and extraordinary load carrying capacity. The manufacturer whose ship wins approval of the army's engineers is to receive a contract for a large number of identical machines.

Prices of Planes Not Revealed.

The first act in the competition was the opening of sealed bids submitted by each of the three aircraft manufacturers, the Boeing Aircraft company of Seattle, Wash.; Glen L. Martin of Baltimore, Md., and Donald Douglass of Santa Monica, Cal., who entered the contest. The prices of the airplanes entered by each were not revealed, being sent to Washington where they are to be considered by a board of officers, as yet unnamed, who are to meet in September.

Then the three airplanes were taken to the flight test section hangars where they will be carefully inspected, weighed, and subjected to certain static load tests and torsional load tests during the next few days. It is considered unlikely by officers at the field that flight tests will begin this week.

Impressive Engines of War.

Although all three airplanes are impressive engines of war, the gleaming bulk of the Boeing 229 overshadowed its rival. This monster airplane is a midwing monoplane with four 750 horse power Hornet motors faired into the leading edge of the wing, which has a 104 foot span. The fuselage, seemingly slim and perfectly rounded save for bulbous gun turrets above, below, and on each side behind the wing, is 75 feet long.

Its gross weight is said to be 30,000 pounds, of which from 3,500 to 4,000 pounds will be composed of armament bombs, machine guns and ammunition, and nearly 10,000 pounds in fuel and oil, and the crew. These figures are estimates gathered from conversations with company representatives and are entirely unofficial, but if approximately true the 299 is one of the world's most efficient land airplanes.

The performance of the ship on Tuesday, when it sped in 9 hours 15 minutes from Seattle to Wright field, following a 2,100 mile route at an average ground speed of 233 miles an hour, is positive proof that these claims are not unfounded. When Les Tower, the Boeing company test pilot, stepped out of the ship that night he said the tanks held enough gas to enable him to fly to New York City, 750 miles further.

Tanks Hold 10,800 Lbs. of Fuel.

Gasoline weighs 6 pounds per gallon, and on the basis of Tower's statements the ship's tanks hold at least 10,800 pounds of the fuel. This coupled with the armament load, oil, and the crew brings the total useful load of the plane up to at least 14,000 pounds. This figure is 46 per cent of the total gross weight so that the airplane has a useful load, empty weight ratio of 46:54.

Such ratios have never hitherto been achieved in land airplanes. Only in the giant seaplanes of Igor Sikorsky have equivalent loadings been reached. The Boeing 247D, the commercial bi-motored transport manufactured by the same company that built the 299, has a useful load, empty weight ratio of only 34:66, its gross weight being 13,650 and the useful load, 4,710 pounds. The Douglas DC-2 transport has a similar load-weight ratio of 33:67, gross weight 17,500 pounds and useful load 5,720 pounds.

The Douglas bomber was being exhibited for the first time, its existence hitherto have been kept secret. Like the Boeing bomber it is constructed entirely of 24 S. T. all clad, duraluminum plates sandwiched between thin layers of pure aluminum. In general outline it is much like the Douglas commercial transports, being a low monoplane with a motor faired into each wing.

The Douglas bomber differs from its prototype, the transport, by having a deep "belly" in which are enclosed racks for carrying 2,000 pounds of bombs. The motors of the bombers are of 800 horsepower each, being an improved version of the 715 horsepower Wright Cyclones installed in the transport.

The D. B.-1 looks very fast. The lines of the fuselage, which is 65 feet long, taper beautifully into the wings which have a span of at least 90 feet. The airplane is said to weigh at least 13,000 pounds empty and 22,000 pounds with full load, a ratio between empty weight and useful load being thus 40:60. Top speed is estimated at 220 miles an hour.

Glen Martin's entry is merely an improved model of the Martin B-10 and B-12 bi-motored monoplanes now in service with the air corps. Lines are identical. The new bomber is 76 feet long, while the old was 70 feet 6 inches. The new fuselage is 47 feet long, while the old was 44 feet 8 inches. The new cyclone motors are 800 horsepower each, while the old were 735.

Top Speed of 250 Miles an Hour.

Although the changes apparently are slight, nevertheless the Martin engineers say the new ship has a top speed of approximately 250 miles an hour and can carry a useful load of four tons. The B-10 and B-12 carried a useful load of three and a quarter tons, having an extreme range of 1,000 miles at 200 miles an hour. The new Martin has an estimated range of 1,600 miles at that speed.

Every one of these three is equipped with constant speed propellers, automatic mixture controls, radio, a radio compass, an automatic pilot, and flaps. The 299 is said to land at 45 miles an hour and stop, with the use of air brakes on its two landing wheels, in less space than used by commercial transports. The Martin uses its flaps to increase the lift at take-off, as well as during landing.

WPA PROGRAM SPEEDED UP AS STRIKE FIZZLES

2,400 More Men on Jobs Today; Shorter Hours.

With the strike of 300 laborers on a federal Works Progress administration project ending in a complete fizzle yesterday, WPA officials laid plans for speeding up their program in Illinois. This morning 2,400 more workers will start on various projects, making a total of 5,600 persons on the WPA pay roll thus far in this state.

The strike, started Wednesday by communist agitators, was broken up after the men assembled at the project on the banks of the Little Calumet river at 137th and Halsted streets. H. M. McCullen, WPA director of the 2d district, mounted a picnic table and beat the strike leaders to the first speceh.

Concession in Hours.

McCullen relayed the orders of Ralph H. Burke, deputy WPA administrator for Illinois, issued Wednesday night, to the effect that the men would receive no federal relief funds if they refused WPA jobs, but that they would work on the basis of 130 hours a month instead of 140 as under the first arrangement.

Demands of the men for wages of 82½ cents an hour—roughly twice their pay at the WPA scale of $55 a month for common labor—as well as for free transportation and weekly instead of bi-weekly pay checks, were refused. McCullen told the men to go back to work.

Work Drowns Out Agitator.

When he had concluded Raymond Sarocco, leader of the group of agitators, mounted the table and started to speak. But a former striker had started a tractor nearby and Sarocco's words were unrecorded. The men drifted away from the scene, picked up their shovels and started again to remove topsoil from the forest preserve tract.

The project calls for the spreading of spoilage from deepening and widening operations in the Little Calumet river over the skinned area and the replacing of the topsoil.

Lieut. Make Mills, head of the police industrial squad, yesterday identified Sarocco, who lives at 120 West 116th street, as a communist organizer. He writes for Unita Operaia, radical New York paper, Mills said.

Move to Prevent Spread.

Steps were taken by WPA officials to prevent a spread of the agitation to other projects. The 130 hour month will be in force generally throughout the state, it was announced.

A new Chicago project upon which 200 men will go to work under WPA today will be the diversion of a golf course in Riis park, on the northwest side, into a recreational area. An athletic field and swimming pool will be built and the grounds planted to trees and shrubbery.

The Illinois WPA office submitted details of 28 projects calling for federal funds of $3,073,019 to Washington for approval during the day. The projects will furnish employment for approximtely 4,600 men and women.

The largest project, sponsored by the Chicago police department and requesting $1,484,692, would employ 2,044 men as crossing guards in 39 police districts. The proposal has been indorsed by the Chicago Motor club, parent-teacher associations, and civic organizations.

Ask Textbook Repair Funds.

Another project proposed by the Chicago board of education would require $88,473, plus local funds of $9,855, to repair a million textbooks that otherwise would go into disuse. The employment will be for 106 men and women.

Relief officials meanwhile prepared for a sharp curtailment of federal funds as the WPA program gains momentum. Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois emergency relief commission, announced that work relief projects would be stopped in 53 counties on Aug. 31.

As IERC projects in 43 rural counties were halted several weeks ago, work relief will continue after Aug. 31 in only six counties of the state—Cook, Macon, Peoria, St. Clair, Sangamon, and Winnebago. It was estimated that more than 30,000 relief clients would be affected by the discontinuance order.

Robbers Beat 2; Take Half of Tavern Owner's $800

Three armed men invaded the Belmont Gardens tavern at 3985 Belmont avenue yesterday, beat Max Ballin, the owner, and Fred Petrik, bartender, with revolvers, and escaped with $400. Ballin's wife had just brought $800 from the bank, and the gunmen followed her into the tavern. Ballin and Petrik resisted the holdup attempt. In the scuffle Ballin dropped $400 of the money, and managed to kick it aside unnoticed.

HAPPY REUNION

EDMOND MARCELLIS.

Edmond Marcellis, 13 years old, whose parents had given him up for dead since his disappearance on Aug. 9, appeared yesterday at his home, 7306 Stewart avenue, and tossed $1.75 on the table in front of his mother, Mrs. Alphonse Marcellis.

The boy, tanned and healthy, but weary, then said:

"You scolded me because I never earned any money. Well, I decided to earn some. Here it is."

When Edmond vanished from his home his white Spitz dog Snowball also disappeared. Three days later Snowball came home. The Marcellis family feared Edmond had met with a fatal accident or the dog would not have left him.

Edmond's story explained it. The first night, he told Englewood police, he slept on the lake front. The next day he began walking south. In the course of his travels he "hitched" rides and Snowball lost him. On the third day he met three other boys and the four of them got jobs pitching hay on a farm near Joliet at 25 cents a day.

"I just wanted to work long enough to show my folks that I would work if I could find something to do," said the boy.

"We weren't serious in what we told Edmond," the boy's parents told Sergt. John O'Halloran.

Former Convict Ordered Held in Death of Widow

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that John Tahor, 41 years old, ex-convict, be held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Bridget Galvin, 62 years old, a widow, who was found beaten to death in her room at 626 East 35th street Tuesday night. Tahor lived at the same address. A witness testified that she saw Tahor, who she said was intoxicated, in the widow's room before the body was found and that he refused to allow her to enter. Tahor insisted the women incurred her injuries by falling from the bed.

FEDERAL CHECKS HALT DISPUTES OF NEW YORKERS

Ohio Labor Attacks Pay Scale on WPA Jobs.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—As the WPA began distribution of $1,209,000 in an effort to alleviate the distress of 93,000 persons employed on its projects, their pay checks have been held up because of the shift from local to federal control.

Superintendent of Schools Harold G. Campbell announced today that fifty-nine relief teachers, who deserted their charges to take part in yesterday's demonstration of WPA white collar workers, had been dismissed.

Delayed Checks Cause Parade.

The demonstration was caused, in part, by the delay in distribution of WPA pay checks. Between 500 and 1,000 men and women stopped work for three hours yesterday. They marched to the New York Port Authority building. There Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, WPA director, has offices. The teachers, discharged today, were in that parade.

These men and women were employed on the summer play school project of the WPA. Daily, they take public school children to the parks, supervise their play and escort them back to their homes.

In directing George H. Chatfield, director of the bureau of attendance and child welfare of the department of education, to drop the teachers from the pay rolls, Dr. Campbell asserted that "we don't want such people taking care of our children."

Ohio Labor Makes Protest.

Columbus, O., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—A resolution asserting that payment of less than the prevailing union wage for public works will result in destruction of all wage scales now in existence was adopted today by the Ohio Federation of Labor in convention here.

The federation unanimously voted to support the strikes in the building trades now in effect against the WPA in New York state and to lend aid if further strikes should be necessary.

Blame Temporary Insanity for Death Leap Under "L"

A coroner's jury yesterday decided that Mrs. Catherine Peabody, 35 years old, 1448 Argyle street, who leaped to her death Wednesday beneath an Evanston elevated express train at the Belmont avenue station, committed suicide while temporarily insane. At the inquest her husband, William, a motorman for the Rapid Transit lines, testified they had been married seven years, but separated a week ago because of domestic difficulties. The husband said he had talked with his wife Wednesday.

98 YEARS OLD

MRS. PHELINA WARNER.

Mrs. Phelina Warner, one of the earliest settlers in northern Illinois, celebrated her 98th birthday last night at a party in the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Burnett D. Warner, 5341 Glenwood avenue. A cake with 98 lighted candles was prepared for the occasion. Her two other children, Mrs. Blanche Lewis and Mrs. John Fisher, with whom Mrs. Warner lives at 641 Oakdale avenue, and her grandson, Roger Warner, were also present at the party. Mrs. Warner has lived in northern Illinois for 87 years.

Radio Squad Seizes Bandit 10 Minutes After Holdup

Responding to a police radio call a squad from the Rogers Park station yesterday arrested Earl Mandel, 26 years old, 1151 West Adams street, a prize fighter, ten minutes after he had held up Adam Zygalick in his barber shop at 7556 North Western avenue. Zygalick identified Mandel, who confessed his part in the robbery, and surrendered $10 which he had obtained. Mandel's accomplice escaped.

Purple Martins Gather by Thousands in Wilmette

The purple martins were gathering in Wilmette yesterday in their annual late summer convention preparatory to their flight southward for the winter. Several thousand of the birds were perched on trees and telephone wires on Maple street at the southern limit of Wilmette near the sanitary district canal.

REPORT MINERS EN ROUTE TO AID FARM STRIKERS

183 Additional Deputies Sworn In.

Charleston, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Sherif Roy Clark today swore in 183 members of the Anti-Thief association as special deputies following the receipt of reports that a number of unemployed coal miners from Terre Haute, Ind., and Taylorville, Ill., were en route here to participate in the broomcorn cutters' strike.

The sherif said the outsiders were already on their way and that if the additional deputies proved inadequate he would take steps to press into service about 500 landowners with whom he has already made arrangements.

Convinced of Trouble.

"I am convinced trouble will start," the sherif said.

Following a conference with State's Attorney Jewell Bilsaver today, Sherif Clark said he would arrest several persons reported to have made threats to "burn out" the fields. The threats, he said, were made yesterday when a mob of 100 strike sympathizers was turned back from the Joe Driscoll farm by an armed vigilance committee.

Strike, Return to Work.

Belvidere, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Seventy-five corn pickers in the Keene-Belvidere Canning company fields this morning struck for higher wages, but returned to work two hours later.

Picketing the roads leading to the plant, they halted ten wagonloads of corn.

They returned to work when they were informed by H. K. Funderburg, president of the canning company, that unless they returned he would close his factory and turn cows into the corn. They had been receiving $1.25 a ton and a bonus. They demanded $2 a ton.

Police Battle Women.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Police and company guards battled striking women garment workers at the Roselle Frock Manufacturing company today in a bitter clash which lasted for two hours and tied up trafic in the streets surrounding the plant.

The clash was precipitated by the attack on a girl worker who was about to enter the plan. About 300 strikers were involved in the battle, police said, and only thirty patrolmen were on duty when the first disorder broke out.

New Button Felt?

Carson's, of Course!

It's new in more ways than one—first, the texture of the felt with little raised surfaces that look like buttons; second, the shape, which hints of 1936 fashion; and last but by no means least, its close-fitting, head-clinging quality made possible by elasticity in the construction—very important as coat collars get larger. In black, brown, navy, wine, green.

SYNOPSIS.

After two years of marriage, Nancy and Dick Heritage are still greatly in love. Though Nancy is hated by Edith Heritage, her mother-in-law, she has come to live with them in their little house in Primrose Dene, near London. There is a gap of four years in Nancy's life which she had not satisfactorily accounted for. Nancy is informed by Mr. Sam Digger, attorney, that she has been bequeathed £5,000 by Miss Agnes Satchell, late governor of a girls' reformatory, where Nancy had been committed for your years. Nancy had been employed by a Mrs. Lane and was accused of theft. Sylvia, Mrs. Lane's daughter, was the real culprit. Sylvia threatened to kill herself if Nancy exposed her. Nancy foolishly took the blame, though she possessed a signed confession from Sylvia. Miss Satchell believed in Nancy's innocence. Nancy learns that her sole remaining relative, an aunt, has been killed in China. Dick and his mother are displeased when they learn that Nancy is expecting a baby. Edith Heritage invites a friend, Mrs. Lane, and her daughter, Sylvia, for tea. Nancy pleads a dentist's appointment. The Lanes arrive just as Dick comes home. They are startled when they see Nancy's photograph, but Sylvia, who is interested in Dick, explains that Nancy had lived with them and they'd had a misunderstanding, but bygones were bygones. Nancy returns home after the Lanes had left. That evening Dick disappears. He returns later intoxicated. A taxi driver calls the next morning to collect fare for two girls and two men. That evening Sylvia Lane calls on Dick at the architect's office where he is employed, asks him to plan a house for her, and boldly invites herself to his home for dinner. Sylvia assures Nancy that her secret of the reformatory is safe. She asks Nancy for the written confession, but Nancy tells her she had torn it up. Sylvia's new home is started and Dick spends most of his time with her. Dick gets a message from Mr. Digger asking Nancy to call at his office. She calls and learns she has inherited another small legacy.

INSTALMENT XXIII.

A SECOND LEGACY.

Nancy waited, attentive and a little breathless. So far Mr. Digger's statement was wholly incomprehensible to her, since it appeared to have nothing to do with Miss Satchell.

"Have a look at that letter first," he said. "It was received by us yesterday. This man, Granger, is a solicitor in Shanghai. I know him very well by reputation. He had charge of the affairs of a certain Andrew Horsman, as you will see, an English missionary who with his family was assassinated about two months ago in a border rebellion. Of course Mr. Horsman's wife, I take it, was your aunt——"

Nancy nodded. She was beginning faintly to understand.

"But—why should they write to you, Mr. Digger?"

"Read the letter. It's addressed to you."

Nancy read the letter and it became plainer still.

Her uncle and aunt, it seemed, had drawn up their wills some six years ago, whereby after considering the possible decease of themselves and their two children, their niece, Nancy Akers, whose address was given in care of Miss Satchell, was to receive whatever property they left.

Perhaps, living in a strange country amidst hostile surroundings they may have foreseen the possibility of some such fate as had overtaken them.

However, it was as a family they had been annihilated, and Nancy was their beneficiary. The Shanghai lawyer had written to Nancy Akers in care of Miss Satchell and Mr. Digger said that the letter had been opened in his office by mistake.

"And perhaps you will agree it is a rather lucky mistake," he added, "when you hear the suggestion I have to make to you."

He looked at her so kindly, and the tone of his voice was so entirely sympathetic that Nancy began to wonder if she had formed too hasty an opinion of him.

"You wouldn't be the first man whose wife has divorced him."

"What is your suggestion?" she asked.

Mr. Digger leaned towards her and his expression now seemed more like a smile and less an oily smirk.

"If I were you," he said, "I'd pass these two legacies off as one. Get my meaning? Nobody would be harmed by it, would they? Does your husband know anything of the financial circumstances of the Horsmans?"

"No—I don't know, myself," Nancy replied.

"Well, then—don't you see? What's to hinder them having left more than a couple of hundred pounds? Who but you is to say it wasn't five thousand?"

"Do you think that would be a right thing to do?"

"I don't see anything wrong about it," said Mr. Digger. "The money is yours, and if you say it all came from your aunt and uncle that's your affair. If Miss Satchell were here I'll be bound she'd advise you the same. The last thing in the world she'd want would be to get you into trouble."

Mr. Digger was disclosing that he possessed humanity. Yes, it was quite true what he said about Miss Satchell. She had loved Nancy very dearly, but had speeded her from the reformatory with the mutual understanding that for Nancy's own sake they were never to meet again or even to hold any communication with each other. She had wanted Nancy to treat those four lost years as though they had never existed. In view of that fact, it was a little strange she should have left Nancy a small fortune. In that respect, Miss Satchell seemingly had betrayed an inconsistency.

"I wonder if I dare!" Nancy exclaimed softly.

It would be marvelous to tell Dick she had all that money. Tomorrow was his birthday and she could give him the little car he coveted. Then he wouldn't have to be dashing about in Sylvia Lane's car all the time.

"I think you'd be foolish not to," said Mr. Digger. "Say we've opened an account for you and for the present allowed you to draw up to a couple of thousand. Later on—in a few months' time—I'll communicate with you again and officially let you know what the 'estate' amounts to. That'll be taking it quietly—get my meaning?"

"Yes, I think I do," Nancy replied. She looked at him, frankly puzzled. "Why are you taking so much trouble on my account?"

Mr. Digger looked into space and again performed that trick of washing his hands in an imaginary lather.

"I've got a reason," he said. "It's a perfectly sound reason but we're not going to discuss it now. I may decide never to tell you, so if you don't mind we'll let it go on the score of a small debt of gratitude I owe to Miss Satchell's memory. If ever you need a friend, Mrs. Heritage, come to see me. Remember, won't you?"

More and more was Nancy mystified. She had come to that office hating Mr. Digger and all his tiresome mannerisms, and she was leaving it with a decided liking for him. A sort of admiration for her beamed in his little eyes, and because of it she was almost moved to tell him that Miss Satchell's belief in her innocence—a belief based on nothing more substantial than her unproved word—had not been mistaken; that she was, in fact, guiltless of the crime which had been charged against her.

But on second thought, no. She couldn't turn on Sylvia after all these years, even by implication.

As she went down the stairs, however, Nancy found herself wondering at the change in her feelings toward Mr. Digger, but even more so at the change in his manner toward her.

On the occasion of that first visit he had behaved quite differently.

Well, so much for Mr. Digger.

The question now before her was a concern for her ability to carry off his suggestion with conviction.

She had left the Shanghai lawyer's letter with him together with instructions for him to deal with the matter of the Horsman estate. For obvious reasons, it could not be displayed at home, since the probable amount mentioned was in the neighborhood of £200.

She must try to think of it as £5,000. That was all. This Mr. Granger in Shanghai could be described as a sort of foreign partner in the firm of Farebrother, Lightfoot & Digger. Really, as Mr. Digger had said, there wasn't anything to worry about.

Subconsciously, however, Nancy was uneasy. Time no less than distance had softened the blow of the fate of her aun'ts family.

The suffering and terror they must have endured was mercifully over. Nevertheless, one could not feel very happy about inheriting money through such tragic circumstances, and perhaps it would look a little callous to begin spending at once on a lavish scale. Dick's car had better wait a bit.

Indeed, by the time she had reached home Nancy was in a very sober frame of mind, and the sight of Sylvia's car standing by the curb did not cheer her up the least little bit.

The front door was open and there were signs that tea had been served on the veranda, but as she entered the house it seemed to be deserted.

Nancy stood in the hall slowly drawing off her gloves, wondering where everybody was and still a trifle wrapped up in her own perplexities. Perhaps they were in the back garden, where Dick had recently installed a set of clock golf.

She moved a little reluctantly toward the side door to find out, when a curious sound caught her attention and rooted her to the spot. It came from the direction of Dick's den, behind the living room, and Nancy soon identified it as a woman's voice expressing itself in passionate sobs.

"Hush—for heaven's sake be careful, Sylvia!"

And that was Dick's voice.

Nancy gasped. "O, merciful heavens!" under her breath. She ought to stop her ears or run away.

"I don't care if it is your birthday tomorrow, I want you to myself. It Nancy's coming there won't be any picnic at all where I'm concerned."

"Sylvia——"

"O, don't try to get round me that way! Why don't you face up to the situation? You wouldn't be the first man whose wife has divorced him. I'll buy Nancy off, if necessary . . ."

And now Nancy found that she could move.

She did not want to hear any more. She had heard too much.

NEW VEGETABLE JUICES PERFECT FOR FLAVORING

Ready Bottled Products Save on Labor.

"Home Frozen Delicacies," a booklet containing fifty recipes for refrigerator frozen and ice frozen desserts, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 10 cents. By mail, 13 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Little was said, for reason of space, about the various other vegetable juices when we wrote about celery juice a week or so ago. However, although most of them are sold mainly as "health" foods, one needn't be a health fanatic to appreciate their possibilities in flavorsome cooking.

Best known of the lot are, probably, the onion and garlic juices. With no other substance than salt added, these two particular products are just as full of fresh [and powerful] flavor as any you might yourself painfully extract by scraping the fresh vegetables. A drop of the garlic juice in the salad bowl, we find, has just the same zest provoking effect that rubbing with a cut garlic clove adds. For meat or spaghetti sauces, for enlivening the tomato juice cocktail, or in salad dressings, a mere dash of either of these vegetable extracts frequently is just the touch needed to "hep" your reputation as a cook.

Carrot juice, which is supposed to be bristling with all those important things for which you were told to eat carrots as a child, is another new product that deserves your attention. Combined with celery juice it makes a fine breakfast or luncheon beginning. Or, half-and-half with the morning orange juice, it's sure to win your wholehearted approval.

Parsley juice, which sounds as strange to us as does spinach juice, also is recommended as a "health" product, but we prefer to think of it in terms of flavor. The fresh flavor of the parsley has been retained in the extract, and it makes an excellent seasoning for salad dressings and fish sauces.

Fully as delightful is the amazing fresh flavor of the green pepper juice put out by the same company. Its appeal is one that may well be introduced into your next meat loaf or into a lowly dish of hash, while it truly comes into its own when it goes into a seafood salad.

Besides the spinach juice branch of the family, this juice bottling company puts out a mixture—celery, carrot, parsley, and spinach juices. It's something that may be combined with the morning tomato or orange juice, but we feel that its forte [from the cook's angle] is in soups.

Just served hot [the makers caution against boiling, lest any of the mineral content be changed], this combination of juices makes an excellent vegetable consommé. Or, with the addition of a beef or chicken bouillon cube and attractive julienne vegetables you can achieve a soup that's a bit more hearty and even more tempting to look upon.

The price of these vegetable juices, while it doesn't run into frightfully alarming figures, still is something you'll want to balance against their convenience and goodness. Remember that as flavoring agents [and we prefer to recommend them as that rather than going into the purely "good-for-you" angle] they do go a long way, and even a small bottle should last for months.

Plane to Speed U. of C. Research Work in Iran

Airplane commuting between sites of scientific investigation in Iran was announced yesterday by the Oriental institute of the University of Chicago. The Persian government has granted permission for importation of a plane which Dr. Erich F. Schmidt, director of the expedition, will use in flying between the institute headquarters at Persepolis and Rayy, in northern Iran, where similar scientific research is being conducted by the University of Pennsylvania. Two hundred miles of rough roads separate the centers.

FROZEN SALADS CAN BE PREPARED ECONOMICALLY

Evaporated Milk Is a Good Substitute.

Frozen salads, popular as appetizer courses; combination salads, dessert courses, or as the main dishes of luncheons, need not be expensive concoctions. In place of whipping cream, evaporated milk may be used. As it is combined with mayonnaise, the flavor is not changed.

Complete directions for making the frozen salads and recipes for preparing sixteen fruit, vegetable, cheese, and chicken salads are in the booklet, "Sixteen Refrigerator Frozen Salads." To order this booklet send 5 cents, stamps or coin, to Mary Meade, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Or obtain a copy at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents.

MEAT CUTS LEAD STAPLE FOODS IN PRICE DECLINE

Many Items Are Lower Than Last Week.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

When food shoppers make their rounds of Chicago and suburban stores today and tomorrow they will find that last week's upward price tendency has been reversed. Price tags have been marked down on about fifteen staple items, while only a few are higher than a week ago.

Butchers in many shops took advantage of lower live stock and wholesale meat prices to offer reductions in most kinds of fresh meat cuts. THE TRIBUNE weekly survey revealed. Fat steers and yearlings are quoted at the stockyards as "steady to 25 cents a hundred pounds lower than last week" and wholesale cuts of medium to good beef are selling for 50 cents a hundred pounds less than a week ago. Sirloin and round steaks are down from 3 to 7 cents a pound from last week in most retail butcher shops.

Pork Prices Decline.

Most fresh pork cuts in retail shops are down in line with lower prices on wholesale pork and a reduction of 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds paid farmers for live hogs. Wholesale dressed loin of pork is about 2 to 4 cents a pound lower than last week, according to federal market reporters. The highest priced loins of pork sold at about 25 cents a pound on the wholesale markets as compared with 30 cents a pound on Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Fresh lamb cuts are higher than a week ago. Prices of fat live lambs have advanced 25 to 50 cents a hundred and dressed lamb is about 50 cents a hundred pounds higher than last week.

Heavy shipments of fresh peaches from southern Illinois orchards forced retail prices down this week to their lowest level of the season. What is reported to be the best peach crop in five years for that section is now in full harvest. Liberal supplies of good quality apples from Illinois and Michigan are being offered at reasonable prices. Cooking apples will be lower today and tomorrow than last week.

Tomatoes Cheapest of Year.

Most stores are well stocked with fresh tomatoes and the prices are the lowest so far this year. Market reporters indicate that housewives who can tomatoes or make them into catsups would do well to make their purchases before the present heavy supplies begin to wane. They say that prices are about as low now as they probably will go.

Head lettuce, cabbage, green beans, and roasting ears are lower than last week in most stores. Spinach also is down from a week ago, but still is considered high and is not being handled by many retail dealers. Lettuce prices have advanced on the wholesale markets during the last few days and retail prices are expected to go higher soon.

The season's first shipment of Rocky Ford cantaloupes from Colorado reached Chicago this week. They are of good quality and are selling at reasonable prices in competition with heavy shipments of cantaloupes from Michigan and Indiana.

Eggs continued their upward trend in price begun three weeks ago. Bananas, butter, and most brands of sliced bacon are higher than last week.

KITCHEN LABEL "BOOKS" FITTING BRIDGE PRIZES

Something useful but different, not too expensive but durable—that's what you're looking for when you choose a bridge prize. One of the newest answers is a set of six tiny book-like boxes which any housewife would want to tuck in with her cook books.

The contents are labeled as the title of a book would be, and they contain sticker labels for jellies, jams, relishes, pickles, spices, canned fruits, and vegetables, and anything else one would can.

Another trick for brightening up the jam closet is to paste on the front of the jar or glass a sticker likeness of the fruit which is preserved. These seals are painted in lifelike colors and come several dozen to the box.

WHEY AS POWDER RECOVERS ITS OLD HEALTH PRESTIGE

Effective in Fight on Malnutrition.

Whey, once a discarded by-product of cheesemaking, is coming into its own as a valuable means of combating diseases of malnutrition. Experiments extending over a period of years with whey in powdered form have demonstrated the importance of this fraction of milk in treating tuberculosis, rickets, and other diseases of malnutrition, according to an announcement made by Dr. F. H. Clickner, under whose direction whey powder was evolved. He declared whey in powdered form contained 2½ times as much vitamin G as fluid milk, in addition to a high percentage of necessary milk sugar, calcium, and phosphorus.

Familiar to Hippocrates.

"The therapeutic values of whey were known to the ancients," Dr. Clickner said, "although in recent years whey has been largely neglected. The eminent early physician, Hippocrates, prescribed whey as a cure for scurvy, intestinal disorders, and some mental disorders.

"In the days of Samuel Pepys the drinking of whey was a social custom, like taking the waters at various European spas. The virtues of whey have long been recognized by the medical profession.

"Whey contains only completely soluble substances, practically all of the lactose or sugar of milk, about one-half the minerals of milk, and a small percentage of the fat and protein, principally albumin. Potassium and magnesium salts and the phosphates, milk minerals of immense importance in the proper balance of human dietaries are contained in whey powder.

The Modern Development.

"Although the values of whey have been well known for many years, the discovery of a means whereby the water could be scientifically evaporated from whey retaining only the valuable solids is a development of the modern research laboratory. The high percentage of vitamin G contained in whey powder is of immense importance in supplementing daily diets."

A method has also been developed for the extraction of milk minerals found in whey, especially calcium and phosphorus. The addition of this extra mineral fraction to whole whey powder produces a food high in calcium.

Tribune Recipes

COTTAGE CHEESE, ITALIAN STYLE.

1 cup cottage cheese.
1 tablespoon cream.
1 teaspoon minced chives or chopped green onion tops.
1 teaspoon caraway seeds.
Dash of cayenne pepper.
½ teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon paprika.

Blend all the ingredients, beating well. Chill an hour before serving. Serve with crackers as an appetizer.

MACAROON ICE CREAM.

1 cup milk.
¾ cup crushed macaroons.
1 cup whipping cream.

Dissolve the marshmallows in the milk in a double boiler. Add to the mixture the crushed macaroons and chill. When slightly thickened, add the stiffly beaten cream, pour into a refrigerator tray and freeze.

ORIENTAL SUNDAE SAUCE.

4 cups sugar.
2 cups water.
½ cup raisins.
Juice and rind of 1 lemon.
Juice and rind of 1 orange.
½ cup candied ginger [chopped fine].
¾ cup blanched almonds [cut in strips].

Make a sirup of the sugar, water, fruit juices and grated rind. Add the raisins and ginger and cook until the sauce is medium thick.

TAKE OVER GIRLS' CAMP AS HAVEN FOR TRANSIENTS

Camp Millhurst, near Plano, in Kendall county, formerly used by the Chicago Y. W. C. A. as a summer resort for girls, has been taken over by the Federal Transient bureau and will be operated as a year around concentration camp for transient relief clients of the Illinois emergency relief commission, Daniel Sands, state transient director, announced yesterday.

Accommodations for 200 men will be provided at the camp, which will be operated as a branch of the Glenwood Park transient center, near Batavia. Men housed at the camp will be given employment on projects under the supervision of the state department of waterways. Work will include the reconstruction of a dam at Millhurst and channel and park improvements on the Fox river.

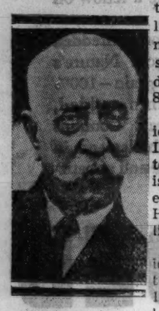
KONDOURIOTIS, FIRST PRESIDENT OF GREECE, DIES

Admiral Who Beat Turks Was 80 Years Old.

ATHENS, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Admiral Paul Kondouriotis, first president of the Greek republic and one of the nation's most respected figures, died today. He was 80 years old.



ADMIRAL KONDOURIOTIS.

He will be buried on his native Island of Hydra, to which his body is being transported by the gunboat Hydra for a public funeral.

The former president, who held that office from 1924 until 1929, lately had been embittered by the implication of his son in the revolt of last March.

Naval Hero of 2 Wars.

His son, Theodore, will not be able to attend the funeral, as he is a fugitive abroad under sentence of death for participation in the revolt.

Admiral Kondouriotis was a naval hero of the Greco-Turkish war of 1897 and of the first Balkan war of 1912-'13.

On the death of King Alexander in 1920 he acted as regent and again in 1923 pending the return of Constantine to the throne.

Sea Dog by Tradition.

Kondouriotis was a sea-dog by family tradition and personal inclination and had proud and warlike Albanian blood in his veins. He was born April 14, 1855, on the Island of Hydra, where his family had been settled for two and a half centuries.

When the first Balkan war of 1912-'13 broke, Kondouriotis had become commander in chief of the Greek navy, and he twice defeated the Turkish fleet at the mouth of the Dardanelles.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Foreign Entanglements

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A batch of Maj. Bowes' newly professionalized amateurs will be whooping it up at the Chicago theater this morning and for a week to come. This is one of the touring troupes developed out of Bowes' popular Sunday night amateur broadcasts. Similar units have been meeting with success in Akron, Houston, Atlanta, and other moderately sized cities. This is the first 'invasion of a big city.

It should be remembered that the amateur hour, in its present form, has run a solid year in radio and there seems to be little waning in listeners' interest. And there are observers who say that if vaudeville stages a national comeback it will be due mainly to these amateur performances.

Another fact to be considered, however, is that, amateur shows are never any better than their masters of ceremonies. And Maj. Bowes is not traveling with his alumni!

With this show are Joseph Regato, hailed as the Caruso of the garbage cans; the Oklahoma Mustang Wranglers, a drugstore cowboy unit making its first trip west of the Hudson, four singing fraternity men from the University of Missouri, Marie Mario, songstress, an unemployed proofreader; Vivian Barlow, impersonator, former social worker; Meyer Goldberg, the whistling grocery clerk, and so on.

Hal Kemp and his orchestra, who have been missing from W-G-N's schedule for just about a year, will be at the Palace for a week beginning this morning. Kay Kyser, who succeeded Kemp at the Blackhawk and on W-G-N, is to move into the William Penn hotel, Pittsburgh, for the winter season with KDKA as outlet.

A 7 pound daughter was born to Mrs. John Mitchell, who is Em of Clara, Lu 'n' Em, Tuesday night at Evanston hospital. The baby, a blonde, has been named Jane Pendleton Mitchell. Dr. C. E. Galloway is attending mother and child. Em's partners on W-G-N and NBC were vacationing at the time of the birth. Lu, Mrs. Howard Berolzheimer, was taking a cruise on a lake freigher, and Clara, Mrs. Paul Mead, was visiting her grandmother at Palmyra, near Springfield. She is helping with threshing dinners this week.

Mary McCormic, who is presenting her own life story on WBBM, left last night after her broadcast to be the soloist at the Midwest Music festival in Omaha tomorrow night. Henry Klein, who produces her show, next week will open a "Radio friendship" basement in his new home at Glenview. There will be steins for many radio celebrities with their autographs carved on the shelves above the mugs. In a few weeks Klein expects to be able to live in the basement, subleasing the rest of the house.

The barrage of political broadcasts is soon to begin. And there may be some new wrinkles. During the last local elections many a politician perfumed his "poison" with dulcet notes by well known radio entertainers. It is reported that the next national campaign will see this idea borrowed. Republicans and Democrats are reported lining up some of radio's slickest showmen.

Ernie Passoja, trombonist with Horace Heidt's Brigadiers, was handed a telegram notifying him of his father's death in Pennsylvania just before a W-G-N broadcast the other evening. But he went on the air. . . . Eddy Duchin has been signed for a movie. The youthful orchestra leader will appear in "Coronado," a musical film with Leon Errol.

NEW DEVICE AIDS 4 YOUNG FOLK TO HEAR AND TALK

Three young women and one young man who four months ago were unable to talk, and who had not heard since infancy, appeared yesterday before the Kiwanis club, and with the aid of a mechanical device designed for a new type of sound amplification they repeated words and answered questions.

Difficult words were repeated by Marjorie Gustine of 6820 Perry avenue, 16 years old, who has been deaf since she was 2 years old. She has been talking less than two months. None of the four has been instructed for more than 40 hours by the company manufacturing the device, according to John V. Schneck, manager of the branch of the company which gave the demonstration.

Estelle Sullivan, 15 years old, of 4181 Fletcher street, who was born a mute, smiled as she repeated, "My eyes are brown." Mildred Poole, 7228 South Mozart street, 16 years old, who since a spinal meningitis attack when she was 7 months' old has had only "5 per cent hearing" in each ear, told the Kiwanians she had blue eyes.

Through some unexplained reason, which when explained may lead to anything," Joseph Portscheller, 18, of 7227 Cornell avenue, in the last four months has regained 54 per cent of his hearing, having had only 15 per cent, Schenck said.

FIND MRS. ANNA CARMICHAEL, 92, DEAD IN HOTEL

Mrs. Anna Carmichael, 92 years old, a pioneer resident of Woodlawn, was found dead of heart disease yesterday morning in her room at the Hayes hotel, 6345 University avenue.

Coming to Chicago in 1854, Mrs. Carmichael saw the great Chicago fire of 1871.

Her husband was D. L. Carmichael, a civil war veteran and attorney who died in 1920. Since his death Mrs. Carmichael had lived at the Hayes hotel. Surviving her is a daughter-in-law, Mrs. N. D. Findley of Pittsburg, Kas.

Charles Miller, Prominent Lodge Member, Is Dead

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Funeral services will be held Saturday for Charles E. Miller, 65, prominent lodge member, who died shortly before midnight last night. He was one of the organizers of the local temple of the Dramatic Order of Knights of Khorassan, a Knights of Pythias lodge.

FILE H. M. WOLF'S WILL; $4,000,000 ESTATE DIVIDED

The will of Henry M. Wolf, veteran Chicago lawyer who died on June 4 at the age of 74, was admitted to probate yesterday before Edward Luczak, assistant to the probate judge, disposing of an estate officially appraised at $4,009,000. The executors, Mary E. Kaufman, 5234 Dorchester avenue, Mr. Wolf's former secretary, and the Northern Trust company, furnished bond of $8,000,000.

Mr. Wolf, a bachelor, left large bequests to his nieces, Agnes Wolf Stern, 615 Crescent court, Highland Park, and Mrs. Bertha Wolf Raimondaud of Paris, France, and a nephew, Walter B. Wolf, 209 Lake Shore drive. Charitable institutions were willed the bulk of the estate.

The will of Frank G. Hoyne, late head of a real estate firm bearing his name at 118 North La Salle street, was filed before Probate Judge Martin C. Decker in Waukegan during the day. The will disposed of an estimated estate of $150,000 in personal property. The widow, Mrs. Florence Ashton Hoyne, was named sole beneficiary. Mr. Hoyne, whose family long has been prominent in Chicago affairs, died on July 24 at the age of 81. He was the son of Thomas Hoyne, an early mayor of Chicago.

USING OF LEAD IN CANCER CASES CALLED MISTAKE

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Staf members at Memorial hospital for the treatment of cancer tonight took issue with an announcement by the American Chemical society at San Francisco that improved technique in utilizing lead for cancer treatment make its use "a more important hope than it has hitherto been thought to be."

The statement here said the staf had received the announcement "with skepticism and regret" adding that "it would be a mistake to encourage such hope."

"Lead therapy was abandoned at Memorial hospital after extensive experience," said the statement. "The general toxic effects were found to be too severe. No method of combating the chronic toxic effects of lead has been found.

"Neither lead nor any heavy metal has any special affinity for tumor tissues. Lead deposits, especially in the liver and bones, exert anemic effects for a long time afterward. No new results of newer lead therapy methods seem to justify raising new hopes that lead will prove a desirable method of treating advanced cancer."

ZENGE TO FIGHT STATE MIND TEST IN COURT TODAY

Attorneys for Mandeville W. Zenge, 26 year old Missourian, who has been indicted for the mutilation murder of Dr. Walter J. Bauer, announced yesterday that they would appear before Judge Grover C. Niemeyer in the Criminal court this morning with an amended petition requesting that Dr. Harry Hoffman, head of the Cook county behavior clinic, be excluded while an alienist examines Zenge.

Last Monday Acting Chief Justice Donald S. McKinlay of the Criminal court signed an order permitting the alienist's tests on Zenge, but with the provision that Dr. Hoffman be present. Joseph E. Green and Joseph Roach, the defense lawyers, contend that if Dr. Hoffman, a state employé, is allowed to attend the examination, Zenge will, in effect, be testifying against himself. The defense has selected Dr. Harold Hulbert to give Zenge the examination.

Reports Theft of Seven Cows from His Pasture

Herbert Corp, farmer, living five miles east of Joliet on the Southwest highway, reported the loss of seven cows from his pasture yesterday. He told Will county deputy sherifs that a truck apparently had been backed into the field and the cattle lured with green corn up a chute improvised from planks taken from a board fence. Corp hastened to the Stockyards in Chicago and spent the day searching in vain for his missing cows. The theft of 14 head of cattle over the week-end has been reported by farmers in Grundy county, which adjoins Will county on the west.

Rites for Joseph Radley, 95, Veteran Odd Fellow, Held

Earlville, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Funeral services were held here this afternoon for Joseph Parker Radley, who claimed to be the oldest Odd Fellow in Illinois. He was 95 years 11 months and 11 days old when he died Tuesday. He had been a member of the I. O. O. F. for more than 72 years and had three brothers who have been members of the order for more than half a century. The four brothers were members of the Shabbona lodge of Earlville. The services were conducted by Rev. F. F. Fitch.

Historical Society Closes for Dr. Schmidt's Rites

The Chicago Historical society closed its doors yesterday during funeral services for Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, physician, educator, historian and yachtsman, and former president of the society, who died Tuesday in his home at 1547 North Dearborn parkway. The services were conducted in his home. The body was cremated and placed in a vault in Oak Woods cemetery. Dr. Schmidt was 72 years old.

He-Mene-Mox-Mox, Indian Counselor, Taken by Death

Mespelem, Wash., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The red man mourned today for a friend and counselor, He-Mene-Mox-Mox, the Yellow Wolf and last of the warriors of Chief Joseph of the Nez Perces. He was past 90.

Wins $50,000 Estate of Father Whom He Never Saw

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—William H. Lynan, Chicago business man, satisfied the court today that he was the legitimate son of the late Martin Lynnum and heir to the father's $50,000 estate. Lynan, who had never seen his father, contested the claim of Valetine Leim, Los Angeles barber, basing his proof of kinship on notes found in Lynnum's effects which carried Lynan's name and changes of address.

George H. Van Fleet Dies; Former Harding Associate

Marion, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—George H. Van Fleet, 71, who was a close associate of President Harding in the newspaper field, died today of a heart attack. He retired in 1932 as publisher of the Marion Star.

HUNT PLANE LOST IN ALASKA WITH FOUR ON BOARD

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 22.—(AP)—A missing airplane with three prominent Fairbanks residents aboard was sought today between Dawson, Y. T., and this city. The plane, piloted by Arthur F. Hines, left Dawson last Monday in the face of what other pilots said was unfavorable weather.

Aboard the plane, besides the pilot were John Lonz, Fairbanks merchant; his bride of a month, and Aiton Nordale, clerk of the United States District court and representative of the fourth division at the last session of the legislature.

Flying a distance of 10 miles apart, five searching planes flew over the rugged country between here and Dawson yesterday without finding a trace of the missing ship. The ship was last reported over Chicken, Alaska, 100 miles west of Dawson.

Wife of Blind Man Haled Into Court Over Alimony

Superior Judge Walter T. Stanton yesterday allowed Mrs. Anna Sunde, 40 years old, 1933 E. 71st street, 10 days to answer a petition asking that she be held in contempt of court for alleged failure to pay her blind husband, Ludwig, $230 he claims she owes him in alimony payments. Under a divorce decree granted in November, 1933, Mrs. Sunde was ordered to pay her husband $7.50 weekly after he waived rights to profits of their dress shop on the south side. During the hearing yesterday Mrs. Sunde said that her husband had good eyesight when she married him in 1926 but that he lost his sight after he tried to kill himself when a woman sued him for $50,000 in March, 1933.

MAN SHOT IN LEG AS POLICE CHASE AND KILL MAD DOG

A pedestrian was wounded and bullets were fired into two houses yesterday as police engaged in a chase which extended for nearly an hour through south side streets, attempting to kill a mad dog which had attacked two persons in Sherman park near 55th and Loomis streets.

The animal first tried to bite William Kelly, 22 years old, 5040 South Wood street, then leaped at Arthur Bactatligo, 11 years old, 1422 West Garfield boulevard. The excitement brought Park Policeman Frank McCarron and Bernard Clancy to the scene.

After chasing the dog about the park for a time they called for help and Policemen John Cassidy and Harold Mann arrived in a squad car. The dog fled from the park and McCarron and Clancy swung to the running board of the squad car as the motor chase began.

Firing as they went, the officers pursued the beast through alleys and streets, south on Throop street, then east on 63d street. In the course of the firing, shots went through the doors of the homes of David Earl, 1307 West Garfield boulevard, and John Coine, 5638 Throop street. In front of 924 West 63d street a bullet wounded George Dermody, 29 years old, 1415 Cornelia street, in the leg. The dog subsequently was cornered and shot to death in a doorway at 540 West 63d street.

STEAMER STARTS LAKES TO GULF PASSENGER TRIP

The S. S. Kittanning, a 79 foot passenger steamer, pulled away from her moorings near the Michigan avenue bridge yesterday and moved down the Chicago river on a leisurely jaunt to New Orleans via the lakes to gulf waterway. According to her skipper and owner, Capt. D. O. Lockhart, the vessel was making the first trip for any craft of this type down the waterway.

The Kittanning's pilot cabin, smokestack, and lifeboats were shorn from the upper deck and placed on the lower one so she may go under the fixed bridges in the Chicago river and drainage canal before reaching the Illinois river below Joliet. On the way the boat will stop at various river ports to take on excursion parties, the use to which she was put for two World's Fair summers of 1933 and 1934.

Aboard besides the captain were his wife, Mae, Mrs. Rosalie Silliman, and Miss Eva Jay Paul, both of 6243 Ingleside avenue, and a crew of six. Planning to reach New Orleans for the Mardi Gras in March, the Lockharts will take the boat to Gulfport, Miss., for permanent headquarters.

The Kittanning was built 12 years ago for the state of New York.

Child in Coma Six Weeks After Fall from 2d Floor

The condition of Suzanne Lissnes, 22 months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lissner, 2448 Addison street, who has lain in a state of coma since July 6 following a fall from a second story window, is puzzling physicians at Michael Reese hospital. The child's fractured skull has begun to mend, her heart, lung action and blood pressure are normal, but she has not yet regained consciousness. Bone tests and X-ray pictures disclose no outward cause for the coma.

Held on Gambling Charge After Police Raid Tavern

Stephen Douvas, 3228 Lincoln avenue, was arrested yesterday by Sheffield avenue police on a charge of operating a gambling house in the side room of a tavern at 2401 Belmont avenue. Two women and seven men, allegedly placing bets when the raiders entered, were not arrested.

Four Benefits by Children Aid Ice Fund

Circus Among Events Given by Young Folk.

The proceeds of four juvenile benefits, three of them given by children of the suburbs, were turned over to THE TRIBUNE Free Ice Fund yesterday.

News of the first benefit came in a formally worded note, hand printed. "Gentlemen": it read, "We made this money having a lemonade stand. We want to give it to the ice fund." The young lemonade salesmen signed their names as "Donnie and Carolyn, 2717 Simpson street, Evanston," and enclosed 75 cents for the Free Ice fund.

From Glencoe came a check for $5.64, sent by six little girls, who, aided by their group teacher, Miss Mary Coulture, and two of their small sisters, gave a series of little skits. The children are Nina D'Ancona, Sue Bensinger, Jean Gutmann, Florence Davis, Jean Freiler, and Shirley Mayer. The "little sisters" are Patsy D'Ancona and Ginger Bensinger.

From Winnetka came $3.20, "total gate receipts of a circus conceived and organized by Joanne Schildberg, age 10." Twelve children took part in the circus, which included a parade, a "big tent," a miniature golf course, and three side shows.

The fourth contribution of the day from a benefit was $1, sent by Joanne Hyman, 663 Buckingham place, and Harriet Block, 645 Buckingham place. This was the proceeds of a cookie sale.

Current contributions to the ice fund are:

Six skit girls	$ 5.64
Winnetka circus	3.20
For the "Little Old Couple"	2.00
Helen F. and William R. Wilson	2.00
Cookie sale of Joanne Hyman and Harriet Block	1.00
O. E. Wilke	5.00
In honor of Albert Pick III. and Thomas Van Stratton	5.00
N. E. Linton	5.00
F. Cohn	3.00
Proceeds of a lemonade stand	.75
Total	$ 32.59
Previously acknowledged	$1,598.66
Grand total	$1,631.25

Recent contributions to the Camp Algonquin fund, through which mothers and children are given a two weeks' outing at Camp Algonquin on the Fox river, are:

O. E. Wilke	$ 10.00
Robert Neil Dickenson Jr.	10.00
In memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Catherine McC	10.00
In honor of Albert Pick III. and Thomas Van Stratton	5.00
Total	$ 35.00
Prev'ously acknowledged	2,599.47
Grand total	$2,634.47

Contributions to both funds should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE. All donations will be acknowledged in the columns of this paper.

The Stage

Harry Davenport, who has a prominent rôle in "Three Men on a Horse" at the Harris theater, celebrated the 64th anniversary of his stage career yesterday. He made his debut in 1871 when 5 years old, and in length of service he is generally regarded as the dean of his profession. A scroll of congratulations signed by the dramatic critics of Chicago was presented to him on the stage last night by Mrs. Frank Bering, whose husband is often called Chicago's champion first-nighter.

Mr. Davenport's acting ancestry runs back to 1788. His parents were E. L. Davenport and Fanny Vining; his sister was Fanny Davenport; he acquired Sidney Drew and Lionel Barrymore as brothers-in-law when he married Phyllis Rankin, and he has four children on the stage.

Hold Ceremony in Gardens of Family Home

Miss Marjorie Mae Spiegel became the bride of Richard W. Dammann at a ceremony late yesterday afternoon in the gardens of her mother's, Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel's, lovely Highland Park home. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dammann of Bedford Hills, N. Y. A wedding supper and reception followed the ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white satin, cut severely, with silver-embroidered white satin leaves for its only decoration. She wore a silver embroidered white satin Mary Queen of Scots headdress from which a tulle veil fell. She carried an old family Bible and a spray of white orchids. The bridesmaids, Miss Janet Welt of Detroit and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Margaret Dammann, were gowned in blue satin with tight headdresses and they carried old fashioned bouquets of sweetheart roses.

The bridegroom's father served as best man and there were no ushers. Following a wedding trip to Bermuda Mr. Dammann and his bride will make their home in New York.

184 Crippled Children Back from Camp in Wisconsin

Sunburned and smiling, 184 crippled children of Chicago returned yesterday from a six week vacation at Brown's lake, Burlington, Wis., the 36th annual outing sponsored by the Outing Association for Crippled Children. The outing marked the first trip which many of the children had made to the country. Miss Victoria Vacha, director of the camp, reported that every child in the camp had learned to swim, 15 had learned to walk, and a girl of 14, a victim of infantile paralysis, was able to move her toes for the first time since she was 18 months old. Free transportation both to and from the camp was provided by the Milwaukee railroad. On Saturday the "alumni" of the Outing association—crippled persons who now are grown and profitably employed—will visit the camp. Mrs. Emma Haskell is president of the association.

C. H. Conrads to Move to N. Carolina

Building Stone Residence at Tryon.

BY JUDITH CASS.

SOON after the first of October the population of Tryon, N. C., which has hovered near the two thousand mark for a dozen years, will be increased by two and those two will be Chicagoans. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Conrad are going to this lovely mountain town in North Carolina.

They will be missed here by a host of friends and Mrs. Conrad especially by the Service club. Every season she has given unstintingly of her time and energy to the club and especially in the autumn when the annual revue is presented. Whether the job was looking up properties or soothing headaches backstage, nothing ever was too much for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad purchased property in Tryon several years ago, and quite suddenly a few months past they started to build. They have done it so quietly, however, that comparatively few of their friends have been aware of their plans to leave Chicago. The house, which is being built of native rock and paneled in native wood, commands the four acres of the property. The house has been named Four Acres.

The large tract of land, of which the Conrads' acreage is one part, once belonged to the actor, William Gillette, famed for his impersonation of Sherlock Holmes. Mr. Gillette, who now is in his eighties, lives in Connecticut, but he visits occasionally in Tryon.

Town Possesses Beautiful Lake.

There is a nine hole golf course at Tryon and a beautiful lake, surrounded by woods and mountains, Lake Lanier. Asheville is only 25 miles away, and it is there that Mr. Conrad will spend most of his time on the golf links. He and Mrs. Conrad will return to Chicago at least four times a year for a few weeks each time because he has not given up his business interests.

An interesting footnote to the news of Mr. and Mrs. Conrads' removal to North Carolina is the celebration of their 35th wedding anniversary today. It was on Aug. 23, 1900, five years after his graduation from the University of Michigan, that Mr. Conrad went to Duluth, Minn., to claim as his bride Miss Betty Brearley. The Conrads lived at 223 East Walton place for a great many years, spending most of their days in the summer time at the Indian Hill club. Last fall they moved to an apartment in Fullerton parkway overlooking Lincoln park. Late next month all of their furniture will leave Fullerton parkway for the long trip to Four Acres.

Alumni Groups Plan Fall Party.

The alumni associations of three colleges—Amherst, Dartmouth, and Williams—have made plans for their annual fall parties. The Chicago Amherst club has sent out invitations for a stag dinner at the Indian Hill club on Friday evening, Sept. 6; Dartmouth alumni and prospective freshmen will meet for a picnic next Wednesday afternoon on Louis Leverone's farm on the Des Plaines river—Mr. Leverone, who was graduated from Dartmouth in 1904, is a member of the Dartmouth club's executive committee—and the Williams students and alumni will hold a field day at the Onwentsia club on Sept. 19.

Alfred H. Winston, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Winston of Evanston is in charge of the Amherst dinner. In addition to being president of the senior class Mr. Winston is captain of the tennis and soccer teams at college. Among the 100 guests he expects at the dinner are several young men who are entering Amherst this fall. One of them, Gordon Spens, is winner of the Jeffery Amherst scholarship from the Chicago district. Mr. Spens was graduated last June from the Boys' Latin school. Others who will be entering Amherst include Robert A. Aldrich, son of Dr. Charles A. Aldrich of Winnetka, who was graduated from the North Shore

Spectacular Suit on Russian Lines

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

From a Chicago shop. A Russian winter suit as unusual as it is spectacular. The black wool long sleeved dress has a band of Persian lamb that matches exactly the carefully worked skins in the typical Russian model coat. A woven braid belt holds it smartly around the waistline. Accessories are of black.

Tommy Manville and Fourth Wife Become Reconciled

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Tommy Manville, and Marcelle Edwards, his fourth wife, are reconciled.

Tonight at the asbestos heir's hotel suite the two were preparing for a second honeymoon—this week-end at the Atlantic Beach club, next week to Europe.

Mrs. Manville, a former show girl, dropped her separation suit this morning.

That followed upon a meeting last night at a party. Each arrived with a different group, but they rode away together.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Now that femininity has come into its own again with such a vengeance, a delightful combination we found in one of the shops the other day should make a tremendous hit. It's a box containing a cake of one of the loveliest soaps made, alongside of a generous little bottle of essential sachet powder.

There is as much difference in soaps as there is in, say, foods—and this is one that would delight a queen. The chubby little cakes are fragrant as grandmother's garden, exuding true floral odors that make of the daily bath a luxurious and soul-satisfying ritual. Moreover, the blandness of this soap is a boon to the sensitive-skinned, since it's gentle enough for even a baby's check and any one who loves a fluffy, sudsy lather with the least possible effort will be charmed.

Don't ever forget that your selection of a soap should be as painstaking, as thoughtfully made, as your selection of your creams, your powders, the cut of your hair or the cut of your gown, for the most skilful makeup in the world can't do an awful lot to conceal an essentially bad complexion; and the cleansing ritual plays a major rôle in the attainment and preservation of a petal-soft skin. We're being emphatic, we know, but the most fastidious lady of fashion would be hard put to it to find a flaw in this product of a famous French house.

As for the sachets, what could delight the truly feminine heart more than the daintiness embodied in having one's personal linen give off a sweet and elusive scent as it emerges fresh from the bureau drawers! The "lavender and old lace" days have nothing on the present when it comes to milady's predilection for those charming little nonessentials that contribute so much to gracious living, and the little bottle of sachet powder contains plenty of the essential fragrance to fill several little sachet bags.

This duet comes in a variety of odors, but one we're particularly partial to happens to be a spicy carnation, fresh and tangy. See if you don't like it, too.

Fall Fashions Demand Right Underlayers

A Bulge Brings Ruin to New Streamlines.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

We can't make it too strong. . . . No one can wear the new clothes without the proper fitted underlayers! Swanky fall wool daytime clothes are positive flops if streamlines are not the smooth unbroken affairs the dresses were designed to accent.

Waistlines that are waistlines, sharply defined and in a lot of models further accentuated with a wide decorative belt, lose every bit of smartness they possess if you wear them without a girdle that firmly controls any incipient bulge.

Straight fronts and the newer draped front silhouettes are sad looking numbers unless you are straight and flatter than a thin dime where the new draped fullness appears.

There's nothing to these new underlayers but satin, two way stretch elastic, and not a bone, especially for the young silhouettes. It's a matter of superdesigning, the way the featherweight foundation garment is put together, the cutting, the seaming, and smoothness assured by the tight fit.

A lot of the newest fall models are here. . . . One well known designer has presented some knockout affairs for the young streamline, an all-in-one model made entirely of two way stretch elastic in a satin and plain striped material. The stripes make for even more slenderness. The "bra" is of plain net and it keeps you as slim and trim as a pencil, and what it does for any of the rib hugging new clothes is almost a miracle.

Other models feature part two way stretch elastic and part soft, pliable materials. Almost all of them are boneless; all of them are marvels of body control without making you feel trapped. Perfect body freedom, all the willowy suppleness you ever craved, and unbroken smoothness are assured when you wear any of these new arrivals. Buy them and have them fitted before you sink any of your clothes allowance in new dresses and suits.

Fashion photograph . . . another stunning fur outfit featured during the August fur sales. This is the newest of fur suits, the wool and satin long sleeved dress has a wide band of Persian lamb around the lower edge to match the stunning Russian style coat. A wide woven braid belt buttons the flared coat snugly at the waistline. Black antelope bag and black doeskin slip-on gloves complete the costume.

Bone Apron of Tibetan Lama Shown at Museum

Among the curiosities from mysterious Tibet, on exhibition at the Field Museum of Natural History, is a rare ceremonial apron of bone, used in the sacred rites of the Tibetan lamas for exorcising demons. Preserved in the Tibetan temples for centuries and seldom obtained for museum exhibition, the bone aprons are made from human thigh bones and are intricately carved with the figures of Tibetan deities and inscriptions.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

PARTENKIRCHEN, Bavaria.—It is late Sunday afternoon. The streets are filled with youths in lether shorts, gayly embroidered suspenders, and Alpine hats, and with maidens in flowered peasant dresses and white aprons. Every house has its pink and blue and scarlet painted fresco, and its balcony, protected by eaves, adorned with geraniums, rosemary, and carnations. The mountains shoulder to the sky above, and beyond the housetops fir-clad heights silhouetted against higher rocky summits streaked with snow. At the end of the street is a faded pink stucco church, adorned with blue frescoes, and on a bench in front of it four natives idle—stalwart mountaineers with bare knees and feathered hats. I feel sure that when dusk has fallen the church and all the other houses that line the street will fold up and go into boxes, the men will be paid off as supes, and go home.

THE view from the summit of the Zugspitze, Germany's highest mountain, revealed the summits of surrounding mountains. Sweeps of snow covered terrain lay below us and far beneath were the villages. We went up by electric cogwheel train, and, after that, an aerial cable car. Beneath us in the glittering sunlight climbers were toiling toward the summit. There were youths stripped to the waist, their packs, fastened at the waist, making fantastic bustles, their bronzed torsos glistening with perspiration. A woman in peasant dress, lagging after a man climber, was finding the last fifty feet of the ascent almost beyond her endurance. The majesty of the mountains, the stupendous engineering job of the ascent by rail in mind, and the toilers up the summit in view, we sat down on the terrace of a restaurant where the railroad stopped and ate excellent kirschkuchen. A sign outside the door pointing the entrance to another door added another effete note. It read "Friseur" [hairdresser].

ONE of the thrills of this town besides the magnificent scenery and the light opera appearance of the houses and the people was an hour spent rummaging in an antique shop. The obliging proprietor unlocked drawers and cupboards, and opened unsuspected rooms, revealing a wealth of antiquities. Old wooden saints and rococo angels, Beidermeier clocks and heavy German gilt mirrors, Dresden and old Meissen, baroque bits of porcelain and strange Kloster pieces, chests, and rococo tables. Finally, encouraged by our interest, he led the way to a third floor, an attic storehouse of treasures. Here there were cupboards of antique peasant costumes and chests of headdresses. In ancient boxes were hats of fish otter on queer antiquated hat stands. There were peasant beds and bureaus, painted with Madonnas and saints and angels.

Rogers Tragedy Has Duplicate in Latin Star

Account of Gardel Crash Is Recalled.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 22.—Strange world, this. Only yesterday Americans finished going through with the tragedy of the death of Will Rogers and Wiley Post. A somewhat parallel situation was revealed yesterday by Rosita Moreno, film star of the Spanish speaking worlds as well as this country.

One of her fans sent her a clipping from a New York publication, issue of July 6. An article on aviation dealt with the deaths of Carlos Gardel, South American theatrical idol, and of Ernesto Samper, known as the Lindbergh of Colombia. They, along with many others, were killed at Olaya Herrara airport outside Medellin, Colombia, when two transport planes crashed in midair.

The article headed thus: "Crash; South Americans Lose Two Idols in Colombian Disaster," and reads: "If Will Rogers had a singing voice that gave young girls romantic ideas; and if he were taking off from Newark airport in a ship piloted by Charles A. Lindbergh and the plane suddenly wheeled and crashed into another, killing the two heroes and thirteen others—then a tragedy that took place last week in Colombia would be duplicated in the United States."

How well people in this country know now what such a disaster meant, except Post's name and not Lindbergh's is found on the scroll.

Press representatives here of Paul Roullen and Conchita Montenegro aver they have received word the couple were married in Paris several days ago. The nuptials were originally scheduled to take place in Brazil, but that is where they will honeymoon. Roullen left here hurriedly three weeks ago for France and Spain to make arrangements to supervise the production of a film, "Jangada," set in a heretofore untouched portion of South America. He will go through with this deal unless another materializes for his appearance in a London made film.

Superstitious to the nth degree is Frank McHugh. In the first place he is Irish. His father and mother are Irish, too, naturally, which makes him only the more touchy on matters of this nature.

Frank had only comfortably settled down to a new dressing room at the Warner studio when he was visited by a person more or less strange to him and to his superstitions. That person started whistling in his dressing room. He moved immediately—for that is sure bad luck to many in the theatrical profession.

William Keighly, directing him in "Stars Over Broadway," heard about the incident. He went and whistled for McHugh. He moved again. Keighly tipped off James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, and Allen Jenkins. They whistled a tune for McHugh. All in all Frank moved his dressing room five times. He saved himself from further annoyance by putting a double lock on his door and a sign, "No visitors, positively."

West Side Women Will Attend Housing Exhibition

Hundreds of west side women will attend a housing show on the ninth floor of Mandel Brothers' store at 12:30 today. The exhibit is sponsored by the Chicago Better Housing bureau. Special guests will be Veloz and Yolanda, dancers. Mrs. Mabel Hanley will preside. Miss Harriet Vittum, head resident of Northwestern Settlement house, will speak. The exhibit will show interiors before and after remodeling and repairing.

Greeks Will Honor Mayor at Celebration

Mayor Edward J. Kelly will be honored by Greeks of Chicago and Illinois on Sunday at the annual picnic and outing of the Greek-American Regular Democratic organization at the Villa Prasinos, Arlington Heights. George Becharas, president of the organization, announced that Sunday will be "Edward J. Kelly Greek day."

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Roosevelt left this morning for New York en route to Chautauqua, where she will speak tomorrow. She will then go to Hyde Park, and if the President makes his contemplated trip west she expects to accompany him.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps here, has returned to his home in England for a vacation trip. Lady Lindsay, who has been visiting in New England for some weeks, is now the guest of Mrs. Bayard Cutting, mother of the late Senator Bronson Cutting, in her summer home at Bar Harbor. Mrs. Cutting and Lady Lindsay are friends from their girlhoods in New York.

Park Concert Program

P. A. Cavallo will conduct his symphonic band in the concert from the band shell in Grant park tonight. The soloists will be Giuseppe Cavadore, tenor; Hazel Sanborn, soprano, and Jeannette van der Velpin, coloratura soprano. The program:

"THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER."

Inferiority Is Barrier to Love and Matrimony

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What should a girl do when she falls in love with a man who is far above her in every way?" Following which query Leone goes on to tell the story of her life.

"I was raised in one of the most unhappy homes imaginable," she reports. "My mother and father always were on the verge of a divorce. I resolved I would wait until I was old enough to make a wise decision. I waited. I passed up several young men and then, at 28, I fell heart and soul for this man whose station in life is away above mine. I felt almost certain he would never be satisfied with me. He was the only brilliant man it was my good fortune ever to meet.

"He was just as much in love with me and would have married me, but I thought I would only spoil his life, so I forced myself to pretend I did not love him. He left the city then and that was four years ago, since which time I cannot forget him, try as I will. I don't know where he is now. I'd rather not find out, but I find I cannot love another."

That was letting an inferiority complex slap opportunity right on the jaw. If the man cared deeply, why not let him decide if the social planes were too far apart? Obviously he did not think so.

Authorities advise marriage of people of like social status. For the great average the rule works out most advantageously. But it happens frequently that a girl from a modest background who finds herself established matrimonially as head of a social household rises through sheer cleverness to be the mistress of every situation.

We think that when a girl marries a man of inferior social level and training the danger of failure is greater than when it is a girl who faces the problem, although heaven knows there are many instances to give the lie to the probability of failure. But the man sets the social pace unless the girl's family name already is well established. However, we cannot see this social difference as a stumbing block where the so-called inferior caste has the native wit, ability, and adaptability common to American people.

It's questionable whether opportunity now can be lured back, but, Leone, we'd make an effort to recall that love and in the interim we'd try to do something about that stupid inferiority attitude of yours.

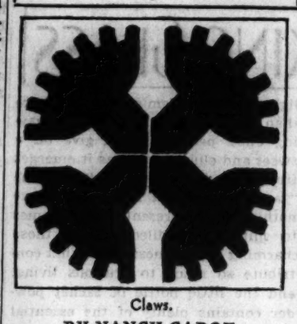
Expressive Title Conveys Concise Beauty of Quilt



Claws.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This applique block has the brief and expressive title of "Claws." It is difficult to visualize the extreme beauty of the finished quilt by just one block. The quilt diagram accompanying the pattern affords a better idea, but the finished quilt with blocks set together as suggested on the diagram is a thing of beauty and joy. Blue, rose, gold, green, or any of the solid colors give the block a certain modern touch, while dainty old fashioned prints, used for the applique patches, create a quaintly charming coverlet in keeping with French provincial furniture.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

"FELT MISERABLE MOST OF THE TIME"

Then Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Checked Her Constipation*

Read Mrs. Marsden's letter: "I have been a subject of constipation* for the last 11 years. I felt miserable and irritable most of the time. My husband is the manager of a chain store. He said 'Why don't you try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN?'

"ALL-BRAN helped me right away. I have taken it now for the past 5 months, and I am as regular as a clock. My health is fine, and I am full of pep."—Mrs. Charles Marsden, 681 Merrick St., Detroit, Mich.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to aid regular habits. It also supplies vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN is more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

William F. Juergens is in charge of the Dartmouth picnic. Among the attractions of the afternoon and evening will be swimming, indoor baseball, beer, steaks, and Mr. Leverone's vegetables.

Baseball and swimming also are on the program at the Onwentsia club where the Williams club will meet. Other events on the field day program will include tennis and golf. The Williams club is considering the question of whether they will invite the ladies to hear the Amherst-Williams football game broadcast in the fall.

Mr. Winston is taking part in some tennis matches to be played at the Skokie club at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He is paired with Allan Wylie, the Indian Hill professional, against Loring Fiske, Skokie professional, and Napier Parlotta, who with William Croker beat Charles Garland and Bill Hinchliffe last Sunday at the Onwentsia. Another match Sunday afternoon will be between Miss Marion Hammond, of the Indian Hill club team, and Miss Kitty Lawrence, the 15 year old Barrington Hills club champion. Another singles match will be between Mrs. Dorothy Weisel Hack and Mrs. Eugenie Sampson Kamrath, Chicago city champion. Afterward Mrs. Hack will pair with Mr. Fiske against Mrs. Kamrath and her husband, Karl Kamrath, doubles titleholder of Illinois.

Mr. Winston's parents will be on the sidelines for his match Sunday afternoon accompanied by their guest, Shaun Wylie, son of Sir Francis and Lady Wylie, provided he still is visiting them. Mr. Wylie, whose father has been secretary of the Rhodes Foundation since 1903, arrived yesterday. Mr. Winston Sr. was a Rhodes scholar and became a friend of Sir Francis when he was studying at Oxford.

Miss Virginia Winston has gone to Les Cheneaux, to visit the Sewell Averys and their daughter, Miss Nancy Avery, and will not return for two or three weeks.

The Skokie club has planned a "Lido of Venice" party tomorrow night at which part of the entertainment will be singing gondoliers and Venetian entertainers.

Unusual Golf Party for Evanston Club.

The grounds of the Evanston Golf club will present some strange sights next Wednesday. In fact, it may appear on that day that the club is no longer a club but a circus. For its women members, the club is staging a costume frolic, and there will be a race among the golfers to see who will look the funniest!

There are to be many prizes both for costumes and scores. The latter will depend on more than ordinary golfing skill for the first hole, for instance, which will be called the "South Paw," must be played with the left hand. The "cub hole" will have to be played with a baseball bat, and the "Dixie" hole will have to be shot by players sitting in rocking chairs.

The golf events of the morning are to be followed by a luncheon. Mrs. Ferdinand Bunte, chairman of the golf events at the club this summer, Mrs. Gerhardt Meyne, chairman of the frolic, Mrs. Cecil Dixon, Mrs. John Taylor, the former club champion, and Mrs. Ralph Metzel, the new club champion, are some of those who will take part.

The Evanston Golf club will also be festive this Saturday, for it is having a buffet dinner-dance.

Jean Armstrong at Minneapolis.

Miss Jean Armstrong left yesterday with her father, Horace W. Armstrong, for Minneapolis, where she will be one of the participants in the women's national golf tournament. They will be gone about ten days, making several stops on their way back.

Miss Armstrong's brother and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Armstrong, are expected in Chicago Aug. 30 to visit his parents.

The debutante daughter of the family, Miss Mary Armstrong, is expected home from the H. F. Bar ranch in Wyoming today. Miss Jean returned from there last week.

At the end of another month Chicago will be welcoming a bride, the wife of George P. Braun, who is being married today in Pittsburgh. Mr. Braun, who is a son of Mrs. William M. Scudder, and his bride, Sarah Davis, will make their home here after a European honeymoon. Mrs. John J. Schreiner, the former Mary MacCaughey, is in Pittsburgh to act as matron of honor for Miss Davis, and Miss Virginia Emert has gone east to act as a bridesmaid. Mr. Schreiner and Mr. and Mrs. Scudder all are in Pittsburgh for the ceremony.

The wedding of Miss Dorothy Makepeace, daughter of Charles Denison Makepeace of Stamford, Conn., to Donovan Hall, son of Mrs. Agnes Hall and H. Millard Hall of Chicago, will take place Sept. 5 in Stamford, Conn. Previously the wedding was announced for Aug. 15. Mr. Hall and his bride will live in Marion, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Creighton Mitchell [Frances Canfield], who were married on Aug. 10, have taken an apartment at the Park Dearborn hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift and Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt D. Barnes Jr. [Katrina McCormick] will be among the guests at the Toscanini-Vienna Philharmonic symphony concert Sunday afternoon in Salzburg, Germany. This concert will come over the air here Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Paul D. Cravath, chairman of the New York Metropolitan Opera board, who is well known in Chicago, and Mrs. Vincent Astor, are others who will hear the concert. Mr. Toscanini will conduct Mendelssohn's little known work the "Reformation Symphony" and two other miniature works, Rossini's overture "Scala di Seta" and Wagner's "Siegfried Idyl." The broadcast is a highlight of the Salzburg Music festival.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Langdon Hubbard of Grosse Pointe, Mich., announce the birth of a daughter on Tuesday at the Women's hospital in Detroit. Mrs. Hubbard is the former Emily Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Scott of Hubbard Woods. The baby is her third child.

Paneled Dress for Home Wear

WOMAN'S DRESS.

Here is a decidedly good looking dress to wear at home. The interesting panel down the front gives length and also is slenderizing. It gives opportunity for smart fabric and color combinations, or for using the material on the bias, an effect always pleasing in checks or plaids. Printed percales and woolly types of cottons are excellent mediums for this easily made dress.

The pattern, No. 2977, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with 1⅛ yards of 35 inch contrasting.

Eyes Deserve Care to Guard Against Strain

Lighting and Cleanliness of Utmost Importance.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

For every person whose eyes have suffered from sand or snow blindness, thousands, even millions, we are told, have injured their eyes by habitually using them for close work in dim light.

Consciously or not, we are further informed, we are putting our eyes to test every moment they are open. So the light in which the eyes are put to the test is vitally important. Eye safety demands that you check the size of the light bulbs in the lamps used in the home for reading, studying, writing, sewing, and other activities requiring close eye work. To obtain better light from floor lamps, table lamps, and desk lamps, our eye saving adviser suggests:

In a one socket lamp use a 100 watt bulb.

In a two socket lamp use two 60 watt bulbs.

In a three socket lamp use three 40 watt bulbs.

Lighting must be balanced, too. Light that shines into the eyes or that reflects from a table or desk and dazzles the eyes is harmful. The light ought to come over the left shoulder for right-handed people, over the right shoulder for left-handed people. Then it does not make troublesome shadows. Children often hold their books needlessly close to the eyes, and if this habit continues, eye strain may result.

The authority stresses the importance of cleanly removal of flying dust, splinters, bits of steel, and other fine particles. Prompt, cleanly removal is the thing. Rubbing the eyeball usually makes matters worse and touching it with anything rough or anything that is not clean is dangerous. Go to a physician or a dispensary if the foreign body does not come out within a few minutes.

Some eye diseases are communicable, we are told. They are spread from one person to another by carelessness. To escape eye disease it is essential that the eye should be touched only with things that are clean. Never touch the eyes with dirty hands, a dirty wash cloth, a dirty towel, or a dirty handkerchief. And never rub the eyes, we are cautioned.

The common kinds of eye trouble that usually lend themselves to correction by the proper fitting and using of glasses are: Farsightedness, nearsightedness, astigmatism, and presbyopia [lessening of accommodation]. Evidence of the presence of these optical defects are blurred vision, headache, eyeaches, digestive disturbances, and many other symptoms both local and general.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

ALTERNATE CONTRACT.

The following hand came up in a recent duplicate game. East and West got to a number of various game contracts and I am glad to state that in most cases they were successful. To pluck at random from my files, here are two examples of noteworthy declarer play:

NORTH
♠ Q-8-4-2
♥ Q-6-5-3
♦ Q-6

WEST
♠ A-K-9-6-5
♦ A-10-7-3
♣ Q-3-2

EAST
♠ 10-7
♥ A-J-10-9-8
♦ K-8

SOUTH
♠ J-3
♥ K-7-4
♦ J-9-5-4-2
♣ 10-7-5

The bidding:

SOUTH	WEST	NORTH	EAST
Pass	1 Sp.	Pass	2 Ht.
Pass	2 Sp.	Pass	2 N. T.
Pass	3 N. T.	Pass	Pass

South opened a low diamond. The declarer went right up with the ace on the board and played a heart, finessing the eight spot. Winning with the king, South confidently played back another diamond. It was taken by the king and a low club led. The queen forced the ace. North shot back another club, which East took with the king. A third club put North right back in again.

Here was where North made his mistake. He argued that East could never pick up his queen of hearts, so what was the harm in leading a heart? He showed an unexpected diffidence in attacking spades. East, naturally, took the free heart finesse. When the nine of clubs was played North found that he was squeezed. A spade discard would put him in an end play, whereby he would be forced to lead another heart eventually. A heart discard would set up all of East's tricks in the suit.

At another table West was the declarer at four spades. North opened the three of hearts. During any play by either East or West North is constantly the great American Patsy. After enough clubs and diamonds and what not had been played, North found that he was not only forced to lead trumps, but forced to lead them into the king, nine from his queen, eight. This was the play:

NORTH	EAST	SOUTH	WEST
♥ 3	•♥ A	♥ 4	♥ 2
•♣ A	♣ 4	♣ 5	♣ Q
♦ Q	•♦ K	♦ 2	♦ 3
♥ 5	♥ 8	♥ 7	•♠ 5

Bishop Sheil Urges Aid for Young Girls

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Young girls are more in need of sympathetic direction and guidance today than ever before, the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, told 1,000 Daughters of Isabella gathered for dinner last night in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house.

The dinner was the windup of the four day national convention of the order attended by delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada. In addressing the assembly Bishop Sheil made an appeal for a more intense program of child direction and at the same time praised the group for its work the last few years.

"You have a definite obligation today," said Bishop Sheil. "Young girls need the same and even more direction than boys. They have dreams, aspirations, ambitions. What they need is a hand of sympathy, guidance, and kindness. It makes no difference whether a child is surrounded by the normal things of life or deprived of the ordinary things of life. One can be of help to the other."

In reviewing the work of the order the last year Mrs. Minerva C. Boyd of Chicago announced the payment of $20,000 towards a $100,000 pledge for a fellowship foundation in the National Catholic School of Social Service at Washington and an additional fund for three scholarships in the school. Yesterday Mrs. Boyd was elected without opposition to a fourth term as national regent.

The Daughters of Isabella now are established in 25 states and three Canadian provinces, according to Mrs. Boyd.

Sally's Guests Enjoy Shirley in 'Curly Top'

Stage Show Another Treat for Children.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Did we have fun at the Chicago theater yesterday!

The house was filled with admirers of young Shirley Temple, but the management had been kind enough to set aside some seats for us, so my 100 small guests were all comfortably placed when the film started. They were completely enraptured with "Curly Top" and seemed to enjoy particularly the little miss' antics in the orphan asylum. Such mischievous giggling when Shirley brought her pony into the dormitory! Heads bobbed in time to the music of "Animal Crackers in My Soup" and "When I Grow Up," and I'm sure these songs will be heard in a hundred different keys within the next few days.

After we were sure that little Elizabeth would "live happy ever after"—we were able to give our attention to the stage show, which was a splendid one for children. I think the kids got the biggest kick out of the three dancing elephants. They were certainly marvelously well trained by Adele Nelson, and each of the three lumbering dancers had bright pink toe nails, which caused a great deal of whispering. The tiny midget couple, Olive and George, were like two animated dolls. We thought Willie and Joe Mandell very funny, and loved the tap dancing done by Pete, Peaches, and Duke.

The orchestra music, the colorful ballet, the glittering curtain—all were a delight, and to a good many of the youngsters who'd never seen a large show before, a revelation.

If you'd like to give your children a treat, let 'em see "Curly Top,"—because judging from the happiness it gave to 50 boys and 50 girls yesterday, I am positive it will be well worth your time and trouble.

Atmosphere of Home Affects Young Manners

Example Least Painful Way to Teach Etiquet.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Parents don't care about manners any more," is an accusation often leveled at the mothers and fathers of today. Undoubtedly for ages each generation of elders has hurled the same complaint at its youngsters, with just about the same amount of truth in it. Some archæologist alleges to have found recently a parallel for this same sort of comparison with the good old days, in ancient records or in stone cut hieroglyph.

Personally, over a period of years, I haven't seen any conspicuous lack of manners among children or older boys and girls. It would assuredly be unreasonable of us to expect formalities and flourishes in an age of informality, casualness, and an increased tempo of living.

Parents do care about manners—and often want advice in getting the degree of mannerliness they desire in their children.

The two most important factors in realizing this aim are the general atmosphere of the home, and the example of a child's associates. Manners can be acquired almost painlessly if children see them in force in ordinary daily life. If, in addition, their association is with young people who practice the courtesies, example has additional force. I'm talking now chiefly of the older boys and girls, since they are the ones who have been the subject of recent letters I have received.

We have to admit that manners vary in different homes, depending upon the formality [or lack of it] with which one lives, and also upon what individual parents consider mannerliness to be. Some men always seat their wives at dinner and expect a similar courtesy of their sons, regardless of whether there are guests or not, maids or not. In other families this would be an unnecessary attention, but thoughtfulness of another sort would be expected.

Example is not sufficient, however. Reminders and suggestions often have to point up the lesson.

Manners for children are desirable but standards not invariable is a point which writers on etiquet often overlook.

The whole matter will have to be made the subject of a Sunday article, to be discussed thoroughly.

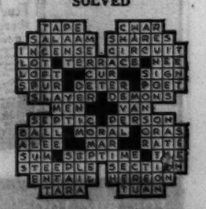
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



Faded Clothes A Tragedy until . . .

NEVER MIND, DEAR—YOUR TEACHER WILL LET YOU SPEAK A PIECE NEXT TIME
BUT BETTY ALWAYS GETS CHOSEN—AND IT'S 'CAUSE SHE HAS PRETTIER CLOTHES
JANE IS SO FUSSY ABOUT CLOTHES—AND YET SHE'S SO HARD ON THEM—HER DRESSES GET WORN AND FADED IN NO TIME!
ARE YOU SURE IT'S JANE—OR THAT CHEAP SOAP YOU USE
BACK TO AMERICAN FAMILY, EH MRS. GREEN?
I CAN'T AFFORD THAT CHEAP KIND—MAKES ME RUB TOO HARD—RUINS MY CLOTHES
THROUGH—BY 10 O'CLOCK! THAT'S WHAT THESE DOUBLE SUDS DO FOR YOU—AND I KNOW MY CLOTHES ARE SAFE, TOO —AND TEACHER SAID TO WEAR MY BLUE LINEN DRESS FOR THE PLAY—
WELL, IT'S OLD BUT STILL BRIGHT AS NEW—NOT WORN A SPECK—THANKS TO AMERICAN FAMILY
IT'S CHEAPER TO BUY GOOD SOAP THAN

"I CAN'T AFFORD TO USE CHEAP SOAP"

says Mrs. G. W. Blomquist
10989 Church St., Chicago

"I didn't know there could be such a difference in soaps until I tried to save a few pennies by buying a cheaper brand. All too soon I saw a change in my things! Colors grew dim, rents and rips appeared. Of course I went back to American Family. Now all the pennies in the world couldn't get me to change!"

You see, American Family Soap is made with an extra-amount of pure suds-making material. The one brand specially created for this hard lake water! Results are startling. You get double-suds, that act double-quick, in tub or machine. They're richer, purer suds, too. Float out dirt without hard rubbing. Keep colors fresher, fabrics far newer. No wonder Chicago women buy more American Family than any other brand. Try American Family Soap yourself next washday. See how it saves clothes, saves time, saves work! You'll be glad you did.

HINT JAPAN WILL MODIFY DEMAND FOR NAVY PARITY

Hipponese Restate 'Basic Principles.'

TOKIO, Aug. 22.—(AP)—A vigorous restatement of Japan's naval limitation policy, soon to be handed to the Britist government, may indicate, newspapers said today, the possibility Japan will recede from her demand for absolute parity with Great Britain and the United States.

The papers indicated, however, that Japan wil insist on a common upper limit on tonnage for all naval powers, as a matter of principle.

Koki Hirota, foreign minister, has directed the Japanese charge d'affaires in London, Keinosuke Fujii, to deliver Japan's new "observations."

Have Emperor's Sanction.

These were reported to have received the approval of the full cabinet on Aug. 21 and to have been given the emperor's sanction.

Official confirmation was lacking. A fereign office spokesman refused either to confirm or deny the newspaper accounts.

It was learned officially, however, that Britain's recent communication to other Washington treaty signatories [the United States, France, and Italy] was not actually an invitation to a conference, but was in effect an invitation to each government to state its views on naval disarmament problems.

Restates Basic Principles.

The Japanese government therefore decided the time was ripe to restate its "basic principles." Officially it was said these are unchanged since preliminary naval talks in London last December—namely: a common upper tonnage limit, abolition of ratios and drastic tonnage reduction.

The newspaper Asahi said Japan's observation's are substantially as follows:

1. Japan insists inflexibly upon the common upper limit principle. If the other powers do not accept this further discussion of naval limitation is useless and Japan will not attend a conference.

2. However, if the other powers agree to include a statement of that principle in their declarations Japan would not object to consideration of an agreement whereby each power would unilaterally declare a six year building program beginning in 1937 within the scope of such a common upper limit as may be agreed upon.

Await U. S. Attitude.

Newspapers said there were strong indications, for which support was found recently in high official quarters, that Japan is willing to depart somewhat from strict parity.

The Rengo [Japanese] News agency said officials were anxiously awaiting indications of the United States government's attitude. It is feared, Rengo continued, that the United States will not accept Japan's common upper limit principle.

U. S. SEA POWER ON SHOW TODAY BEFORE CHILDREN

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Ninety-seven warships and 416 naval planes rehersed off the southern California coast today for the largest sky and sea parade ever staged by the navy—to be held tomorrow in honor of the school children of America.

Ten thousand children have been invited to witness the pageant from the army fortifications at Point Loma here.

Entry of the United States fleet into San Diego waters tomorrow will mark conclusion of one of maneuvers under way since the last week of March.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST

The official forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

MUNJAS ELECTED CAPTAIN OF COLLEGE ALL-STARS

QUARTER BACK OF PITTSBURGH BEATS 3 OTHERS

Thanks Teammates at Luncheon.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Miller Munjas, University of Pittsburgh quarter back, is the captain of the All-American football team which meets the Chicago Bears Thursday night at Soldiers' field. Munjas was elected yesterday morning.

MILLER MUNJAS.

By this choice, which was contested on the final ballot by Jim Barber of San Francisco, Don Hutson of Alabama, and Ray Fuqua of Southern Methodist, Munjas succeeds to the honor shared last year by Ed Krause of Notre Dame and George Sauer of Nebraska.

Munjas, as quarter back, a position he will share with Joe Salatino, Irving Kupcinet, and Jack Beynon, is strategically placed. His ability as a blocker, rather than a ball carrier, gives him opportunity to direct others without criticism. He also is an excellent kicker. Thus Munjas has the requirements for quarter back in the Notre Dame system of attack.

Honor Student At Pitt.

Munjas was graduated last spring from Pittsburgh as an honor student in the school of business administration. He is married and is now employed by a rubber company at Akron, O.

"I am highly honored," Munjas told his teammates yesterday when the All-Americans and their coaches were guests at the Inter-fraternity club of Chicago luncheon. Then, turning to the club members, Munjas added: "This is a splendid group of players. Our hope is that we can defeat the Bears."

Good natured badinage, masking serious purpose in the approaching game, punctuated the remarks of the All-American coaches at yesterday's luncheon. Edward [Slip] Madigan, Charley Bachman, and Dr. C. W. Spears joined in disparaging remarks concerning their efforts to build an offense to penetrate the Bears' line and a defense to stop the professionals. It was all in fun and thoroughly enjoyed, but no one was fooled by the raillery.

Will Know Their Plays.

"The All-Americans won't have 118 plays," one of the coaches remarked yesterday, referring to the report from Wisconsin that the Bears have mastered that many plays in a week and a half, "but the boys will know the ones they have."

Coach A. A. Stagg of the College of the Pacific, who was a guest at yesterday's luncheon, stressed the point that the players must learn their assignments. Thus, from every side the players have been told the importance of memorizing their attack. For proof that they have made excellent progress last night's scrimmage as well as the thorough drill Wednesday evening is offered. From now on the coaches indicate that only one practice will be held each day.

BEARS CUT DOWN ON HARD DRILLS AS PLAYERS TIRE

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 22.—Complaints of fatigue, following eleven days of intensive drill, resulted in a slowing up of preparations for the All-Star game in the Chicago Bears camp today. Coach George Halas limited work in the morning to a long signal drill and a short session on the tackling dummy and then cut the afternoon practice to a lecture and dummy scrimmage.

Halas would rather take a well conditioned group of athletes into Soldiers' field next Thursday than a squad well drilled but overtrained. Therefore he plans on limiting practice to one session daily after tomorrow night's regulation game between the veterans and new men at Hartel's field in Waukesha, Wis., although much work remains to be done.

Take Up Defense Tomorrow.

The defense, which has been ignored entirely, will be taken up on Saturday and a scrimmage will be held on Sunday or Monday. Thereafter the squad will taper off, breaking camp here at St. John's Military academy on Wednesday noon and motoring to Chicago, where a limbering up drill will be held on Soldiers' field on Wednesday night.

Division of the squad today revealed that Gene Ronzani, regular right half back; Bill Karr, regular right end; Fred Crawford, rookie end, and possibly Bronko Nagurski, full back, will not participate in the Waukesha game. Karr is recovering from an infection which developed after the nail had been ripped from his right thumb in scrimmage last Sunday and Ronzani is nursing a leg injury which has kept him out of a suit for a week. Crawford also has an injured leg. Nagurski is handicapped by bruises, and, although he is able to play, Halas does not want to chance further injury to the crashing full back, on whom much of the Bears' attack depends.

Franklin Takes Nagurski's Place.

Nagurski's place on the White team will be taken by Paul Franklin. Jack Manders, Nagurski's regular relief, will play with the Orange eleven. He will be the only member of last year's squad on the freshman team. Halas placed him with the new men to bring about better balance between the combinations. Manders' play has been one of the bright spots of the training period. The big place kicking star has exhibited a determination that was lacking in his efforts last year. He appears to have mas-

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

AMONG the pitchers who have been heaping grief on the struggling White Sox the last few weeks is Lefty Grove, one of those sport rarities, a man who came back. . . . Fans had about given up hope for Grove after his miserable showing last year. . . . But here he is again, using that long left arm with telling effect. . . . He whipped the White Sox in his last visit to Comiskey park for his fifteenth victory of the year, and later rang up No. 16 at the expense of Rogers Hornsby's Browns. . . . Grove's return to form revives an old argument that cropped up continually when he was turning in victory after victory for Connie Mack's championship teams. . . . Is he a greater left hander than Rube Waddell? . . . Conditions now, compared with those of Waddell's time, are so changed a fair comparison is almost impossible. . . . Waddell's greatest years were the six he spent with Mack. . . . Grove was with the Athletics nine years. . . . As a medium of comparison let's take Waddell's record as an Athletic and the six leading years of Grove's career. . . . Waddell worked in 211 games, Grove in 182. . . . Waddell faced 6,636 hitters, Grove 6,187. . . . Waddell yielded 1,485 hits in 211 games and Grove 1,506 in 182. . . . Opposing teams scored 579 runs off Waddell and 598 off Grove. . . . Summarized, we find opponents hitting .224 against Waddell and .243 against Grove, who had to hurl the lively ball. . . . Waddell won 130 games and lost 81, while Grove won 133 and lost only 49. . . . Waddell struck out 1,564, an average of 7.41 per game, and Grove fanned 1,089, an average of 6 a game. . . . Waddell hurled 41 shutouts and Grove only 11 in the six year span. . . . Well, what do you think? . . . No matter which you pick as the greater, I can name you sixteen managers who would be very happy to have the other. . . .

Jack Dempsey says Joe Louis should have his chance at the heavyweight title, and he predicts that if he wins the championship it would be the best thing that could possibly happen to boxing. . . . Stanford has a pole vaulter named Ginn, and the most promising half back from last year's freshman squad is Tom Collins. . . . Jim Mooney, new Bear end, is a regular member of the New York Central police force and plays football on a leave of absence. . . . Members of the White Sox who have played night ball include Pitchers Whitehead, Kennedy, Tietje, Phelps, Salveson, and Wyatt; Infielders Bonura, Piet, and Hopkins, and Outfielders Radcliff and Washington. . . . Bob Haak, Central A. A. U. heavyweight wrestling champion, who won the state title for Hammond High school last spring, will enter Indiana university this fall. . . .

Babe Ruth, who drives a golf ball about as well as he hits a baseball, recently played Lawson Little. . . . Babe, who found himself short about 20 yards on each hole, said: "That boy Little drives like a blast of dynamite. . . . Mae West has a new chauffeur, Chalky Wright, a colored boxer, and is he proud. . . . Fred Snodgrass, former Giant outfielder, is in the oil business in Oxnard, Cal. . . . Gene Ronzani, Bear half back who will be in the starting lineup against the College All-Americans at Soldiers' field Thursday night, returned a punt 2 yards for a touchdown against Drake while playing for Marquette. . . . Taffy Abel, giant defense man, will not return to the Blackhawks this year. . . . Chet Gould, Dick Tracy cartoonist, forgets about detective thrillers by fishing for bass in Lake Geneva.

Ten Years Ago Today—More than 100,000 saw THE TRIBUNE'S fourth annual regatta at Lincoln park. . . . Home runs by Al Simmons and Bing Miller enabled the Athletics to defeat the White Sox, 3 to 0, before 40,000.

MIKEL RACES 2 HORSES UNDER WRIT PROTECTION

BY FRENCH LANE.

The gigantic issue of how old is the plug My Bane reached a new high at Lincoln Fields yesterday when his owner, John D. Mikel, a turf outcast since Aug. 15, when he was ruled off by the board of stewards for alleged "fraudulent practices," did everything the stewards at that time said he could not do.

He saddled and raced one of his own horses, saddled and raced another for his father, William A. Mikel, and, in the paddock, actually rubbed elbows with the very stewards who had ruled against him.

This was all done under the protection of a temporary injunction aimed at the stewards and the jocky club issued in Superior court by Judge Peter H. Schwaba.

The Mikel horses didn't do so well in their races. Culloden finished sixth in the mile and a sixteenth seventh race. His Dancing Boy was ninth in the eighth race. Still they raced, and raced under Mikel's direction.

Well, How Far Is Up?

There was no comment made by the commissioners or the stewards over Mikel's appearance at the track. This unprecedented situation has come out of the simple disagreement of "How old is the horse My Bane?" Is he two or three years old and how are you going to prove it? Is it possible to determine accurately the age of a horse by an examination of his teeth and mouth?

The board of stewards and members of the Illinois racing commission say "yes." They sent their own veterinarian, G. B. McKillip, assisted by Dr. Southard, to examine My Bane's mouth and teeth and the two reported he was a 3 year old.

My Bane on that day had been entered and had run in a race fashioned exclusively for 2 year olds.

Since then Owner Mikel has had a half dozen veterinarians examine My Bane's teeth and mouth. They are just as firmly convinced that he is a 2 year old.

This Is Getting Involved.

The Illinois commission also had heard that the colt Billy Bane, bred by Mikel, but now owned by an easterner, was another 3 year old sailing under false colors. The commission sent McKillip to the Saratoga Springs track in New York last week to examine the colt. McKillip made the examination and reported back to the Illinois commission that Billy Bane, too, was a 3 year old. He has been

Senators Hand White Sox Second Straight Defeat, 7-4

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox for the second successive afternoon yesterday failed in an attempt to demonstrate they can defeat the seventh place Washington Senators without pitching, hitting or base running. Yesterday the lowly visitors bowled them over, 7 to 4, practically the only cause for Chicago cheering being Al Simmons' No. 12 homer in the first inning.

About the only improvement the White Sox showed over their losing performance in Wednesday's opener was in the matter of pitching. On Wednesday, Phelps, Tietje, and Wyatt yielded 18 hits but yesterday Sam Jones, and John Salveson, back after a day's rest from his complete game Tuesday, pinched off the Senators with 15 hits. The Sox made eight hits, six of them in the last three innings.

Strikeouts End Four Innings.

The continued lack of punch among the Sox valiants was emphasized by the fact that strikeouts ended four of the innings, twice on called strikes. Manager Dykes supplied two of the seven Chicago strikeouts, being called out with his bat on his shoulder with one runner on base in the first inning and in the seventh was the third whiff victim of the inning, fanning with the bases full, and the tying run on third.

Simmons gave each team a run in the first inning and in as much as the Washingtons also made a run without Al's help the visitors came out of the inning with a 2 to 1 lead. Kuhel opened the game with a double to center, went to third on Miles' tap to Dykes and scored on Myer's fly to Conlan. Manush walked and went to third on Travis' single to center. When Simmons fumbled the ball Manush scored and Travis went to second. Appling threw out Powell.

After Strange had thrown out Radcliff at the start of the Sox half of

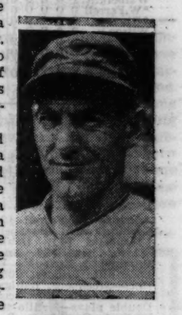
ENGLISH'S PINCH SINGLE DRIVES IN WINNING RUN

Chicago Hits 2 Home Runs, New York 3.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—Woody English, the bench warming captain of the Cubs, came through in a pinch today. Summoned into action as part of a battle of wits between managers in the 11th inning, he singled and drove in a run that lifted the third place Chicagoans to a 4 to 3 victory in the opener of the series with the pacemaking Giants. The result elevated the Cubs to three games from the top and half a game away from the second place Cardinals.



WOODY ENGLISH.

The Giants, always tough on their own grounds, twice came charging up from behind to delay Lon Warneke in the attaining of his fourteenth victory of the campaign. Once they used homers to erase a two run lead picked up by Billy Herman's No. 6 homer with one on base while Carl Hubbell was pitching. Another homer, Gabby Hartnett's eleventh of the season, put the Cubs back in front by one run and Warneke held it until the ninth. Then with two out Mel Ott, who had hit one of the previous round trippers, hit another and the battle went into extra innings. Ott's two circuit drives gave him a season's total of 27.

Wild Pitch Helps.

After a delay of twenty minutes because of rain as the tenth inning was completed the Cubs made their winning start in the eleventh when Allyn Stout, who had replaced Hubbell, walked Demaree. In this crisis Cavarretta fanned and Lindstrom flied to Moore. While Jurges was at bat Stout cut loose with a wild pitch that moved Demaree to second, so the Giants decided to pass Jurges and take a chance on Warneke.

The deep strategy then got under way. Warneke was tiring so Charley Grimm excused him and sent up Jim O'Dea to do the hitting. O'Dea swings from the port side, so Bill Terry yanked Stout and called in Al Smith, the lefty. Grimm countered by recalling O'Dea and substituting English.

A moment later English lined his needed single over short and Demaree tore in with the deciding run. Moore, in his haste, kicked the ball, so Jurges tried to follow Demaree across the plate. He was nailed on Jackson's relay to Mancuso. All that then remained was for Charley Root to come in and keep the Giants from going places in their half.

Herman Tunes Up.

Herman, who a bit later was to cause Hubbell some trouble with a homer, tuned up in the first inning with a single. He hit it past Koenig with one out, but the next two men developed a foul ball complex. Both Stainback and Hartnett popped out that way, the former to Jackson and the latter to Mancuso. The Giants also made a hit in their half. Jackson singled to center after Moore had opened with a fly to Herman. Terry fanned and Jackson was dou-

RED SOX RALLY IN 8TH DEFEATS TIGERS, 10 TO 9

Boston Pounds 3 Pitchers for Six Runs.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox rallied to whip the league leading Detroit Tigers today and regain third place in the American league standing with a 10 to 9 victory.

A six run outburst in the eighth inning gave Boston the game after it had lost an earlier lead. Dib Williams opened the inning with a home run and Babe Dahlgren followed with a double. Tommy Bridges then was removed for Elon Hogsett. A hit, a walk and an error routed the chief and Elden Auker was hammered for three more hits before he retired the side. Hank Greenberg slammed out his 33d home run in the first inning.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A pitching duel that was one of the best of the season resulted in a 1 to 0 victory for the Philadelphia Athletics in the third game of their series with the Cleveland Indians today. Bill Dietrich held the Indians to six hits, while Thornton Lee, Cleveland hurler, was touched for seven.

Play was halted briefly in the first inning as spectators paid silent tribute to Will Rogers.

REDS TO CLAIM FORFEIT IF PHILS REFUSE TO PLAY

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The Enquirer, in a dispatch from Philadelphia, quotes Larry Mac Phail, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, in protest against a proposed doubleheader there Saturday as saying he instructed Manager Dressen to have the team at the field tomorrow, and if the Phillies fail to appear the Reds will claim the game by forfeit and make a case of it before directors of the National league.

He said the club's executives had not been advised of the change and added that postponement of the game "without consultation with business heads of the club" violated rules of the league.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES: Dinner Cools While Pat Burns

Cubs Win in Tenth from Giants, 4 to 3

bled trying to steal second on the third strike.

The Cubs fell over in order in the second, and what might have been an opening for the Giants in their half was closed by a piece of foolhardy base runnig. Ott led off with a safe drive to left, but underestimated Galan's throwing skill and was nailed trying to reach second. This was followed by easy infield outs on taps off the bats of Koenig and Leiber. And the retirement of Giants without a break continued through the third and fourth.

Cubs Score Pair.

The little matter of getting a two run jump on Hubbell in the third got under way when Jurges bounced a double off the right center field wall. Warneke sacrificed him to third, and Hubbell appeared well on the way out of the difficulty when Galan lifted a foul that Mancuso grabbed back of the plate. But Herman tossed in the needed ingredient. The first pitch to him was wide. Hubbell tried to breeze the next one across. Instead of getting past it sailed into the upper left field deck, propelled by Herman's bat. Jurges preceded him across the plate, and the Cubs were two runs to the good. Stainback closed the inning by fanning.

The break in Warneke's string came on his first pitch to Ott in the fifth. The tiny Louisianan whacked it into the upper right field stand for his 26th homer of the season. Herman dashed back on the grass and made a one handed stop to rob Koenig of a hit. Leiber was erased on a fly to Demaree. Then Mancuso nailed his No. 5 homer against the facing of the upper deck in left, tying the score at 2 apiece. Bartell ended the inning with a foul to Hartnett.

Hartnett had two strikes against him in the seventh when he led off with the homer that put the Cubs one to the good. The ball arched onto the roof in left and came down inside the foul line by a matter of inches. When Demaree followed with a single to left, it looked as if the Cubs were only starting to whittle down the tall southpaw, but nothing occurred except excitement. Cavarretta tried to sacrifice, but fouled to Jackson. Lindstrom lined a single over Koenig. Then Jurges, with rain coming down and the fans howling for the umpires to call the game, rolled to Bartell and a double play was perpetrated.

Warneke had his troubles in the home seventh. After Terry had been thrown out by Jurges, Ott singled to center for his third hit. Galan took Koenig's fly and Leiber beat out a hit to Lindstrom. The threat passed on when Mancuso flied to Galan.

Waste Two Hits.

The Cubs added two more hits to their total in the eighth, but both came after two were out. Herman singled through short and Stainback beat out a hit on which Bartell made a great stop. Hartnett followed with a lazy fly into Ott's hands. The Giants' portion of the inning was marked by one hit. Moore singled to center with two out and Hartnett's rifle-like arm cut him down when he attempted to steal second.

Stout set down the Cubs without a miss in the ninth and Warneke then tried to do the same to the Giants. He got by Jackson and Terry all right with the aid of Galan's long sprint to catch the latter's treacherous drive. Then Ott broke loose again. He took a strike on Warneke's first pitch and lined the next into the second story of right field for homer 27, tying the score.

Homers Help Reds Defeat Phils, 9 to 1

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Al Hollingsworth held the Phillies to three hits today as the Reds pounded out a 9 to 1 victory. Three home runs carried the visitors to the triumph. In the first inning Babe Herman smashed one over the fence with two men on bases, and in the fourth Kampouris lifted another into the bleachers with one on. Cuyler drove one to the same spot in the fifth.

SCHOMMER AND SIMONS WIN IN PARKS TENNIS

New Orleans, La., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Top bracketed winners of today's quarter-final matches in the men's singles division of the national public parks tennis tournament here today were forced to the limit to advance to the semi-finals, while the lower bracket pair won easy contests.

Arnold Simons, Louisville, Ky., won from Ralph McElvenny, Washington, 12-10, 3-6, 6-3, 9-7, to take a place in the semi-finals tomorrow against William Schommer, Minneapolis. Schommer eliminated Dave Gillam, Pasadena, Cal., 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3. Bernard Welsh, Washington, D. C., defending champion, conquered Maurice Bayon, New Orleans, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1, while William Lurie, New York, defeated Ted Drews, St. Louis, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0.

Joseph Turski and Edward Nowak of Buffalo, N. Y., came within a shade of upsetting the champion doubles players, William Schommer and Charles Britzius, Minneapolis, but lost, 6-1, 2-6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3. In the doubles semi-finals tomorrow Schommer and Britzius will meet William Hughes and Cecil Metz, Memphis, Tenn., who won from Max Davidson and Trevor Weis, Chicago, 8-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1. Barnard Welsh and Ralph McElvenny will meet Roswell Lee and Hudson Hamm, Miami, Fla., in the other doubles semi-final.

Cubs to Pitch French Today in Giant Game

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—Larry [Lefty] French will make an attempt tomorrow to win his second game of the year from the Giants. He will be opposed by Clyde Castleman, who has two victories over the Cubs in as many starts. French was used in two of the games at Philadelphia and warmed a few other times. So he may have his troubles.

President P. K. Wrigley, who trailed the Cubs and did a good job of inspirational work during the last eastern trip, showed up today. He should have appeared sooner, considering the loss of five out of ten games against the Dodgers and Phillies.

Apparently the New York fans, who were out in droves when the Cardinals were here, don't think much of the Cubs as pennant threats. About 6,000 were present today. Threatening weather may have had something to do with it.

Joe Moore, the Giant fly catcher, is in the throes of a terrible slump. Prior to today's game he had gone 17 times without a hit. After three futile attempts against Warneke, he finally singled in the eighth, making his third hit in 30 times at bat.

the inning, Simmons lined his No. 12 homer into the right field stands. Piet was hit by a pitched ball but was forced by Appling. Dykes was called out on strikes.

Jones did right well to get out of the fourth inning with one run scored against his triple ball. Powell led off with a triple to the left field wall and sprinted home on Strange's triple to the center field wall. These two triples apparently riled Mr. Jones for he promptly made Holbrook pop to Dykes then struck out Linke and Kuhel.

Squawk At Third Base Decision.

In the sixth Simmons and Piet walked on nine pitches. Appling bunted to Linke who threw to Travis to force Simmons then Travis threw to Kuhel and Galloping Bill Dinneen called Appling out from a point near third base, the result of shorthandedness on the American league umpiring staf. For some reason the Sox beefed most on the decision at third base which Dinneen apparently saw, and squawked little about the one at first base which Dinneen missed by two or three feet. After the debate closed Piet was on second base whereupon Dykes drove him home with a single to left, the third Chicago hit. Hayes filed to Manush.

With one out in the first half of the seventh inning Conlan came in fast for Linke's fly and the ball went over his head for a double. Kuhel singled to right, and Linke held third after sprawling as he rounded the base. Miles singled to right, Linke scoring and Kuhel taking third. Kuhel scored while Appling was making a nice play to throw out Myer. Manush lined to Simmons.

The Sox made two runs and had the bases full when the inning ended despite the fact that all three outs were strikeouts. Conlan opened the inning with a single to center. Sewell whiffed but as he did so Conlan stole second and reached third on Holbrook's toss into center field. Lyons batted for Jones and was called out with his bat on his shoulder. Radcliff walked, then Simmons singled to right, scoring Conlan and putting Radcliff on third. Piet singled to center, scoring Radcliff and putting Simmons on third. When Appling walked Linke was yanked and Hensiek went in to pitch. He lost little time in fanning Dykes.

Holbrook's Single Scores Travis.

Salveson didn't show much in a pitching way in the eighth, but managed to hold the Senators to one run. Travis opened with a single to right, went to second on Powell's sacrifice and to third while Appling was throwing out Strange. Salveson got two strikes past Holbrook who then singled to center, scoring Travis. Hensiek singled to right, but the inning ended with Kuhel's foul to Dykes.

The Senators socked out three more hits off Salveson in the ninth, but again were held to one run.

Fischer Faces Senators Today for White Sox

Carl Fischer, who held the Senators to one hit in a game last month, this afternoon will try to stop the Washington brutality toward Sox pitching. Bump Hadley, former White Sox right hander, will be out to make it three straight for the aroused Senators.

Al Simmons has been looking more like the Al of old in the last few days. His homer in the first inning yesterday gave him a record of at least one extra base hit in each of his last seven games.

Tom Yawkey, millionaire owner of the Boston Red Sox, saw yesterday's game here.

Most of the thirty-three Senator hits in the last two days have been bona fide socks, but several of them were easy rollers which a more agile second baseman than Jackie Hayes would have gobbled up without an effort.

DIEGEL TAKES LEAD IN HERSHEY GOLF TOURNEY

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Leo Diegel of the Philmont Country club, Philadelphia, carded 68, five under par, to assume a two stroke lead today in the third annual Hershey open golf tournament.

Denny Shute, 1933 British open champion, who represents the Westward-Ho Country club of Chicago, shot 70, the second low score of the day. Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, Va., was third with 71.

Sam Parks Jr., Pittsburgh, Pa., National Open champion, and Ed Dudley, Philadelphia, victor in the first Hershey open in 1933, each scored 73.

Sacramento Wins Right to Enter Legion Finals

Stockton, Cal., Aug. 22—(AP)—Sacramento today won the right to represent the west in the annual American Legion junior little world's series by defeating Tulsa, 14 to 4, in the sectional finals. The winners will go to Gastonia, N. C., for the championship series next week. Score:

Batteries—Keenan and Cross and Brown. Jacobson; Tincup.

IT WEIGHS only a few ounces, but it's worth its weight in gold to fishermen who want to catch fish! Referring, of course, to Bob Becker's popular handbook, "THE FISHERMAN'S GUIDE!" Its 81 pages are filled with hints about fishing—rods, fly-fishing, casting, camping, and habits of fish. Worth far more to any fisherman than the nominal price asked. On sale at the Tribune Advertising & Public Service Offices, One S. Dearborn, and Tribune Tower. Price 25 cents. By mail, 30 cents, postpaid.

Mullen in East to Push New Fight Combine

The fistic pot started bubbling again yesterday and at the end of the day boiled over, disclosing many interesting items, several of which concerned Chicago promoters.

James C. Mullen, co-matchmaker at Chicago Stadium, has gone to New York to look over the eastern boxing situation and attempt to complete an announced plan which would combine the promotional activities of Madison Square Garden, the Stadium, Detroit Olympia, and Boston Garden. James Norris, Chicago grain broker, who controls the Stadium and Olympia, is said to be a stockholder in the New York Garden.

Observers hold that the "real reason" for the contemplated combine is to gain more power with which more successfully to compete with the Twentieth Century Sporting club, rival of the Garden in late years and more recently rival of the Stadium.

During Mullen's absence, his partner, Nate Lewis, completed their card to be held at Mills stadium next Wednesday. Baby Manuel, Tampa featherweight, will clash with George Dixon II., Chicago, and Virgil Bemi, Chicago junior welterweight, will oppose Milt Aron, Dubuque, Ia., at five rounds. A four round bout which will open the show will bring together Al Nettlow and Sam Scoglio at 127 pounds. The ten round headliners have Jimmy Christy matched against Lew Feldman and Lew Massey paired with Holman Williams.

Patrick Henry will box Ernie Kulasik and Sailor Born and Phil Pernice will meet in five round encounters at Western stadium Tuesday. . . . Bobby Pacho, Laddie Tonelli or Art Sykes are possible windup principals.

Tom Kenneally, Catholic Youth organization heavyweight king, and Tony Musto will be opponents in a three round feature bout tonight at Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving park boulevard. Another at this distance involves Pat Heneghan and Danny Villa. Five round contests will bring into action Verne Patterson and Art Brewer, lightweights, and Pete Andrews and Jackie Reed, welterweights.

Billy Celebron came in from Rockford yesterday and sparred several rounds in preparation for his windup encounter against Babe Marino of Los Angeles at Marigold Gardens Monday. Marino will be Celebron's first major opponent. Jackie Sherman, Detroit, and Nestor Bruggman, C. Y. O., will clash for six rounds. Tony Michaels, Madison Square loop gymnasium, faces Joe Wiley and Walter Dale fights Biff Bennett at four rounds.

CHAMBERLIN AND WALSH TRIUMPH IN JUNIOR GOLF

Champion Beats Jamsek at Cog Hill, 2 and 1.

Joe Chamberlin, defending champion, and Bob Walsh, medalist, won their first round matches in the second annual Illinois junior golf tournament at Cog-Hill yesterday. Chamberlin triumphed, 2 and 1, over John Jemsek of the home club in the junior division while Walsh scored a 4 and 3 victory over Alex Kouzmanoff of Joliet.

Walsh led Kouzmanoff, 4 up, at the turn, while Chamberlin had to rally to even his match at the end of nine holes. Two extra hole matches featured yesterday's play. In the junior division Red Fell of Sunset Valley scored a par 5 on the nineteenth hole to down Leonard Moshal of Sunset Ridge.

Chamberlin Meets Bertch.

A birdie 4 resulted in a 1 up decision for Frank Geddes of South Shore over Bob Zitzke of Indian Wood in the senior division. John Coghill of Cog-Hill, one of the leading contenders, lost to John Malysick of La Grange, 3 and 2. Bob Diamond of Westmoreland rallied on the home nine, carding three birdies to defeat Byron Strandberg of Ridge, 3 and 1. Strangberg scored two birdies on the out nine and led 1 up.

Kelly Shoots 79, Tops Field at Bob o' Link

Joe Kelly shot a 79, the best round he ever registered, and won the low net award yesterday in the President's golf tournament at Bob o' Link. With a handicap of 15 Kelly had a net of 64, considerably lower than any other in the field of 125 players who turned out to honor A. D. Plamondon, president of Bob o' Link.

Other winners of awards were R. J. Rich, 85—8—77, in class A; Ed Warnshuis, 97—21—76 in class C, and M. B. Million, 98—26—72 in class D. Kelly was in class B.

Among the guests Dr. August Daro had 87—15—72 to take low net; Charles Hegge and H. R. Curran tied at 34 for low net on the first nine, while B. L. White won on the second nine with 34.

Kelly was also tied with Art Sweet for low gross, but all prize awards went to the low net shooters.

Two Farm Boys Win in National Trap Shoot Meet

Vandalia, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A pair of farm boys were the hot shots as 594 of the nation's trapshooting stars warmed up today for tomorrow's feature, the Grand American handicap, which will wind up the most sensational week of scoring the annual tournament ever has witnessed.

Ray Zweiner, Blooming Prairie, Minn., won the preliminary handicap, shot under the same conditions as tomorrow's classic, while Joe Hiestand, Hillsboro, O., who won the national clay target title yesterday, took the doubles crown.

A tricky wind made the targets cut capers, but Zweiner, from the 21 yard mark, broke 99 of 100. Steve Crothers, Chestnut Hill, Pa., did the same. In the shootoff for the preliminary laurels Crothers missed his first and seventh targets, while the Minnesota marksman cracked all but the eighth. Crothers fired from the 23 yard marker.

Hiestand, as a result of his performance, became the third man to win the singles and doubles championships of the country the same year. W. Henderson, Lexington, Ky., did it in 1914 and P. R. Miller, Dallas, Tex., repeated in 1923.

Hiestand broke 93 of the 100 targets in the 50 pair event and had a three target edge over the rest of the field at the finish for one of the most decisive victories in the history of the event.

Hale C. Jones, East Alton, Ill.; O. B. Franz, St. Louis, Mo., and E. L. Hawkins, Fort Wayne, Ind., tied for second place with 90 of 100. Mark Arle, Champaign, Ill., the defending champion, was far down the list with 86.

MIDGET CARS RACE TONIGHT AT WOLF LAKE

At least twenty entrants, including several star drivers, will compete in the midget auto races at the Wolf lake track in Hammond tonight. Among the pilots entered are Wally Zale, Emil Andres, Ernie Carlson, Johnny Baldwin, Duke Nalon, Chuck Neisel, and Ted Tetterton.

More than 100 laps of racing is scheduled, including a 30 lap feature event, a 15 lap semi-final, a 10 lap consolation race, and 5 lap helmet dash.

Bears Tire in Long Sessions; Work Is Cut

tered blocking and is emulating Nagurski's smashing ball carrying.

The White team will line up with Hewitt and Zeller at ends, Buss and Musso at tackles, Carlson and Kopcha at guards, Miller, center; Masterson at quarter back, Sisk and Feathers at half backs and Franklin in Nagurski's place. With the exception of Franklin, Sisk, who is filling in for Ronzani, and Zeller at Karr's end, this is the lineup which will start the All-Star game, provided injuries do not develop in future drills.

The Orange team will be composed of Mooney and Becker, ends; Trost and Bailey, tackles; Febel and McMillen, guards; Sullivan, center; Dunlap, quarter back; Pollack and Sammy Curro, half backs, and Manders, full back. Curro is a stocky, shifty little fellow off the Milwaukee sand lots, who was invited to try out. He is an exceptional punter and possessed of more than average speed, but is handicapped by a lack of heft. He weighs only 168 pounds.

Bears Turn to Turtle Races.

The solitude of deserted St. Johns' academy has led more energetic members of the squad to search for some diversion less tiring than golf, horse back riding and rowing. They finally came up with turtle races. A friendly game warden supplied the turtles, each one of which was marked with adhesive tape bearing the name of some member of the squad. Bleachers were set up in the locker room and mutuels opened. An ugly snapper by the name of Halas has established himself as the Discovery of the lot. There was some whispering after today's racing, however, that Halas has been suspended until a saliva test can be made.

Two Hot Tips Finish 2d at Lincoln Fields

Two of the hottest tips of the season were beaten in the Kankakee purse and in the C. & E. I. claiming handicap at Lincoln Fields yesterday. Uncle Fred, owned by Phil Reuter, mustered so many backers in the Kankakee that the odds against him dropped from 20 to 1 to 2 to 1 at post time. He finished second, beaten three lengths by the Dixiana stable's Warband. In the C. & E. I. Reservist was also made the medium of a plunge. He too finished second. Arson, at nearly 5 to 1, beat him out by a head.

Rushaway, from Joseph E. Widener's stable, put the players of favorites in good humor when he captured the Hammond purse.

Speedy Miss Prudence from Dixiana stable made the pace until the run down the stretch, and when she gave up the struggle Rushaway moved to the front. He was in command of the situation until the finish and won by two lengths from Hat Check. Miss Prudence lasted long enough to take third money. Rushaway paid $4.40.

There are 16 prospective starters for the $5,000 added Lincoln handicap, feature of tomorrow's program at Lincoln Fields. The fields shapes up as follows:

Horse.	Weight.	Owner.
Ted Clark	115	C. N. Mooney
Myrtlewood	114	Brownlee Combs
Sweeping Light	114	R. O. Higdon
Prince Torch	113	Frank Abbate

ALL-STARS NAME MUNJAS CAPTAIN FOR BEARS GAME

Quarter Back from Pitt Beats Three Others.

In all probability last night's scrimmage will be the last.

Coach Frank Thomas, who was unable to attend yesterday's luncheon, now has a definite idea of the abilities of the men. He is of the opinion that it is more important now that all the players go into the game in top physical condition than to continue scrimmage as a means of improving the attack. In this the other coaches have agreed.

Thomas will be the guest of honor at luncheon today at the Elks club in East Chicago, Ind. Thomas was graduated from the East Chicago High school and then attended Notre Dame. His many friends in the Calumet district, who helped elect him head coach of the All-American team, are taking this opportunity to honor their most prominent representative in the coaching profession.

Another of the coaches' most pressing problems at this time is to convince friends that they do not have an unlimited supply of tickets or access to tickets on the 50 yard line. If you want to attend the game Thursday night, instead of calling the coaches, try THE TRIBUNE'S publication offices at 1 South Dearborn street and in the lobby of Tribune Tower. There you can purchase excellent seats for $1.65 and $1.10. There are thousands of these available.

MIKEL RACES 2 HORSES UNDER WRIT PROTECTION

The Age of My Bane Still Puzzles Horsemen.

And now comes the crux of the whole matter.

The Jocky Club of New York heard of the visit by the mysterious stranger from Chicago. From an unimpeachable source THE TRIBUNE learns that the Jocky club, or one of its officials, sent three of its own veterinarians to the stall of Billy Bane at Saratoga and they, too, examined him.

Their finding was unanimous. He is a 2 year old, they reported. Thus the judgment of the Illinois commission's veterinarian was upset.

Because of this seeming coöperation from the New York turf ruling body, Mikel may be able through courts of law to stave off his removal from the turf, a thing which no other man similarly situated ever has been able to do.

They Stick by Their Guns.

Members of the Lincoln Fields board of stewards and also the members of the Illinois racing commission still are of the opinion that they ruled correctly in the Mikel case and that My Bane is not a day less than 3 years old.

Still, the fact remains that they adopted a hands off policy yesterday and will continue to do so until, as one member of the racing commission said, "Mikel makes his case." This has caused many horsemen and breeders to come to the conclusion that the commission now realizes perhaps that the stewards acted too hastily and without sufficient evidence to prove their case. The stewards deny this. "We have plenty of additional evidence," one said last night.

Most every horseman that has raced on Chicago tracks during the last two seasons has heard the reports of a feud between Christopher J. Fitzgerald, steward representing the racing commission, and Owner Mikel. This Fitzgerald denies.

Mikel Claims Persecution.

Mikel thinks otherwise and often has told friends that Fitzgerald was endeavoring to drive him out of racing in his own state. Another grievance Mikel voices is that one of the stewards who ruled him off comes from Connecticut and the other two from Kentucky.

Mikel has not always been a pink tea lad himself. He has been one of the most notorious claimers of horses in the country and last fall in New England was suspended for 90 days because he had stimulated a horse with "dope" in order to make him run faster.

Still there's much ado about something. It can't be My Bane, for that plug, in the words of a horseman, isn't worth two dollars. That unworthy steed, which has started eight times and never has been closer than eighth in any of his efforts, is in danger of having his name engraved in the hall of turf fame not far from that of the great horse Man o' War. It will be put there not for his ability to run but for his ability to keep hidden from the public his real age.

Van Dusen. Went to post at 2:15½. At post 2½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won easily; place driving.

WAR BAND, under strong restraint for half a mile, took a short lead without need of strong pressure on stretch turn, came away when shaken up approaching final eighth, and had something left. UNCLE FRED raced extremely wide throughout and also well in hand until reaching last three-eighths, did not endanger winner and faltered slightly in final eighth. CARNELIAN worked her way up gradually, but also weakened in late stages.

Winner trained by H. Wells. Went to post at 2:48. At post 2½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; place same.

WAXWING crowded his way through when moving up in opening quarter, stood a long drive gamely, and wore down SHINING HOUR in closing strides. Latter also roughed her way through in opening quarter, was under strong pressure the last three-sixteenths, and held on well but was not good enough. RULE OR RUIN, knocked about soon after the start, lost ground on stretch turn and weakened in final eighth, but outstayed ALANAD.

At post 4 minutes. Start good from gate. Won easily; place driving.

FLYING JUSTICE, much the best and taking command without strong urging, came away fast on stretch turn and, continuing well, held away. PREMEDITATE, a factor from the start and under vigorous riding after three-eighths, held on with good courage. PREMEDITATE displayed speed from the start and weakened in final three-sixteenths, but outlasted SAUCY MARIA.

Winner trained by D. E. Stewart. Went to post at 3:49½. At post 3½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won handily; place driving.

RUSHAWAY, forced to race wide throughout and close up from the start, quickly wore down MISS PRUDENCE after reaching stretch, but was mildly ridden out. HAT CHECK, a strong factor after the quarter, held on well. MISS PRUDENCE took command with a rush, was raced a trifle wide for the firmer footing and readily gave way to winner, but came again in final eighth before faltering.

ARSON, on inside throughout and lucky to get through approaching the turn, failed to hold RESERVIST soon after reaching stretch, but continued with determination and outfinished RESERVIST in closing strides. Latter, raced extremely wide throughout and strongly restrained for three-quarters, took a short lead under punishment and, tiring near wire, was overtaken. COUNTESS ANN, badly outrun for three-quarters, came through on inside in stretch and tired in last sixteenth.

Winner trained by O. Dobbins. Went to post at 4:52. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

BIBBIPS CHOICE, away fast but unable to keep up, began to improve her position after reaching final three-eighths, came to outside in stretch turn, and, holding easily under a hard drive, wore down EXPONENT in closing strides. The latter forced the pace under steadying restraint, took a short lead entering stretch and held on stubbornly, but was not good enough. BROWNEYED PAT displayed good speed from the start and held on courageously to final eighth before faltering.

Winner trained by S. Gorbet. Went to post at 5:48. At post 1½ minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

PORT O' PLAY, slow to begin and raced wide, after three-eighths bettered his position gradually and won drawing out. SHASTA BROOM, on inside throughout and much used to race JACK BIENER into submission, swerved out slightly while holding on well in the drive. QUIVER dropped far out of it on first turn, came to outside in stretch, and closed boldly.

STARS OF TURF ARE NAMED FOR GOLD CUP RACE

World Record Holders in Field for Stake.

Discovery, Top Row, Myrtlewood and Clang, all holders of world records, head the list of 32 thoroughbreds nominated for the $15,000 added Hawthorne Gold cup at a mile and a quarter, it was announced late yesterday by President Albert Sabath of the Hawthorne race track. The stake, one of the few weight-for-age races for older horses run in America will be decided on Saturday, Oct. 5 as the closing feature of Hawthorne's 29 day meeting.

Should the ranking members of the field get to the post the gold cup, which is having its seventh running this season, promises to be one of the outstanding races of the year. Not only is Discovery the handicap champion of 1935, but at least a dozen of the others are supplied with racing credentials that would make them legitimate starters in any American stake for older horses.

In the Gold Cup 4 year olds and over will be asked to carry equal weights of 126 pounds with 3 year olds in at 120.

The 32 nominees are:

Discovery	Top Row
King Saxon	Azucar
Myrtlewood	Clang
Gallant Mac	St. Bernard
Hadagal	Gold Foam
Time Supply	Late Date
Howard	New Deal
Dark Winter	Whopper
Whiskolo	Gallaclay
Tearout	Odessafarms
Westmain	Calumet Dick
Skipit	Corinto
Top Dog	Chief Cherokee
Navanod	Chance Line
Spanish Babe	Vitamin B
Panalong	Advising Anna

BOARD OF TRADE SUSPENDS OWN VICE PRESIDENT

Four Others Are Hit in Margin Ruling.

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade at a special meeting yesterday suspended the firm of Beach, Wickham & Co. and four partners for 30 days, and a fifth partner for one year. Thomas Y. Wickham, first vice president of the Board of Trade and former chairman of the grain committee on national affairs, was one of the partners receiving a 30 day suspension. His brother, H. H. Wickham Sr., was suspended for a year. The other firm members, who received 30 day suspensions, are Clinton S. Beach, Corwin Wickham, and H. H. Wickham Jr.

T. Y. WICKHAM.

The suspensions will be effective at the close of business on Sept. 14.

Charges of Board.

"The firm and its members," the exchange announced, "were found to have violated the rules of the Board of Trade relating to minimum margin requirements. They were also found to have failed to report to the secretary of the exchange information which a partner had concerning irregularities on the part of a correspondent firm's solicitor. It was stated by directors that this was considered an act detrimental to the welfare of the association under rule 145."

Charges against the firm and its partners were an outgrowth of the suspension several months ago of a correspondent firm, the Pletch Grain company of Algona, Ia., on the grounds of insolvency.

Cleared of 3 Charges.

The Chicago firm and its members were charged with violating the exchange's rules on five counts. The directors cleared them on three charges and found them guilty on the two counts which resulted in the suspensions.

Thomas Y. Wickham has been prominent in the affairs of the exchange for several years. He became a member in 1902 and has served in various official capacities. He was elected first vice president of the exchange early this year and under the normal succession would be the nominee for the presidency during the next year. The grain committee on national affairs, which he headed in 1932, is an organization of grain men throughout the country.

Keeshin, Once Driver, Heads Truck Chain

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The John D. Hertz-Lehman Brothers announcement of a projected nation-wide coördinated motor freight transport organization to be built around the Keeshin Motor Express company of Chicago throws into the national limelight a 37 year old "self-made" Chicagoan who has been rapidly rising in the transportation world.

J. L. KEESHIN.

J. L. Keeshin has always worked for himself and, until this new project was announced his company had always been a one man firm. Starting in the trucking business at 14 with a horse and wagon, Keeshin rapidly built up a profitable business. His first motor truck he drove himself, frequently getting "out and under" on dusty roads to make repairs when mechanical trouble developed. He now has a fleet of 400 trucks.

A man of few words, Keeshin is not averse to using his fists when the occasion demands. About a year ago two gunmen entered his car at a stop light at 18th street and Blue Island avenue, and pressed guns into his ribs.

"What do you want—money?" he asked his captors, reaching into his pocket and offering them his wallet containing $150.

"We want you," said one of the men. "You're going for a ride. Keep on driving."

Thereupon Keeshin let out with both fists, but the man on his right struck him on the head with the butt of his revolver. The tussle attracted the attention of passersby, and the gangsters, freightened, jumped into a parked car and fled. Keeshin stopped at the Presbyterian hospital to have his wound dressed and returned to work.

During NRA days Keeshin had much controversy with the code authority, long refusing to join the NRA because of the manner in which the control of rates was set up.

Italian Bonds Slump on Threat of War.

Descent of Italian bonds to new low levels in American trading yesterday told the story of the world's apprehension over the effect of Mussolini's Ethopian adventure on the already weak financial condition of the Italian government.

Italian currency also slumped yesterday. The lira dropped to 8.20 cents, compared with 8.22 cents at the preceding day's close. The lira, however, is not a reliable index of Italian credit, because trading in Italian currency is rigged by the Fascist government. The lira dropped to 8.02 cents, the 1935 low, on July 23, when the threat of immediate war in Ethiopia became acute. Later it was gradually pushed upward with the aid of the gold which was formerly used as backing for the currency. Yesterday's quotation of 8.20 cents was the lowest since July 30.

In the bond market, however, the Fascists are unable to conceal the weakening of their credit. Prices of Italian bonds on the New York Stock exchange represent what investors all over the world think of the Italian financial situation.

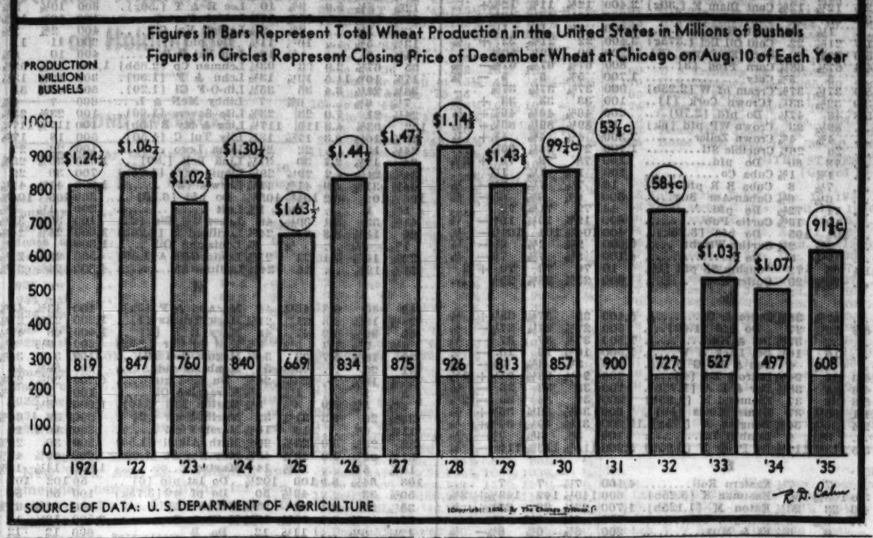
Kingdom of Italy external 7 per cent bonds, due in 1951, yesterday fell $3 to a new low of $59 per $100 of par value. Earlier this year they had sold as high as $94.25. Rome's 6½ per cent bonds, due in 1952, plunged $3.87 to a new low of $49, compared with a high quotation of $87.25 earlier this year.

Meanwhile, the Fascists are rapidly dissipating the gold that formerly backed their currency in frenzied expenditures for foreign war materials. During the week ended Aug. 10 Italy's gold reserves dropped 4 per cent.

Williams Oil-O-Matic Reports 70 Pct. Sales Gain

Williams Oil-O-Matic Heating corporation, Bloomington, Ill., yesterday announced that sales in July were 70 per cent above those of July, 1934.

Total Wheat Production in the United States and Price of Wheat 1921-1935



Bank Deposits, Trade Loans Show Upturn

The inflation of bank deposits that has been going on since the middle of 1933 went forward again last week in New York and Chicago, the principal banking centers of the country, according to the weekly credit statistics released yesterday by the federal reserve system.

The net demand deposits of the Chicago banks soared 41 millions last week and a gain of 73 millions was recorded in the statement of the New York banks. Demand deposits of the Chicago banks now total 1,711 million dollars, or more than a quarter of a billion above the level a year ago.

Commercial Credit Expands.

An expansion in the volume of commercial credit accompanied last week's increase in deposits. The Chicago banks loaned an additional 5 millions to commercial borrowers and the New York banks put out 73 millions more in commercial loans. The expansion in credit, however, is lagging far behind the gain in deposits.

During the last year of inflation in deposits, the total outstanding commercial loans in both New York and Chicago have fallen. So far the chief result has been the piling up of idle reserves. Such reserves were swollen again last week. The combined statement of the 12 reserve central banks revealed member reserve balances had gained another 37 millions.

Set New All Time High.

The week's gain brought bank reserves to a new all time high level of 5 billion 291 million. More than half of this total, or 2 billion 680 million, represents a surplus over legal requirements and constitutes a base for a credit expansion larger than that which took place at the height of the boom.

A gain of 5 millions was reported for the week in the country's monetary gold stock. Total gold stocks are now 9 billion 189 million, a record level.

NATION BUYING MORE, OFFICIAL OF SEARS SAYS

Sears Roebuck & Co.'s recently announced upturn in sales during the seventh period to the best levels since 1930 was the result of improved buying power and not business "sleight of hand," E. J. Pollack, vice president of the company, said yesterday.

Both urban and rural buyers show evidence of increased buying power, and most buyers are catching up on necessities, with such items as washing machines, furniture and other household utilities, picking up noticeably, he said.

"The country is in a better position," he said. "Farm income is increasing and outgo decreasing because many farmers have paid or reduced their debts. Employment has improved."

Sanitary District Refunding Plan to Succeed, Says Banker

Success of the $140,000,000 refunding program of the sanitary district of Chicago is assured, E. B. Hall, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, said yesterday. He said that the five Chicago banks acting as agents for the district have obtained definite commitments from holders of $95,000,000, or 68 per cent of the district's total bonded debt, to exchange under the program.

"In the opinion of the refunding agents," he said, "there will be no difficulty in gaining additional consents sufficient to bring the total up to 85 per cent, which amount is considered necessary to make the plan effective. The plan has met the general approval of the bondholders and a number of substantial holdings are expected to come in as soon the owners return from vacations."

Adopted July 25.

The refunding program was adopted by the trustees of the sanitary district July 25. The plan authorized the issuance of $139,945,890 of 20 year refunding bonds under the enabling legislation passed by the general assembly.

Of the total authorized issue, $20,718,890 of bonds, bearing interest at 4 per cent, are to be used to clean up outstanding defaulted bonds or bonds in good standing which mature prior to Dec. 31, 1935. They are callable after Jan. 1, 1945, and will mature Jan. 1, 1955. This issue is known as series A bonds.

Calls for Food Exchange.

The remaining $110,227,000 series B bonds, bearing interest rates of 4 to 5 per cent, are to be exchanged for present unmatured bonds now outstanding. The purpose of this latter exchange is to rearrange the maturities of the district occurring in the next 10 to 12 years so as to assure payment of the maturities promptly. The heavy maturities in the next few years will be evened out over a longer period.

A similar refunding program of the Chicago park district is being attempted. The park program has been attacked in the county court on the grounds that the consolidated park district had no right to assume the obligations of the 22 units which it superseded.

The county has made little headway on its $48,000,000 refunding plan. The first plan adopted by the county board was vetoed by President Clayton F. Smith because it failed to make the sale of new bonds contingent on the success of the unmatured issues.

STEEL FIRM PROMISES PLANT IF U. S. BUILDS HARBOR EAST OF GARY

A hearing on the request of the Midwest Steel corporation for construction by the government of a $3,000,000 harbor at Burns ditch, along Lake Michigan, five miles east of Gary, Ind., was held yesterday in the new postoffice building. Lieut. Col. Donald Connolly, head of the war department engineering corps in the Chicago area, presided.

H. L. Gray, vice president of the Midwest corporation, which is a subsidiary of the National Steel corporation, said the company planned to erect a $5,000,000 plant on its 1,000 acre tract at Burns ditch if the government would build the harbor. The plant would provide employment for at least 1,200 men in turning out 3,000,000 tons of steel products annually, Gray said.

Walter Mills, representing the Chicago Real Estate board, objected to the project, contending that it would be a "one industry harbor."

Gray replied the steel corporation was willing to sell 200 acres to any other manufacturer. Gov. Paul McNutt of Indiana said the harbor would aid industrial development of the state. Representatives of industrial concerns and chambers of commerce of Indiana towns along Lake Michigan also urged approval of the harbor.

WIEBOLDT SALES RISE 2 PER CENT IN 2D QUARTER

An increase of 2 per cent in net sales of Wieboldt Stores, Inc., during the second quarter of this year over a year ago was reported yesterday. The total for the period ended July 27 was $4,423,955, compared with $4,336,389 in the corresponding period of last year, and $4,693,674 in the preceding period of this year.

During the first six months of the year sales were 3.1 per cent higher than a year ago. There has been no change in the number or location of the company's stores since 1934. While no figures were released on net profits for either period, E. F. Wieboldt, president, said that indicated profits for the first six months were above those of last year.

It was announced that the company will soon open a small store in Oak Park for the sale of the larger household equipment, including refrigerators, gas stoves, washing machines and radios, similar to one recently opened in Roseland.

AFRICAN CARGO ARRIVES HERE IN SHIPPING TEST

A cargo of 3,000,000 pounds of South African palm kernel oil was being unloaded at East Chicago, Ind., last night from the German tanker Oel Schindler. The consignment was brought from Montreal, Canada, for the United African Company of East Chicago.

The voyage was in the nature of a test run. Regular visits by German boats carrying imports to Chicago are expected to follow successful completion of the present delivery.

The oil was first shipped from South Africa by German colonists for storage in Montreal. The Oel Schindler, which carried a cargo from New York to Montreal, picked up the Chicago consignment there.

Cut Building Costs, Taxes, Raskob Urges

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Slice the surplus fat off building costs and taxes, and prosperity will take care of itself, is the belief of John J. Raskob. That was the substance of the economic prescription offered today in his first interview on business matters in many months.

JOHN J. RASKOB. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

The man who resigned the chairmanship of the finance committee of General Motors corporation to head the Democratic national committee during the 1928 presidential campaign sees no reason why the wheels of heavy industry could not be made to spin as rapidly as have, recently, the lighter lines of business.

No Strike of Capital.

Raskob rejected flatly the idea that it is a "strike of capital" which is impeding recovery in capital goods lines. It is not a "strike,' he believes but a combination of common sense and economics which prevents the possessors of capital from placing it at work in heavy industry.

"You couldn't even get a washwoman with $500 to risk it in a business that only paid 4 per cent," Raskob said, then pointed out that if taxes take as much as two-thirds of the profit from an undertaking which involves the risk of loss anyway, even though it made 12 per cent, the net return would be only 4 per cent.

Combine lower taxes with a 20 per cent cut in building costs, Raskob believes, and you have the touchstone which transforms stagnation into prosperity.

"The building trades unions ought to cut wages 20 per cent for the sake of a fuller pay envelope and a full week's work," Raskob suggested.

Would Cut Unemployment.

Some 2,500,000 of the unemployed, he calculated, are building trades workers. Behind each of these jobless workers stands a man who should be in a steel plant, or the quarry or the cement mill. Employ the building artisan and his invisible helper also goes back on the payroll, cutting 5,000,000 from the total of jobless employables.

The stimulation to the railroads resulting from a rise in the building industry might easily absorb another half million men, he believes, and the service occupations, revived by the additional flow of wages, could soak up the balance of the jobless.

R. J. Wysor Is Named Republic Steel Manager

Cleveland, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—T. M. Girdler, chairman of the board of the Republic Steel corporation, announced today the election of R. J. Wysor as vice president and general manager, succeeding Ben F. Fairless, who resigned yesterday. Girdler announced also that C. M. White, assistant vice president, was elected vice president in charge of operations, succeeding Wysor. Both are former Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation officials.

74 NEW 1935 HIGHS RECORDED IN STOCK LIST

Steels, Farm Issues Lead Advance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Bullish sentiment continued to dominate the stock market today and, despite nervousness in the utility section, the general list advanced into new high ground for the movement and for the year. The principal buying was concentrated in the basic industrial shares, where the steels, farm implements, and farm issues advanced fractions to more than 2 points. There were 74 new highs for 1935 and the turnover totaled 1,666,360 shares.

Now and then the list ran into squalls of profit taking, but this type of selling had little effect in checking the forward movement and it was held to reflect the growing belief that the revival in business would make additional strides in the near future.

Market News Scarce.

Developments likely to have a bearing on market prices have seldom been so scarce as they were today and the lack of news was considered a cause for comment. The news from Washington was as confusing as ever on the bills that might come up for consideration and their chances of being passed before adjournment of congress. War news also was confusing and indefinite as far as the speculative fraternity was concerned. On the home field little of interest took place.

Constructive forces in the street are pleased with the way the market has been acting under realizing sales and with the outlook for business this fall. On the other side of the ledger, however, the possibility of a war abroad, the taxation outlook, and the possibility that stocks have pulled even with business are making for caution.

Steel Shares Lead Again.

Steel shares again played the leading rôle in the market performance. United States Steel reached 46 for a new high, with Bethlehem going over 39 to emulate the performance of the group's leader. Other steel shares to make new highs were Gulf States, common and preferred; Jones & Laughlin, Wheeling Steel, Otis, and Republic, with gains ranging from fractions to more than three points.

An individual feature of the list was Coca-Cola, the hot weather stock, which took a leap of 7½ points to close at 245, a new high.

Farm implements shares were given a whirl as Case was pushed up 1½ points. Case preferred gained 5½ points and International Harvester hit a new high. Hope for increased sales to farmers was held responsible for the upswing in Case.

The public utilities waxed hot and cool during the session, with the group managing to show a small fractional advance at the close. American Telephone was a strong spot, gaining more than a point. The railroad section of the list showed a tendency to be irregular.

CHRYSLER BUYS WILLS-STE. CLAIR AUTO FACTORY

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Purchase of the Wills-Ste. Claire automobile plant at Marysville, Mich., by the Chrysler corporation was announced today.

R. P. Fohey, secretary of the Chrysler corporation, said that the company had no immediate plans to utilize the factory, but that "we now are using every inch of space in our plants."

The plant was built in 1918 by C. Harold Wills and used for the production of Wills-Ste. Clair automobiles until 1922. The purchase was made from Kidder, Peabody & Co. for an unannounced sum.

Armour to Pay 3¾ Million for Decker Plant

Contingent upon the approval of holders of $2,250,000 Adolf Gobel 6½ per cent notes and of the court which has jurisdiction over the Gobel company's affairs, Armour & Co. will pay approximately $3,750,000 in cash for the packing plant and branch houses of Jacob E. Decker & Sons of Mason City, Ia., a subsidiary of the Gobel company, it was disclosed yesterday.

The purchase not only will improve the Armour competitive position in the pork product line, making possible eventual savings estimated at $1,000,000 yearly, but will facilitate reorganization of the Gobel concern and enable the payment in cash of a substantial amount of the 6½ per cent notes outstanding. The notes fell due last May 1, but were defaulted.

Price Will Be Adjusted.

The price to be paid for the Decker business will depend upon the amount and value of the firm's inventories as of the date the deal is to go through, early in October. Only the price to be paid for the plant itself, included in the $3,750,000 estimated purchase price is fixed, the other assets being subject to variation.

The Decker company is to pay off its $550,000 first mortgage bonds and must call its $1,000,000 preferred stock, $981,850 outstanding. It must also pay off all current liabilities.

There will remain for Gobel cash to a substantial amount after these obligations have been discharged. Probably some of it will be retained for working capital, but it is probable that the 6¼ per cent notes will be offered a price somewhere around 90. Recently they have been selling around 88.

Will Effect Economies.

Armour's object in taking the Decker plant is to have an additional plant in the heart of the hog country. Substantial savings in railroad freight alone will result, and there will be other economies in distribution.

It is calculated that the Decker plant eventually will be worth to Armour about $1 for every hog killed. Hogs killed at the Decker plant have been running in recent years from 750,000 to 800,000 annually, and it is estimated that this could be expanded to 1,000,000.

DOLLAR RISES; WAR FEARS HURT FOREIGN UNITS

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—All important foreign exchanges declined in terms of the dollar today, the losses in the gold bloc currencies being particularly marked. French francs dropped ¾ point to 6.62⅝ cents, guilders dropped 7 points to 67.75 cents, Swiss francs 2 points to 32.71 cents, Italian lire 2 points to 8.20 cents, the lowest price since July 30, and Belgian belgas fell 2 points to 16.89 cents, the cheapest price since July 23.

The depreciation of the foreign exchanges was ascribed principally to the mounting talk of war between Italy and Ethiopia, with its possible dangers to European peace. Sterling, which has lately been held up by the purchases of silver in London by the United States treasury, joined in the general decline, falling ½ cent to $4.97¾. The German mark dropped 2 points to 40.35 cents and the Japanese yen was off 3 points to 29.45 cents. Canadian dollars were down 3⅛ points at 99.78⅛ cents.

The drop in the French franc lifted the dollar well above parity with the franc. The value of the dollar today was $1.0011, compared with slightly under 100 cents yesterday. Based upon the old parity of the franc, the dollar was worth 59.13 cents, against 59.06 cents yesterday.

Senate Reconsiders Borah Wood Pulp Resolution

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—On motion of Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, the senate today reconsidered and sent back to its calendar the Borah resolution directing a tariff commission investigation of the differences in cost of production here and abroad of wood pulp and pulp wood. The resolution was approved yesterday. Robinson gave no reason for his action.

COTTON LOANS CUT TO 9 CENTS; SOUTH ANGERED

But U. S. Guarantees 12 Cent Price.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Stirring sharp and immediate resentment among southern senators, the administration tonight announced a government loan basis of 9 cents a pound on the 1935 cotton crop. Heretofore the loan rate has been 12 cents a pound.

CHESTER DAVIS.

The farm administration also announced additional direct grants would be made to assure contract signers a total return of 12 cents on cotton produced under the Bankhead act allotments. The AAA will make payments to cotton farmers to equal the difference which may exist between 12 cents and the average price of ⅞ inch middling cotton in the 10 spot markets from Sept. 1 to Jan. 1. These additional benefit payments will be limited to the individual producer's actual production up to the amount of his allotment.

Southern Senators Flail Plan.

As Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator, and his assistants departed for their homes, apparently pleased with the final approval of the plan at a White House conference late in the afternoon, sharp repercussions came from capitol hill.

Senator George [Dem., Ga.], a leading proponent of a flat 12 cent loan, asserted flatly President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace had "yielded" to "the shippers and shipping interests."

"The announcement," said George, "will be disastrous to the entire cotton growing south."

Adding that details of the complicated loan plan would merely "confuse" the farmers, George said: "I will not ask another southern farmer to sign a contract with the government."

Bankhead Calls It Misfortune.

Senator Bankhead [Dem., Ala.], author of the Bankhead cotton control act, asserted he regarded it "a great misfortune that the President did not announce a straight 12 cent a pound loan."

"Of course, it is evident secretary Wallace, Chester Davis, and the cotton shippers won a victory," Bankhead asserted. "I think the plan will be very confusing and may cost the government a great deal."

Asserting the plan was approved by President Roosevelt, the AAA said the Commodity Credit corporation will offer a loan of 9 cents a pound at the farm, without recourse on the borrower, on 13-16 inch low middling cotton or better. Last year's 12 cent loan was made only on ⅞ inch middling cotton or that of a higher quality.

More Loans Than Last Year.

The modified regulation this year, officials explained, will permit loans on about 200,000 bales more than was permitted last year.

The offers of both the loan and the outright grant will be made only to producers who signed contracts this year and who agree to sign contracts for 1936.

Cotton production for 1935 was estimated on Aug. 1 at 11,798,000 bales, compared with total production in 1934 of 9,636,559 bales. The total Bankhead allotment this year is 10,500,000 bales.

Officials said they expected the new plan to provide growers an income of approximately $700,000,000 for their lint cotton for 1935, exclusive of rental and benefit payments under existing contracts.

C. I. McReynolds Succeeds Percy Wilson with FHA

C. I. McReynolds of Washington yesterday was appointed acting regional director of the Federal Housing administration for the states of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Wisconsin. He temporarily succeeds Percy Wilson, who recently resigned to resume his subdivision business. A permanent director still is being sought by James A. Moffett, head of the FHA. One Chicagoan has been offered the position and declined it.

Prices of Lead Advanced Third Time Since Tuesday

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The American Smelting and Refining company today announced another advance of $1 a ton in the price of lead, establishing the quotation at 4.35 cents a pound, New York. This marks the third rise of $1 a ton since Tuesday. The St. Joseph Lead company also marked up its price $1 a ton to a basis of 4.40 cents a pound New York and 4.20 cents St. Louis.

DR. H. C. TOLLEY TO QUIT AAA FOR COLLEGE POST

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Dr. H. C. Tolley, assistant AAA administrator, said here today that he would leave the AAA and return to his Giannini chair of economics at the University of Southern California, Oct. 1.

Dr. Tolley said he would be there for several months "straightening up my affairs." He declined to discuss the possibility that he would return to the AAA. On Oct. 8 the assistant administrator will have completed a two years' leave of absence from his duties at Southern California.

As assistant administrator Dr. Tolley planned agricultural adjustment programs. He came here today to attend a three day conference of some 60 agricultural leaders from 12 north-central states. This conference is discussing a regional adjustment program formulated earlier this week by experiment station officials.

IRVING BABCOCK HEADS GENERAL MOTORS TRUCK

Pontiac, Mich., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Irving B. Babcock, executive vice president, today was named president and general manager of the General Motors Truck company and two affiliated organizations, the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company and the General Motors Truck corporation. He succeeds Paul W. Seiler, president and general manager since Jan. 22, 1927, whose resignation, effective Sept. 1, was presented to the board this afternoon. Seiler will remain as a director of the company.

U. S. LEATHER CO. GETS BACK ON PROFIT BASIS

Varying Results Shown by Two Air Lines.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The United States Leather company, reported today a net profit of $102,368, after all charges, for the quarter ended July 31. This was equal to $1.38 a share on the outstanding 7 per cent cumulative prior preferred stock, compard with, a net loss of $1,315,706 in the like period of 1934. The company's fiscal year ends Oct. 31.

Nine months' net came to $108,307, equal to $1.46 a share on the prior preferred stock, compared with net loss of $1,260,418 in the first nine months of preceeding fiscal year. Since 1928 the company has shown a deficit from operations in all fiscal years with the exception of 1933, when in changing its fiscal year it reported a net profit of $981,019 for a ten months' period.

United Air Lines Have Profit.

United Air Lines yesterday announced an operating profit of $107,326 for the second quarter after all charges but before federal income taxes, compared with a loss of $426,934 in the first quarter of the year.

Operating revenues during the period amounted to $2,340,233, an increase of $675,405, or 40.5 per cent, over the first quarter, W. A. Patterson, president, announced. The lines carried 50,889 revenue passengers during the period, a gain of 21,708, or 74.4 per cent, over the preceding quarter.

North American Aviation, Inc., reported for the first six months of the year, a consolidated net loss of $69,615, compared with a net profit of $743,872 in the first half of last year.

Gets Air Mail Adjustment.

J. H. Kindelberger, president, said as a result of amendments to the air mail act passed recently the corporation will receive approximately $70,000 in adjustment of its air mail compensation to June 30, 1935. No part of this, however, is included in the results for the first six months.

The L. S. Starrett company for the fiscal year ended June 30 had net income of $205,137 after taxes and depreciation, compared with $146,771 in the preceding year. For the first six months of this year net income was $149,279, against $134,276 in the like period of 1934.

The Weston Electrical Instrument corporation for the six months ended June 30 had net profit of $74,746, equal, after dividend requirements on the $2 class A stock, to 25 cents a share on the common. This compares with $82,763, or 30 cents a common share, in the like period of 1934.

UTILITIES' DEAL TO GET CHEAPER COAL APPROVED

New Contracts Sanctioned by State Commission.

Revised coal contracts, involving an expenditure of $100,000,000, between three units of the former Insull utility empire and the Peabody Coal company, were approved yesterday by the Illinois commerce commission. Under the new agreement the utilities—Commonwealth Edison company, Public Service company of Northern Illinois and Super Power company of Illinois—will save an estimated $18,000,000 on coal purchases during the life of the contracts, which have 23 years to run.

The approval marked the divorce of control by the utilities of the Peabody concern, largest mine operator in Illinois. Merger of the Edison company's coal properties with Peabody in 1928 was followed by domination of the coal concern by Insull.

Utilities Give Up Control.

Last year, however, agreement was reached between the Peabody concern and the utilities, at the time revised contracts were drawn up, whereby utility control of the coal company would be given up through relinquishing class B stock, on approval of the contracts by the commerce commission. Corporate steps looking to this direction were taken at that time.

Under the contracts approved yesterday the utilities will pay the coal company a profit of 15 cents a ton and are required to buy only 75 per cent of their needs from Peabody. The new agreement is retroactive to Aug. 1, 1934.

The original contract, entered into in 1928, called for the Peabody mines to furnish 90 per cent of the utilities' supply with profit based on 8 per cent of the investment.

This contract resulted in the payment of more than open market prices for coal in 1930 and 1931, when production was below a cost basis, although the situation was later reversed. The contracts were amended in 1931 with the basis of profits changed.

Approval by the commission has been awaited for more than a year. Hearings on the change have been featured by bitter controversy at times. The United Progressive Miners of America and the Public Ownership league strongly opposed approval of a long term agreement on a cost-plus basis.

The commission in handing down its opinion said the old contracts operated at a distinct disadvantage to the utilities, while the new pact will effect savings and have no unfavorable effect on power rates.

REPORT FILM COMPANY WILL EXPAND CAPITAL

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Several plans for the readjustment of the capital structure of the Columbia Pictures corporation are being considered by the directors, it was learned today. It is understood a stock dividend or splitup may ensue, and also an offering of the new stock to augment working capital.

The increase in the number of Columbia productions financed thus far out of earnings would make an enlargement of cash working capital desirable. It is also indicated the small number of Columbia shares outstanding is deemed to be out of line with the company's earning power.

Columbia Pictures is expected to report over $10 a share earned for its 178,033 shares of capital stock for the fiscal year ended June 30. In the nine months ended March 30 the company's net was $1,572,720, or $8.62 per share.

Electrical Securities Calls Preferred Stock

Electrical Securities corporation, controled by General Electric company, has called for redemption at $105 a share on Sept. 30 all its preferred stock outstanding except shares held by General Electric interests. The company's principal assets consist of holdings of foreign public utility securities.

BANK CLEARINGS SHOW LARGER GAIN; BEST IN AUGUST SINCE 1931

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Bank clearings have accelerated their percentage rate of improvement, the total for the week ended Aug. 21 showing a gain of 21.4 per cent over last year, contrasted with a gain of 7.2 per cent in the preceding week.

A survey, compiled from reports from twenty-two leading cities in the United States by Dun & Bradstreet today placed the total for the week at $5,086,988,000, compared with $4,191,207,000 a year ago. Clearings for the latest week exceeded those of the previous week by $54,179,000, whereas for the same two weeks a year ago reduction of $48,595,000 was reported.

The survey pointed out that bank clearings for the three weeks of August were the highest for the period in any year since 1931, adding "there has been some decline from the earlier months of this year, but not more than is customary, however, for a midsummer month."

New York City clearings of $3,313,675,000 represent an increase of 23.7 per cent over a year ago, against a gain of 5.9 per cent in the previous week. Chicago clearings were $242,800,000, compared with $210,800,000 a year ago, a gain of 15.2 per cent. The aggregate for centers outside of New York at $1,773,313,000 was 17.3 per cent higher.

ASSURES PLENTY TO OTHERS; CAN'T GET IT FOR SELF

Active association with Plenocracy, a philosophy under which all reap untold abundance from the fruits of the soil, has failed to return much to the nominal head of the association sponsoring the move.

This was brought out yesterday as the securities and exchange commission continued its inquiry into the Universal Service association, backers of plenocracy, to determine whether the organization is engaged in the securities and investment business.

Samuel R. Maxwell, director of philosophy of the "university," in connection with the association, who admitted under questioning he was elected president of Universal Service on Wednesday, revealed that his salary never exceeded $20 weekly and that for a time it was only $10.

The idea of Plenocracy is that "student cooperators" subscribe a certain sum a month or pay down a fixed amount. Under one form of contract this amounts to $433 for which a return of $60 annually is supposed to be made with a final return of $1,000 at the end of five years. Funds are supposed to be invested in cultivation of land, which proponents of the scheme claim over a five year term will permit the promised returns.

SETS OCTOBER 1 FOR CONGRESS HOTEL HEARING

The hearing on the plan to reorganize the Congress hotel under section 77-B of the bankruptcy act was continued yesterday until Oct. 1 by Federal District Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Attorney Paul M. Godehn, representing the hotel corporation, said that a reorganization plan is now being prepared. He asked for a continuance in order to complete preparation of the plan and for more time to negotiate a Reconstruction Finance corporation loan. This loan, it is understood, will approximate $1,000,000, to be used for remodeling, paying back taxes and for working capital.

Godehn also said that he is negotiating with National Hotel Management company of New York through its president, Ralph Hitz, to manage the hotel under a five year contract.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—Watchful and somewhat nervous waiting for congress to make its final entries in its legislative books occupied most of the attention in today's bond market, as a result of which price movements were irregular and indecisive. That was particularly true of utility bonds, toward which the attitude was almost wholly one of waiting for the report on the holding company bill.

Government bonds maintained a healthy tone until afternoon, when recent apprehensiveness made a reappearance and prices dropped. The same was tru eof HOLC and Federal Farm issues.

Turnover Is Larger.

Losses in the federal issues ranged from 1-32d to 14-32ds of a point. The turnover in this department of around $4,000,000 was almost twice Wednesday's aggregate.

Dealers were disposed to attribute the renewed selling of governments partly to the thought that the treasury next month may again offer long term 2¾ per cent bonds at auction. Also word that the 2 billion dollar Patman bonus bill, considered in the financial district as inflationary, would be the first matter of business before the next session of congress was said to have had its disquieting aspects.

Some Carriers Gain.

Among the carriers that were slightly higher were Atlantic Coast Line 4½s at 76¾, Baltimore and Ohio 6s at 81, Erie general 4s at 78½, Great Northern 4½s at 85, M-K-T 5s at 41¾, New York, Ontario and Western refunding 4s at 53⅛ and Southern railway consolidated 5s at 80⅝.

Italian bonds had a further sinking spell, with some new lows established, and the whole foreign list developed an unsavory tone. The Italian government 7s lost 3 points to close at 55.

Caterpillar Tractor.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me a report on Caterpillar Tractor?—Miss W. B.

Answer: Caterpillar Tractor company, whose main plant is at Peoria, Ill., is the largest domestic manufacturer of Diesel engines and of track type tractors. Its stationary Diesel units find their greatest popularity in industrial plants, while tractors are marketed mostly to organizations engaged in road building, construction, logging, railroad transportation, mining, and utility services.

The popularity of its Diesel motors is attested to by the fact that most of its customers, including farmers, have paid a premium for Diesel powered equipment.

During the first seven months of 1935 net sales were $21,773,000 and net income was $3,360,000, or $1.78 a share, against sales of $15,061,000 and net income of $2,377,000, or $1.26 a share, for the first seven months of 1934.

The four year record of earnings follows:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Inc.per share.
1934.	$23,760,000	$3,651,000	$1.94
1933.	14,488,000	303,000	.16
1932.	13,250,000	*1,617,000	*.86
1931.	24,143,000	1,361,000	.72

*Deficit.

Increased efficiency of operations is well demonstrated by the fact that although 1934 sales were less than 1931 sales, net income more than doubled.

Current position on July 31, 1935, was strong. Working capital equaled about $11.80 a share on the 1,882,240 shares of no par capital stock. There is no funded debt.

The stock pays regular dividends of 25 cents a quarter. Extras to date in 1935 total 50 cents a share. In 1934 extras totaled 50 cents a share.

Although earnings are still considerably less than the $11,600,000 reported in 1929, they have reversed the downward trend which was first evident in 1930. Increased popularity of Diesel powered traction and the company's outstanding trade position should enable it to capitalize on any improvements in the durable goods industries. Continued federal government expenditures on construction activities are proving beneficial.

The stock deserves a fairly good rating.

Savannah Turpentine.

Investors' Guide: We would appreciate it if you would let us know what the Savannah market on turpentine was on Aug. 2, 1935.—E. A. C. & Sons.

Answer: On Aug. 2, 1935, turpentine was quoted at 38½ cents a gallon bid in Savannah, Ga.

PROFIT TAKING CAUSES WHEAT PRICES TO EASE

Traders Fear Commodity Exchange Bill.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Wheat declined moderately in Chicago yesterday after two days of rising prices that had added more than four cents a bushel to its market value. The write-down in quotations yesterday erased about a cent a bushel of the earlier advance. Trading was comparatively quiet. The selling was credited principally to speculators who were "right" on the market earlier in the week and took the opportunity to convert their paper profits.

Hanging over the market was the possibility of a last minute enactment by the senate of the commodity exchange bill which would clamp stricter federal regulation on the Board of Trade and other grain futures exchanges. No action was taken on the bill during the trading session, but the uncertainty caused some nervousness in the market.

Watch European Situation.

Traders kept an eye on the European political situation, but saw nothing yesterday to encourage buying. Wheat prices in Liverpool advanced moderately, but in Winnipeg the market fell 1¼ cents a bushel.

Closing prices on the December futures, with comparative quotations, were:

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	90⅞	92	89⅝
Corn	55⅞	56⅝	57⅛
Oats	28⅛	28⅛	28½
Rye	45	45½	44¾

With the wheat crop situation in this country fairly well defined, the interest of traders centers for the moment on Canadian crop developments and the European news. On the heels of the dominion government's pessimistic appraisal of crop conditions made Wednesday, a leading Canadian commercial grain house yesterday released a report indicating a total crop this season of 295 to 300 million bushels.

More Wheat Required.

On the surface neither the Canadian government figures nor those of the private agencies suggest an unfavorable return this season. Actually, the estimates include a good deal of inferior grade wheat, much of which will not be fit for breadmaking. The same applies to the spring wheat crop in this country. Instead of the usual 4½ bushels of wheat which are needed for a barrel of flour, it is expected that this season as much as 6 bushels of the lower grade wheat will be required. In addition much of the wheat cannot be used at all for milling.

The cash wheat market, where big premiums are being paid for good quality wheat, reflects the usual situation this year more accurately than the future quotations.

MORE SPECULATIVE INTEREST SHOWN IN BUTTER AND EGGS

Speculative interest in butter and egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange showed an increase yesterday with November butter closing ¼ cent higher at 25½ cents per pound, while October eggs were unchanged to 25½ cents per dozen.

The into store movement of butter at the four leading cities on Wednesday was exactly the same as for the corresponding period last year, while the Centralizers' report showed a decrease of 4.8 per cent in production, as compared with last year. October eggs advanced ⅛ cent early to the highest level so far this month, but met with increased pressure on the advance and reacted. Withdrawals from storage, especially in Chicago, continue to run well below last year in the aggregate. Sales of butter were 38 cars; eggs, 73 cars, and cheese, 1 car. Prices follow:

MARINELLO—The Choice of 55,000 Women.

When Did You Graduate?

Possibly a year ago—maybe two years. Perhaps you have found the field in which you are at present best adapted does not offer opportunities for a larger income or steady employment. The Beauty profession offers untold possibilities. Well trained beauticians are in great demand everywhere. Marinello graduates rapidly step into these better positions, replacing less capable and mistrained operators. Thousands of better beauty shops throughout the country demand their personnel to be 100% Marinello graduates.

ACT NOW.

It is to your particular advantage to register now even if you cannot start your course until later. Call, phone, or write at once.

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher: 64 years' knowing how to teach gives you a flying start.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

BURNHAM'S AWARDS TRIP TO PARIS TO STUDENT. Geneve Huffman, winner of semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training, sailed June 19 on S. S. Manhattan with all expenses paid. Burnham's offers opportunities not found elsewhere.

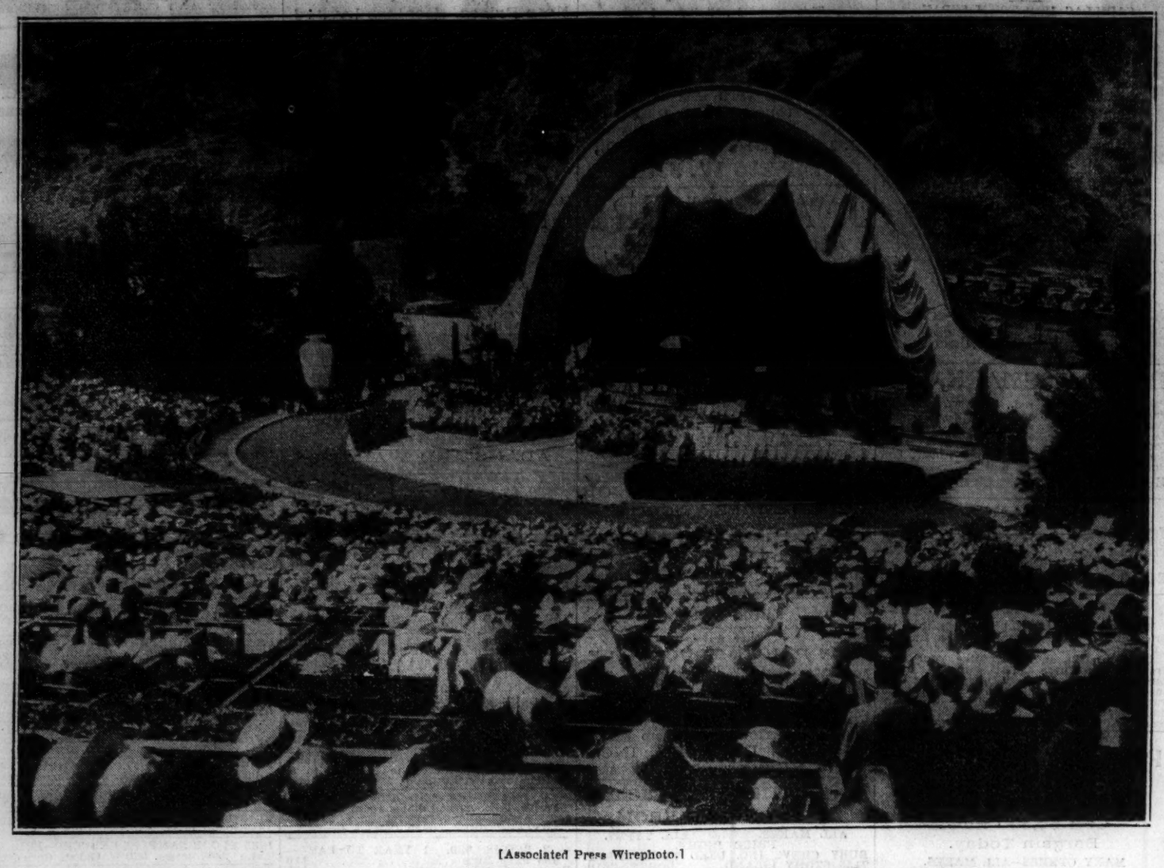
Crowds Pay Tribute to Rogers and Post at Funeral Rites—Wirephoto Brings Pictures of Funerals



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

THOUSANDS GATHER IN HOLLYWOOD BOWL FOR WILL ROGERS MEMORIAL SERVICE—General view of Hollywood bowl yesterday during memorial service held at the same time as the Rogers funeral in the Forest Lawn cemetery. Rupert Hughes, Conrad Nagel, and Lawrence Tibbett took part in this service. Thousands of movie theaters were darkened during the funeral as a tribute to the humorist. (Story on page 5.)

NATION PAYS FINAL TRIBUTE TO WILL ROGERS; RITES HELD IN FLOWER FILLED CHAPEL—Casket containing the body of humorist killed in Alaskan plane crash as it appeared on flower banked altar in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale, Cal., after funeral services yesterday afternoon. This picture was taken after the services, attended only by the members of the family and close friends. [Associated Press Wirephoto.] (Story on page 5.)

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

MORE THAN 100,000 PERSONS FILE PAST BODY OF WILL ROGERS BEFORE RITES—View of the unending line of men, women, and children which passed by the bier of Will Rogers in Forest Lawn cemetery, Glendale, Cal., while the body was lying in state before the funeral services yesterday. The crowd had gathered before the cemetery opened and continued to come until the gates were closed. Arrow indicates start of line in background. (Story on page 5.)

[Acme Photo.]

OKLAHOMANS BY THE THOUSANDS ATTEND LAST RITES FOR NOTED FLYER KILLED IN CRASH—View on the south steps of the capitol in Oklahoma City yesterday as body of Wiley Post was taken to church for services after lying in state in the rotunda. Thousands passed by the bier of the flyer killed in Alaska with Will Rogers. Officials called it the largest funeral crowd in state's history. (Story on page 5.)

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

SLAYER—Earl Kimball, alias Cramer, confesses at Auburn, Cal., that he killed James C. Kennett. (Story on page 10.)
